ASHLAND AND VICINITY

A liveryman, bank, grocer and junk dealer figured in a horse and saddle case this week. A party named Humphries engaged pony and saddle of Liveryman Smith, the man being a stranger to all concerned. He sold the saddle to the second-hand man for $5, passing the buck to the Plaza grocery for 95 cents in goods, receiving balance in cash. He then shipped, turning the pony adrift, not far from the depot, where it was found near the Nazarine church. Smith reclaimed the saddle, while the junk dealer in turn stopped payment of the check at the bank, leaving the grocer to hold the sack. The dazed groceryman don't yet exactly understand the ramifications of the transaction, but does realize that it is a saddle, if not a horse, on him.
Traveling Auditor Palling of the Southern Pacific, with headquarters at San Francisco, was checking over the local offices Wednesday.
C. A. Talcott and Almon Davis of Fayette county, Iowa, were visitors

SAY SUCCESS OFTEN COMES TO A FELLER CAUSE HE HAS FORGOTTEN THAT DER IS SUCH A THING AS "FAIL" your truly William

here this week on a trip from the central west to view the exposition cities and other sights of the coast section. The former is a cousin of B. W. Talcott of the Canyon Press.
The Canadian Pacific private car "Nova Scotia," with Vice President McNeill and party on board, were here during the terminal stop Wednesday afternoon, southbound to San Francisco and San Diego. The touring officials were on a trip which had its inception way over among the maritime provinces on the Atlantic seaboard extending over the company's own lines to Vancouver, B. C., and thence homeward by a devious route.
The city council and various other municipal officials have received an invitation to attend the San Diego exposition. The bid is a blanket one, available at any time during 1915. The papers are ornate lithographically, and are officially signed, sealed and delivered by Mayor Charles F. O'Neill and his fellow members of the San Diegoan aldermanic body.
The Shorty Hope Mining company is again in the toils of litigation, this time its troubles being aired in the circuit court. Butler & Thompson of this city are plaintiffs in these proceedings.
"Self-denial" week has been in vogue here this week, the observance having been crowded off the theological calendar earlier in the season, owing to the union series of protracted meetings. The gatherings were held in the Presbyterian church, concluding Thursday. In addition to local exhorters, Rev. W. F. Shields of Medford and Rev. W. D. Vester of Grants Pass were in the cast assisting local pastors.
Adding to the tide of travel from northern sections southbound, are large consignments of potatoes which are imported by local shippers from the Yakima valley of Washington. The spuds are extra fancy, but the question arises, why are they not raised here?
Financial circulars from the Anglo-California Bank of San Francisco have been received here, setting forth the merits of the local auxiliary bond issue, $100,000 worth of which securities this leading banking concern is disposing of to private investors.
For post graduate work as a trained nurse, Miss Angeline Provost has taken up a course at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland, one of the leading institutions of the kind in the country. She recently graduated with honors from the Sacred Heart hospital at Medford.
The city market on North Main street has changed proprietors from one Brown to another. Ben Brown, late of Medford, is now running the concern, the name of which has been changed to the Plaza market.
Miss Thompson, teacher in the West Side school, is seriously ill with erysipelas.
"Ours Dumb Animals," a publication devoted to humane education and published at Boston, has been added to the periodicals on the library reading tables. In a private letter from Guy Richardson, the editor, he states that "we are pleased to add the city library of Ashland to the list of recipients of this favor without charge." He further adds: "The writer was privileged to pass through Oregon a short time ago and occasionally attempts to speak of the attractions of your wonderful state in an illustrated lecture concerning a pleasant trip to the Pacific coast." The publication referred to is the official journal of the American Humane Education society and various auxiliaries.
Rev. A. E. Ogg is home from a tour throughout Josephine and Douglas counties in behalf of religious and educational work in a number of localities.
R. A. Minkler has sold out his cloak and supply store stock in the Memorial block, and the store will open under new management March 16. Minkler now manages the Vining theater.
Ex-Policeman Wright did wrong recently by interrupting services at the Fourth street mission, where he bawled out an admonition to a number of tramps present to betake themselves out of town instantly. This disturbed and broke up the meeting. There was a recompense, however, in the fact that Professor Smith, who was one of the leaders of the services, supplanted the throne of grace fervently in behalf of the entire police department, praying that each individual member might be led to the exercise of better judgment and understanding, to which appeal there echoed hearty approvals from the amen corner.

TABLE ROCK TABLETS

Farm and orchard work is in full blast in these parts.
George Pendland and wife of Agate visited relatives here Sunday.
Mr. Jones, formerly employed at the Root orchard, has accepted a position on an orchard south of Medford.

Mr. Conner has a crew of men removing stumps and clearing land.
Mrs. Fuller, who has been visiting at the Collins home, is spending a few days in Medford before leaving for her home in Bridgeport, Wash., where she owns a large wheat ranch. Mrs. Calvin and daughter, Miss Dulcie, were shoppers in Central Point Thursday.

Professor Johnson and R. E. Nealon were interviewing the tax collector at Jacksonville last Saturday.

Elmer Keys, who was looking for a vacant house last week, has located his family in a house on the Vincent ranch.

This community boasts two new spray rigs of modern type, one on the Carlson ranch and one on the Pendleton ranch.
Mr. Piester of Medford is constructing a fireplace in the Lydiard house, which will be a little different from the ordinary, the face being made of river boulders.
Safford Richardson of Medford was a Table Rock visitor last Sunday evening.

A case of active blight was found in the Miller orchard last Friday, which, owing to its peculiar location on the tree, had been passed over many times without being seen, its discovery being brought about by the liquid working down the tree. This goes to show us that the warm weather is causing this disease to show up earlier than usual, and we should be on the lookout.

A. L. Seabrook, James Reese and Verne Pendleton were doing business in the valley towns Wednesday.
J. W. Bigham has rented a ranch in the Dead Indian country, which he will use as a summer pasture for his cattle. Mr. Bigham expects to spend the summer months on the ranch and thinks the mineral water will be beneficial to his health.

To accommodate the large number of people holding tickets that were unable to attend the play "What Happened to Jones" on account of bad weather, it will probably be put on again later in the season.
Harry Wilcox, who has spent the last two months visiting his former home in the east, returned the first of the week, coming by the southern route and spending several days at the Frisco fair.

Mr. Wilcox states that he had a most enjoyable time all the way around, but just the same, was very glad to get back to old Oregon.
The Table Rock ball team journeyed to Tolo Sunday, where after a hard-fought game they defeated the Tolo boys, the score standing 8 to 9 at the finish.

Professor John Nealon began the spring term of school in the Trail creek district last Monday.
The work of A. J. Kilburn, the Table Rock pitcher, and Ed Pew, the first baseman, was worthy of special mention. The return game will be played next Sunday at the Table Rock grounds.

One of Medford's prominent bankers was looking over ranch property in this vicinity last Sunday.
