

BUSINESS COLLEGE OPENS SECOND YEAR MONDAY, SEPT. 13

An educational institution which is rapidly forging ahead in the estimation of the public, is the Medford Commercial College, which was established a year ago by Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Van Gilder and Mr. S. H. Bauman, who have proved themselves to be commercial teachers of unusual abilities.

The school will enter upon the second year of its existence next Monday, Sept. 13th, when its fall term opens. Plans have been made for increased efficiency in all departments, as it is the policy of the managers to give their students every facility possible, which will assume the successful completion of their courses of study.

A feature connected with the work of the school which has proved very popular, and which has created considerable enthusiasm among the students, is the monthly "Contest Day." On the last Friday of each month, various contests are held and efficiency awards are presented to the winners. The awards are presented by some business or professional man, who delivers a short address which is listened to with much interest by the students, and which serves to stimulate them to still greater efforts in their studies. These contests will be continued during the coming year, and some new features will be added.

Another feature not found in many similar schools is the office practice department, which has a complete equipment of modern office appliances. Every student, before graduating, is required to spend a certain amount of time in this office, where he is taught to do the things required in every well-regulated business office. The result is that every graduate of the school "makes good" to a marked degree upon accepting a position. Plans have been made to render this department still more efficient, as the managers believe in progress, their motto being "Do today better than yesterday."

The courses of study offered by the Medford Commercial college are very complete and practical, the teachers seeking to give their students those things which will be of real help to them in after years. Non-essentials are eliminated, and subjects are taught which have both a cultural and practical value. In arranging the course of study, and selecting the texts and systems used, the managers are unhampered by any one "higher up" with the result that intensely interesting and instructive courses are offered to the young people of southern Oregon. It will pay the young man and young woman who desires to "get on in the world" to investigate the opportunities offered by this school, which is well called "the school of best results."

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

On Saturday of last week your Eagle Point correspondent took a trip up Little Butte creek to attend an outdoor meeting of the Lake Creek Grange and picnic dinner, but was somewhat disappointed when he reached the picnic grounds to discover that they were just eating dinner, and I had eaten a lunch just as I left home at 11 o'clock a. m., so that I had no appetite to be satisfied. But those who would insist on insisting on my eating after all of my protesting. But the dinner was enough to tempt any one to eat without any extra persuading, but if I could not eat I could enjoy seeing others enjoy the dinner, anyhow. There were about thirty-five or forty persons present and fully as many ladies as men, and each vied with the other to see who could make the other the happier. After dinner was over and an hour or so spent in a social way, pieces of canvas wagon sheets, etc., were stretched on a wire from tree to tree around the seats that had been prepared and the company was invited by Professor Chance to come inside of the inclosure to hear the speaking, and soon the company was seated and he began to get ready to introduce the speaker of the hour, and among the first things he said was that his speech was to be sincere, and then he would talk awhile and then say that his speech was going to be sincere, and finally after so long a time he introduced as the speaker Mr. Canaday of Medford, and announced that he was a lawyer, and about the first thing he said was that he supposed that some of the audience would be surprised to have called on a professional lawyer to make a speech of a grange meeting, and he was about right in that respect, for I, for one, was greatly surprised myself at such a move, but he

HERE SHE IS—ONE OF NEW PERFECT WOMEN

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—Are you one of the new perfect women? What do you measure up to the new dimensions of perfect womanhood?

Here are the feet and inches which denote feminine perfection:

Height—5 feet 4 inches.
Weight—134 pounds.
Length of arms—64 inches.
Chest circumference—32 inches.
Waist—30½ inches.

Now the question is, how near do you come to this? The measurements were outlined by the national conference for race betterment while in session in San Francisco.

Miss Adele Coffee of this city is one of the first to prove herself a candidate for the new-woman perfection. Her measurements vary but slightly from those outlined at the conference.

Of course, if you don't measure up, there is a remedy, always providing you start with about the right height. If your chest doesn't measure up to standard, exercise, deep breathing and gymnastics will do the work.

If your arms are not long enough the athletic instructor at the "gym" will tell you how to lengthen them.

If your waist isn't as big as it ought to be, strengthen and enlarge the muscles of the abdomen with right exercise; or if it is too large, the same process will reduce it.

So if you are not as near perfect as possible, it's not one's fault but your own.

