It has been reported that John Austin Hooper, the escaped desperado from the Grants Pass jail spent a night in this city a week ago. The rumor was started when a stranger stopping in a lodging house ordered a T-bone steak for himself and woman companion. Sergeant Pat Mege of the police force is well acquainted with Hooper, having dealings with him at Petaluma, Cal., when he was just starting on a criminal career.

HAIL AND WIND CAUSE DAMAGE AT BIG STICKY

Hail, wind and rain accompanied an electric storm of unusual severity and damaged fruit and crops in a limited area near Davis station, on the P. & E. railway, Monday night between 7 and 8 o'clock. A heavy downpour in the hills followed. The pear crops on the Ed Phipps, 401 and J. S. Vilas orchards were damaged by hail and wind. Trees were blown over on the Phipps ranch, the storm possessing cyclonic traits in this, the storm center. Most of the Vilas crop was picked, but pears in boxes in the orchard were badly battered by the hail. On the 401 orchard the fruit was knocked and blown from the trees by wind and hail. Ed Phipps this morning estimated his loss from the storm at $2000. This is the heaviest loss.

The hail was of unusual size and shaped like a small pancake. Some hailstones fell the size of duck's eggs. Fred Cowles this morning picked up stones the size of one's thumb, after melting all night. Weldon Biddle was driving a Ford car to this city during the height of the storm, and was forced to stop, the hail falling with such violence as to break his windshield and compel him to remove his hands from the steering wheel. The telephone line was put out of commission to Eagle Point. Slight damage to hay and grain is reported from this section.

No Storm in Medford

All day a great thunder cloud hovered over the southeastern horizon. About 4 o'clock it began a northward journey and broke over the eastern edge of the valley between 6 and 7 o'clock, accompanied by loud claps of thunder and dazzling flashes of lightning. A trace of rain, but no hail fell in this city. The full fury of the storm was spent near Davis. A high wind followed in the wake of the storm. The temperature Monday afternoon reached its highest mark at 101 degrees, and the air was particularly muggy.

Reports to the forestry service, national, state and county, told of fires started by lightning in the mountains, most of which were extinguished by a heavy rainfall before they gained headway.

Starts Forest Fires

Lightning started fires on Jennie creek, in the Hopkins tract, and is now under control. Three fires were started the same way on Lake creek, three miles from the city intake, but were extinguished. Six fires, some from lightning and some from other causes, were started before and during the storm period near Butte Falls and are now being fought by a force of men under State Forester J. H. Eberly.

The fire in the foothills west of Talent, visible from the streets of this city, was fanned into new life during the storm and got beyond the control of the fire fighters, owing to a high wind. For a time the flames lighted up the side of the mountain. It was under control at 3 o'clock this morning. Over 200 acres were burned.

The fire in the Steamboat district and near the Sterling mine, that caused considerable damage to high-grade ore, are under control, a close watch being kept during the storm to prevent their spread during a high wind.

POVERTY RULES WORKINGMEN

working day should not exceed eight hours.

The report wants the federal and state governments to begin investigations into housing conditions of labor and to formulate constructive methods by which direct support and encouragement be given to the promotion of improved housing.

Children Exploited

The commission, in its investigations, continues the report, found women and children exploited in industry, and that as a result of this the wages of men has been lowered.

It recommends that legislation be enacted and public opinion moulded for the recognition of the principle that women should receive the same compensation as men for the same service.

The report finds that the wages-paid telephone operators, even in cities having the highest standards, are insufficient to provide decently for women who have no other means of support.

It recommends that the federal government purchase and operate local and interstate telephone companies and create a special commission to establish satisfactory ratings and other working conditions on a proper basis. On the subject of railroad employees, the report finds that railroad construction camps are largely insanitary, overcrowded and improperly constructed for health, and recommends a thorough investigation by the public health service.

Control Social Life

Regarding industrial conditions in isolated communities, the report declares that in some cases, as for example in Colorado, employers in such communities have assumed complete control of social and political life and have even denied the right of free speech and assembly and the right of public highways.

It suggests the enactment of suitable state legislation to curb corporations that seek to assume such arbitrary powers over employees.

Farm tenancy is found to be rapidly increasing, and it is also found that a large proportion of the tenants are hopelessly in debt and are charged exorbitant rates of interest. Prompt and effective action on the part of the state and nation is demanded to alleviate these conditions, one suggestion being for laws to develop a system of long-time leases.

In supplemental finds and recommendations of the labor commissioners John B. Lennon and James O'Connell, a protest is made against the claim that faults that may exist in trade union organizations can properly be considered among the causes of industrial unrest, and they urge strong labor organizations as the paramount remedy for existing industrial unrest.

GERMANY DID NOT INTEND TO KILL AMERICANS

ment trusts that the American government will not take a definite stand at hearing only the reports of one side, which in the opinion of the imperial government cannot correspond with the facts, but hopes that a chance will be given to Germany, to be heard equally.

Deep Regret Expressed

"Although the imperial government does not doubt the good faith of the witnesses whose statements are reported by the newspapers in Europe, it should be borne in mind that these statements are naturally made under excitement which might easily produce wrong impressions. If Americans should actually have lost their lives this would be naturally contrary to our intentions. The German government would deeply regret the fact and begs to tender sincerest sympathies to American government."

The ambassador made no comment upon the statement and an attache said that it spoke for itself. The statement was given out from Count Von Bernstorff's rooms in an uptown hotel.

It was also said in the communication that the German government will deeply regret such a loss of life and would tender the sincerest sympathies to the American government.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Cataract to be a constitutional disease. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. BROTHER SLAYS BROTHER FOR DEER

Charles Young returned Monday from a short trip to the Klamath Lake Springs, and while away was called to serve on a coroner's jury to investigate the shooting of a man by the name of Hoover for a deer by his own brother. The two brothers and a companion were hunting, one brother and the companion being on one side of a creek, and were waiting for the other. A shot was fired at a movement in the brush and a bullet struck the brother in the spinal column, plowing upward through the lungs, causing instant death. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."

This is the second accident in Klamath county this year due to carelessness. The first occurred the day before the opening of the deer season, when a hunter seated on a log was shot in the thigh for a deer. The shooter was never found.

HORNBOOK PREPARES FOR DRY OREGON

According to reports, the interests back of the construction of a bonded warehouse at Hornbrook, Cal., have the names of 380,000 users of spirituous, malt and intoxicating liquors in the states of Oregon and Washington. When the two states go "dry" next January the warehouse will be ready for business and prepared to slack the thirst of the thirsty by mail and express. The law permits the purchase of two dozen quarts of beer and two quarts of spirituous liquor monthly per family, estimated to be twice as much as the average drinker uses at the present time. The work of securing the names of the drinkers has been under way since the last election, is alphabetically arranged, and tabulates the drinking proclivities of each. Another warehouse will be built on the Nevada state line to keep the inhabitants of eastern Oregon from suffering.
