MEDFORD FLOUR MILL PREPARES TO RESUME OPERATION

After being closed down for a series of years, due to the abandonment of wheat for fruit in the Medford district, the old A. A. Davis mill which formerly supplied the valley with its flour, is being rehabilitated and will be operated throughout the coming summer by its present owner, H. O. Nordwick. Not in years has there been such a large acreage of wheat sown in the valley and the outlook is promising, although it is expected to import California, Klamath and northern wheat also. A fine brand of flour will be turned out and another leak in the send of money out of the valley for food supplies stopped.

F. S. Brandon, formerly proprietor of the "Wardrobe," who for 20 years before his undertaking merchandising, was a miller, and his brother, a well known wheel right, will have charge of the mill and are now busy installing modern equipment. They will be in readiness for hauling the present crop and wheat growers are advised to bring their product to the home market.

The other members of the committee are Dr. E. R. Seely and B. P. Mulkey.

RUSSIANS PREPARE FOR NEW ATTACK

GENEVA, June 10.—A dispatch from Vienna by the Tribune says information has been received there from Tarnow, Galicia, that the Russian forces in the region north of Przemysl are preparing a new attack on the army of General von Mackensen. They have abandoned their efforts to strike southward and have turned toward the Wislok river. Between Nisko, sixty miles northwest of Przemysl, and Tarnow, to the east of Nisko, an engagement already had occurred. The dispatch says 20,000 Bavarians who were attacked by strong Russian forces retired, leaving about 1000 dead and wounded.

DISINHERITED--LATEST CHAPTER IN LIFE OF PRINCESS CHIMAY, THE BEAUTIFUL AMERICAN GIRL WHOSE LOVE AFFAIRS SHOCKED WORLD

Gets Only Palty $1000 of $1,000,000 Estate Left by Mother Whose Death Has Released Famous "American Beauty" From Exile—Belgian King Once Her Cavalier.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Disinherited—but no longer an exile—this is the latest chapter in the romance-strewn life story of the former Princess de Chimay, who was the beautiful Clara Ward of Detroit.

Once the toast of all Europe, the "madcap princess" has learned through the filing of the will of her late mother, Mrs. Catherine L. Morrow of London, that she has been cut off with a paltry $1000 of an estate valued at more than $1,000,000. But her mother's death has freed the once famous "American Beauty" from exile.

During the latter part of her mother's life—for the last fifteen years, in fact—she had been forbidden to set foot in America.

Now, taken advantage of her mother's death, she has slipped into the country and is living in seclusion in New York.

Destined Prince for Fiddler

"Poor woman, she is paying the penalty," sighs Janey Rigo, the Gypsy violinist for whom the young beauty deserted her first husband, the Prince de Chimay—since of one of the noblest houses of Belgium.

"But, ah!—while it lasted life with her was paradise," adds Rigo, who is fiddling on his beloved violin in a Chicago cafe. And the life that Clara Ward led for so many years in the gayest capitals of Europe was in the fullest sense one of love light and laughter.

Clara Ward, daughter of the late Commodore Ward of Detroit, was only 16 when she went to Paris and became one of the wonders of that city of beautiful women. With the dazzling white skin, pink cheeks and glorious yellow hair of the perfect blonde, she combined great, lustrous, expressive brown eyes—and an income of $40,000 a year.

She was besieged with suitors, but a Belgian prince, Joseph de Chimay and Curaman, won her. After their marriage in 1890 she was received at the Belgian court with marked honor and for a time was a great favorite.

Once famous American Beauty disinherited. Clara Ward, who was the Princess de Chimay, and sketches showing her various love episodes which scandalized the world.

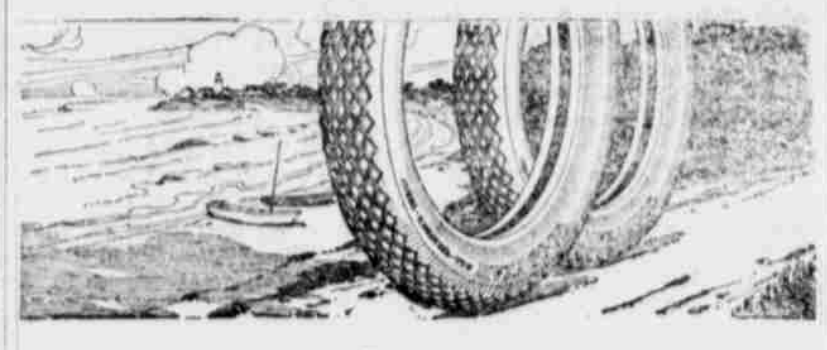

and the adulation of all men turned her head. King Leopold of Belgium succumbed to her beauty and became her devoted cavalier. Her girlish whims and the pranks she played on her aged admirer, the king, won her the nickname throughout Europe of "the Madcap Princess."

Years later, in her own defense, she said that the reason of her downfall was the open admiration of King Leopold, which angered her husband.

Whatever the reason, she scandalized the world in 1895 when she ran away with the gypsy violinist, Janey Rigo. She loved him passionately and a year later when the Prince de Chimay had divorced her she married Rigo. She took him to Cairo and there build a palace in which they passed years of fervent happiness. In all she spent some $8,000,000 on him, so Rigo says. But one day her passion for Rigo cooled as quickly as it had kindled. At a railway station in Italy she saw a ticket seller for a tourist agency, fell madly in love with him, and the next the gossip-loving world knew she was divorced from Rigo and married to her new love, Peppino Ricciardi.

From the time he won her as his wife, Ricciardi, lifted from his humble position, lived the life of a millionaire. Their happiness lasted four years, and then the fickle princess fell a victim to the fatal fascinations of a

Goodyear Passes Goodyear $500,000 Better

The improvements lately added to Goodyear tires will cost us $500,000 this year—just this year's betterments alone.

Yet this year's reductions will save our users in 1915 about $5,000,000, we figure.

And our big price reduction on February 1st was our third in two years. The three total 45 per cent.

Our Extras

This half-million dollars we add to our tire cost means better tires than ever. It goes largely into extra rubber.

Then remember this: Goodman named Casalta, her husband's chauffeur. Discovering this, Ricciardi got a decree of separation. This decree did not permit either to remarry. The former Princess Chimay is now 41 years old. She is the mother of eight children. The only enduring love of her life came from her marriage to the Prince de Chimay—the little baby girl, who was raised almost as a recluse in the ancient and somber castle of Chimay, near the French border, in Belgium.