did very well, as you know that a lawyer is supposed to be able to speak in favor of any subject. But he apologized for being in that role by saying that he had been raised on a farm and had had some practical knowledge of farm life. The next speaker was Mr. Cowley, the district deputy for the master of the state grange, and he gave us a good, practical talk on the workings of the grange, not only in this state, but throughout the entire country. Then Mr. Berkholt, master of the Willow Springs grange, was called on and he commenced by saying that he never made a speech in his life and never expected to, but he did very well, considering that he had never made a speech, for he told us several good things, and I believe that if he would make up his mind that he could that he would make a success in that line. Then the chairman, Mr. Chance, called on your Eagle Point correspondent for a speech, stating that he had formerly belonged to the Eagle Point grange and knew something of the workings of the order so he got up and tried to tell some of the advantages of being a member of the grange by citing the difference in the handling of our wool in an early day while the grange was organized in Douglas county, and the wool growers put their wool all together and demanded a good price for their wool. We in Jackson county were simply at the mercy of the speculator and he demanded the wool at his price, and we were forced to take it simply for lack of organization. After the speechmaking was over those who were not members were invited to retire and the regular business of the grange was taken up and two new members were initiated. There were steps taken to erect a large hall near the grove, a joint stock arrangement, to be used for the grange hall and any other purpose that might come up. Owing to the fact that the farmers up there were busy with their alfalfa hay, the third crop, there was not the attendance at the meeting that there would have been if the people had not been so busy. But the prospect is good for making a grand success of the grange movement in that neighborhood, for when such men as Thomas Farlow, Lemmon Charley, James Culbertson, C. D. Schell, Herman Meyer, Jr., and a host of the bright women in that section take hold of a move it has to go. While I was there I met C. D. Schell, and he informed me that his father, 84 years old, had been spending the summer with him and had just returned to his home in Nebraska.

C. D. Schell commenced his school in the new schoolhouse with new furniture on Monday, September 6, in the Kent settlement.

Miss Alma Gould expects to commence her school next Monday, the 13th, in the Lake Creek district.

Miss Mahel Hansen spent Friday night with us and went to Flanner Rock district to commence her school last Monday.

R. Post of Medford and Miss Fannie Hurst were here for supper Sunday evening. They were out to see about a position as teacher in our school, but learned that there was no vacancy.

Professor C. E. Johnson commenced his school in Laurel Hill district Monday.

Our school commenced last Monday, but all that was done was to enroll the names and he assigned to their places in the classes. There were sixty names enrolled.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Tedrick and Malvin Wade are visiting Mr. Tedrick's son, C. C. Tedrick, on the Fred Pelouze place.

Marion Truitt, a brother of the contractor, Henry Truitt, is carrying the mail from Eagle Point to Perist. His sister, Miss Mae, is visiting friends in Eagle Point.

L. G. Palmer of Central Point, who has been up in the hills taking an outing and making shakes, returned Saturday and brought out his stepson, Andrew, stepdaughter, Lorene Griggs, and Lew Smith, and spent the night at the Sunnyside, and Mr. P. and son went on to Central Point Sunday morning, but Lorene remained here up to Wednesday morning.

Miss Frances Heath was visiting friends in Medford Saturday.

Messrs. Knight and Bishop have shipped a carload of pears from here Monday.

Frank Castor and family returned from Washington last Saturday.

Mrs. McArthur and her sister, Miss Maud Corlies, daughters of the foreman of the Alvesta orchard, were in town on business last Monday.

Mrs. R. G. Brown was attending to business in Medford Monday.

A. J. Florey reports that they have pullets that lay eggs at four months old—some pullets.

M. E. Root and E. U. Young of the F. & P. Co. were here Monday.

Mrs. Susan Whitaker, who has been visiting her grandchildren for the past week, returned to her home in Glendale Monday.

Joe Pool has been hauling baled hay and storing it in the old bakery building.

William Gresson has shipped in seven wire gates and a lot of windows and doors, the latter for his new house.

Mrs. Fred Dutton and Mrs. J. A. Montgomery were among the business callers Monday.

Mr. Chas., our school supervisor, and L. P. Huntington, who are working in the interest of the school fairs, were here Tuesday morning looking for exhibits for the county fair.

Frank Lewis of the Lewis confectionery and Roy Ashpole, one of our hardware merchants, have gone to work and cleaned up the street in front of and between their places of business, and Wes L. Childreth has joined them in the good work, greatly improving the appearance of the place.

Ed Walker, our efficient game warden, was here Tuesday for dinner, and so was William Nickel and Audley Meyer and his uncle, Herman Meyer, Sr. He had just returned from the Medford hospital, where he had been confined for the past two weeks.

The accidental shooting of Henry Frey has caused a deep feeling of sympathy for the bereaved families.

On SEPT 15TH he will don the GOTHIC the new ARROW COLLAR

BULGARS PLAYING BOTH SIDES FOR LAND CONCESSIONS

SOFIA, Sept. 10.—Premier Vasil Radostavoff in an interview today with the Associated Press declared the Bulgarian people were ready to meet the situation caused by the international crisis and that economic conditions in the country were excellent.

"Our government is engaged in negotiations with the entente powers regarding concessions on the part of Serbia," he continued. "While these negotiations are in progress it is utterly absurd to talk of an attack by Bulgaria on Serbia, as is predicted in some quarters. To do so might result in a catastrophe for Bulgaria."

"Our government is negotiating also with the Central powers, with the aim of obtaining the best results for the national cause. The fact that Bulgaria is treating with both groups of belligerents is quite in accordance with the desire of our government and of the opposition."

"Our relations with Turkey are excellent," he said in conclusion.
