STORMY SCENE FOLLOWS CRITICISM OF FRENCH CABINET

PARIS, June 24.—M. Acaembay, discussing the war appropriation in the chamber of deputies today, criticized the minister of war. He declared defects had been proven in shell making. Objections and protests came from various parts of the chamber and the president reminded him he should stick to the question under discussion. The stormiest parliamentary scene since the war began resulted.

M. Acaembay affirmed that the sanitary service of the army was responsible for the deaths of many soldiers. He regretted that the national resources were being extravagantly disbursed and deplored the lack of foresight in preparing for adequate supplies and munitions. The minister of war, he declared, ought to possess technical training sufficient to fit him for the direction of the army supply service, but the subordinates felt that they were under a chief who was their inferior, he asserted.

Protests from the right and the center frequently interrupted M. Acaembay, while the left, largely socialist, applauded and feeling among members rose high.

M. Acaembay affirmed that he did not wish to criticize the leadership of the army, but solely the cabinet.

RUSSIAN RETREAT COMPARED JOFFRE'S RETREAT TO PARIS

PETROGRAD, June 24.—The Russian retreat through Galicia, entailing the evacuation of Lemberg, is likened by Russian critics to General Joffre's retreat to the Marne in the early part of the war. They explain that such a successful retreat, keeping the army intact, is no wise equivalent to defeat. As General Joffre was not afraid to permit the Germans to approach Paris, so the Russians claim not to be alarmed by the approach of the Austro-Germans to Russian territory.

The evacuation of Lemberg, it is felt here, can have no strategic importance other than the loss of a large populated center. The firmness of the Russian stand on the river Tanow leads to the belief that the Russian army soon will reach its own border, where, upon being reinforced, it may prove German elation over victory premature. This belief is strengthened by the failure of the Germans to make material progress at other points along this front.

Thus far the German operations in the region of Lemberg have exerted no apparent effect on the situation along the Dniester river. At only one point on the entire length of this river, which for weeks marked the southeastern fighting front, have the Austro-Germans managed to establish themselves with any permanency on the right bank. In the region near Nizlow, the Germans crossed the river, but according to details learned today, of a severe battle at this point, the Austro-Germans have been repulsed with heavy losses and compelled to sacrifice many strongly fortified positions. They still maintain, however, their position on the right bank of the river.

EGAN EASILY DEFEATS POTTER BY STAR GOLF

TACOMA, Wash., June 24.—In the Pacific Northwest Gold championship contest today the showing of O. W. Potter, Seattle, against H. Chandler Egan was a distinct surprise to his friends. Most everyone figured he would give Egan a hard match, but he was wild and sliced a great many of his drives so badly that the Medford, Oregon, star had little trouble defeating him by 6 up and 4.

Egan's card: Out, 41; in, 34—75. Potter's card: Out, 43; in, 45—88.

Tacoma lost her only hope of winning the championship when Howard Wright of Lechburn was defeated by Paul Ford, Seattle, 4 and 3.

Ford's card: 43-36-79. Wright's card: 44-37-81. A. Vernon Macaw, Victoria, who won the Northwest championship at Butte, Montana, in 1913, was eliminated by Robin Hayne, San Francisco. In one of the hardest fought matches of the day, Macaw was one up going to the 17th. Hayne won this hole and halved the 18th. An enormous gallery followed the players down to the 19th hole.

Hayne's card: 40-36-76. Macaw's card: 39-39-77.
