ENTERPRISING MASONS AROUSE PROTESTS

People living in the neighborhood of the new federal building on Sixth and Holly streets complain that they are awakened every morning with the birds, by busy brickmasons assiduously breaking bricks. During the hot spell the workmen go to work at 5:00 o'clock and quit at 1:30 p. m. to escape the heat. And this change in the working hours has raised havoc with the beauty sleep of guests at the Medford Hotel and some of the leading citizens. The complainees allege that the sound of a trowel against a brick would wake up the dead, and that while admiring the enterprise of the toolers propose to file a complaint against a continuation of the practice.

According to present plans the federal building will be completed by January 1st.
