ASHLAND AND VICINITY

"Doc" Saunders, at his barber shop headquarters on East Main street, is local correspondent for the "Echo of the Moose," a new official paper of the big fraternity which is published at Fort Jones, Cal. "Doc" dishes up some hot stuff from his locality, inasmuch as he possesses the happy faculty of being a ready writer and he can dip a facile pen in wickerwood and gall if deemed necessary.

The fine musical entertainment afforded by the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Medford, at the local armory Tuesday night, was listened to by an audience of just thirty-eight people. Inasmuch as the choir ensemble numbered forty, the unfavorable effect by way of comparison was all the more noticeable. However, the visitors did their best, in spite of a scant attendance, which was not altogether due to stress of weather. Evidently a sacred atmosphere, even in Ashland, cannot affect equal to the average moving picture film. Leaving all the other churches out of the question, the Methodist following here—the strongest numerically and financially in town—is amply sufficient to have afforded the visiting singers a full measure of encouragement.

Mrs. Wynne Scott, photographer, who has conducted studios in both Ashland and Medford, has leased the Camp studio in this city, and will reopen the old familiar headquarters at an early date. Her daughter, Ruth, will assist her. The latter has recently resigned her position with the Plaza confectionery and is succeeded by Miss Alice Hansen of Grants Pass, a sister-in-law of Clifford Jenkins, manager of the local gas plant.

One of the notable social functions of the spring season was given at the Moose hall Thursday afternoon. Messdames Ellen Smith, Effie Brown, Bertha Winter, Etta Larkin, Caroline Schuerman and Georgiana Polcy were hostesses to a large company of ladies. Cards were discarded in favor of a miscellaneous program, embracing readings and stunts, while the refreshment feature was elaborate and seldom, if ever, exceeded in these parts.

"Potash and Perhutter" did not draw a very big house here Wednesday evening, but "A Modern Eve," scheduled for April 8 at the Vining, promises to be a record-breaker.

Mrs. J. R. Wick is on the way home from Florida, being accompanied in Pennsylvania visiting relatives. In the meantime the family domicile on North Main street has undergone a transformation in the way of substantial addition and betterments, in which work Mr. Wick and Arthur have been superintending operations. Wick himself plans an eastern trip in August.

Lieutenant Tom Hammond, brother of Mrs. J. H. Turner of this city, is now located with his regiment, the twenty-fourth United States infantry, at Camp John Hay, Mountain Province, in the Philippines. General Thomas H. Barry, who commands the department, has appointed Hammond adjutant of the post. The lieutenant has his wife and two sons with him. He writes very entertainingly of his experiences in the islands, particularly regarding weather conditions, and especially of the severe typhoons and excessive rainfall. He states that the precipitation there lasted on one occasion for twenty-one days continuously, and that the amount of rain which fell inside of a certain forty-eight hours exceeded the annual average rainfall in southern Oregon for two entire years.

Look out for some surprises at the forthcoming chautauqua assembly. Talent from the east this year will wind its way to coast sections by special train. President Billings, who has recently returned from a conference of managers at Portland, has the schedule, which includes many notable, and the topics will be live ones. Ashland assembly is one of the fortunate ones which will profit thereby in common with other Chautauquas throughout the circuit.

Mrs. Mary Denison Hevener, widow of William Hevener, died on Wednesday after a lingering illness, aged 81 years. She was a native of Pennsylvania and had resided in Ashland over twenty years. She leaves several children, among them William Hevener, Jr., and Mrs. A. Butler, well known residents of this vicinity.

March 30 having been a fine Tuesday, it was fittingly observed by the local Rebekahs, who took advantage of the occasion by sharing the pleasures of the evening with a number of invited guests. A delightful "skit," "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," was the climax to a resourceful program given with full tableau effects. April fool jokes were sprung indiscriminately, even though a trifle premature. A fine banquet followed the literary and dramatic specialties.

In connection with Episcopal church missionary funds, diocese of Oregon, the amount of which aggregates 100,000, and the records of which are reported missing, threatening a scandal in church circles at that denomination, considerable interest is manifest here. Trinity parish of this city is affected to the extent of several thousand dollars, and if the fund proves to be involved the local church would suffer to a greater or less extent.

