Would you like to own a hundred acres of first class alfalfa in Central California? If so get right after this offer. Will exchange it for a bearing orchard, prefer pears, up to $15,000, and let the balance run as a loan on the alfalfa, which is clear now. The price is $250 per acre. Or perhaps you would want a fine dairy ranch in the edge of Roswell, N. M. I have a very full description of one of 12 acres there, and the party will take a Medford residence on an exchange.

The five and a half acres of pears, with good house and barn, is still for trade for a house in Medford.
