YOUNG PUTER BEATEN TO PULP BY E. J. POOLE

W. U. Puter, son of S. A. D. Puter, one of the leading defendants in the Oregon land fraud cases lies at the Sacred Heart hospital, his face beaten beyond recognition, and E. J. Poole, gardener, is held in the city jail, as the result of a mysterious assault case near the Sacred Heart hospital early Sunday morning. Neither the alleged beater or the beaten will make a statement regarding the causes of the affray.

Puter, who is a young man was beaten into unconsciousness by Poole, it is alleged, in a frenzy of drunken wrath. Nurses at the hospital heard the sound of the blows as they struck upon his face and say that it seemed as if his assailant would beat until he became exhausted, rest awhile, and then resume his blows. They heard Puter beg for mercy. They recognized Poole's voice, and heard him ask for Puter's watch. Puter they said told him to take anything he had.

The maned man was taken to Sacred Heart hospital, and given medical assistance, whereupon the police were called. They searched letters of the injured man, and found that his father was in Grants Pass. A telephone message confirmed his identity. The father will be here tomorrow to attend the preliminary hearing at 10 o'clock.

Near the scene of the assault a broken whiskey bottle was found and Poole was traced through this. His knuckles are badly bruised. Puter says that he took a drink of whiskey offered by Poole and that it is the last thing he remembers. The police say he is the worst beater man that ever came under their notice.

Poole and Puter were around Front street together Saturday night and were seen going across the Bear creek bridge together. It is likely that a malicious assault charge will be filed against Poole.

BURRO CHEWS TOBACCO: AND HE'S MIGHTY PARTICULAR ABOUT THE BRAND, TOO!

The Tobacco Chewing burro bringing a dead bear into camp

The burro whose picture is here shown, has truly made an ass of himself. He is a naughty, naughty animal. He chews tobacco. He has the habit down pat, all except the comitant action of expectoration. He simply won't learn to spit.

He has his favorite brand like any user. Certain brands he refuses with very little relish, but it wouldn't be fair to the manufacturers to tell those brands.

We all know that the way to secure the undying amosity of an elephant is to give him a "chaw"; but with this burro it is a sure way of ingratitude.

This burro is a pack animal in the Siaslaw Forest, Oregon. His owner claims that the habit has had a marked effect upon his disposition, flavoring it with unusual sweetness and philosophy.

SHOWERS OF METEORS PREDICTED TONIGHT

A shower of meteors visible throughout the United States is predicted for tonight and tomorrow night by Father Martin S. Brennan professor of astronomy at Kenrick University, Missouri.

The display is known as the Perseids and will last throughout the nights in the vicinity of Polar star. The meteors are the remnants of a comet known as Comet 3, 1862, which is thought by scientists to be the oldest comet in the solar system.

This comet "died of old age" according to astronomers and lost its compact nucleus, and finally became attenuated through the length of its orbit. Each year this planet passes through its orbit.

Madam, Allow Me To Introduce the NEW POST TOASTIES

You may have eaten "corn flakes" but you have never tasted any that equal the New Post Toasties.

These new flakes, madam, are crisp and flakey, and have a substance and toastie flavour, a snap and zest that make them distinctive.

Dainty to be sure in their sweetness, the New Post Toasties have a body and firmness that don't mush down when cream or milk is added; and a true ripe-corn flavour that makes one feel that here, at last, is something really new and good to eat.

New Post Toasties—selected Indian corn, prepared for the table as it was never prepared before.

Your grocer has them now.