Mrs. D. B. Boyd and her granddaughter, Miss Morand, both of Reno, Nev., have been visitors this week with the family of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson and other relatives.

Dr. G. W. Dwinell of Montague, Cal., was here early in the week visiting W. W. Caldwell. The doctor is one of the heavy landowners of Siskiyou county and this season is plating 4000 acres under water, the supply coming from Shasta river and various irrigating projects.

Miss Margaret Tomlin died Wednesday night. She had been a sufferer from a chronic malady for a long period. She was from the central west and enjoyed an intimate acquaintance with the Greer families. Mrs. John Tomlin, a sister-in-law, accompanied the remains to Kansas City, leaving on Thursday evening.

TABLE ROCK TABLETS

Glen Conwell and wife of Medford spent Saturday night and Sunday at the McElroy home.

H. Richardson and E. J. Odell of Agate passed through here Sunday doing repair work on their telephone line.

Ed Vincent was elected president of the Antioch Literary society last Friday night.

Will Atkins, who is working at Talent, spent Sunday, here with relatives.

Hazel Byrum and Mrs. May were shopping in Medford Friday.

An epidemic of sore throats is going the rounds of the neighborhood and several are confined to their beds as a consequence.

Watt Beebe and family of Agate were dinner guests at the Caton home Sunday.

Oliver Pendland made a trip to his alfalfa ranch in the vicinity of Seven Oaks Friday.

E. W. Carlton our up-to-date orchardist has purchased a number of automatic smudge pots which it is claimed are self operating when the temperature falls to a certain degree the lid raises and strikes a match, which lights the oil.

S. C. Collins and H. R. Nealon were paying taxes in Jacksonville Wednesday.

In our travels we notice several persons who have "cussed" out the valley and left in the last few years have returned. It must be that there are worse places than the Rogue river valley.

Do not forget the Easter services next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Two Sams valley ladies were hauled up before Justice Cooper last Monday for being mixed up in a fistie encounter. We understand the aggressor was fined $5 and costs.

Miss Florence Kineade who at present is teaching the Devenger Gap school has been employed to teach the primary department of the Agate school for the next term at a salary of $75 per month. Considering that this is Miss Kineade's second term and the fact that there seems to be more teachers than schools, this is regarded as an excellent offer and her many friends in this district are extending congratulations.

Owing to the rain of last Sunday the ball game was called off.

S. C. Collins is planting about two acres of sugar beets and will keep a record of the expense of growing the crop and also the amount of beets produced to the acre.

The weather station at the Pendleton ranch has been equipped with instruments and will be in operation during the frost period with Mrs. Pendleton in charge, also a station has been installed at the Modoc orchard. As soon as the frost period is over the station at the Pendleton ranch will be discontinued and the one at the Modoc orchard will become the regular station for this district.

The Central office at Central Point is now prepared to give out reports on the weather to those desiring them.

Last week a meeting of the stockholders of the Table Rock Ditch company was held at the home of R. C. Washburn to make arrangements for the annual spring work of preparing the ditch for the irrigating season.

It was decided to make as few repairs as possible this spring and in the fall to take up the proposition of making extensive improvements to cost between $4000 and $5000. Among other things it is proposed to enlarge the ditch so that it will carry enough water to irrigate 5000 acres which amount they have the right to use.

A. L. Seabrook and R. E. Nealon are recovering from the effects of a runaway that happened last Friday as they were leaving Medford.

They were driving along North Riverside when in some manner a singletree came down, frightened the horses, causing them to start full speed. Running about two blocks the tongue struck a telephone pole bringing the wagon to such a sudden stop that Mr. Nealon was thrown some twenty feet alighting on the pavement. Mr. Seabrook remained with the wagon which turned a somersault, pinning him beneath it and bringing him badly. The wagon was demolished but the horses which were caught near the North School, suffered no permanent injuries.

Talisman Lodge No. 31, K. of P., visited the Ashland lodge of the same order in a fraternal and social session Thursday night.
