The Devil Was Outclassed

The Devil sat by the lake of fire on a pile of sulphur kegs; his head was bowed upon his breast; his tail between his legs. A look of shame was on his face; the sparks dripped from his eyes; he had sent his resignation to the throne up in the skies.

"I'm down and out," the Devil said; he said it with a sob; "there are others that outclass me—and I want to quit my job. Hell isn't in it with the land that lies along the Rhine. I'm a has-been and a piker, and, therefore, I resign. One ammunition maker with his bloody shot and shell, knows more about damnation than all the imps of hell."

"Give my job to Kaiser William or to the Russian czar, or King George or J. P. Morgan or some such man of war. I hate to leave the old home, the spot I love so well; but I feel that I'm not up to date in the art of running hell."

And the Devil spat a quart of steam at a bristling bumblebee and muttered that he guessed he'd go and hunt up young John D.

PREPAREDNESS

BEFORE adopting a huge preparedness program it would be well to understand just what the nation is to prepare for—for upon our future course depends the degree of preparedness necessary.

If the United States is going to become a world power, in the sense that the European nations are—that is, striving to seize and rule all available parts of the globe, butting in to the affairs of all other nations and supplanting the ideals of right with might, then a huge military propaganda is essential.

But such a course is incompatible with a democracy—especially such a republic as the United States. Standing armies and gigantic navies are the weapons of empires—not democracies. A democracy is fearfully handicapped in its conduct of war when compared with a strongly centralized autocracy.

It is true the nation broke into world politics when the Philippines were retained, instead of being turned over to a native government. This act violated every tradition of the republic and placed the United States in the same class with the globe-gobbling rulers of Europe. But we have all along professed the intention of surrendering the Philippines to the natives as soon as they were "capable" of self-government. But the plutocracy responsible for their retention will always oppose their evacuation, as they offer rich opportunity for private exploitation at Uncle Sam's expense.

If it is merely necessary to provide adequate protection against invasion, a very moderate amount of preparation on account of isolation is necessary. Without question the close of the European war will find a program of partial, if not complete, disarmament adopted. Exhausted Europe will be in no condition to maintain huge armaments.

There will be ample time to prepare for the future when the degree of preparedness necessary is determined, both by outlining the future policy of the nation and by the future course of the present belligerents after the war.

MIGHTY PARADE OF JAPAN ARMS
BEFORE MIKADOGERMAN PLUNGER
OFF GIBRALTAR
HIT BY MISTAKE

TOKIO, Japan, Dec. 2.—The greatest military spectacle of peace times in the history of Japan was witnessed in Tokio today. Fifty thousand soldiers, infantry, cavalry and artillery, selected from all parts of the empire, were reviewed by Emperor Yoshihito in celebration of his coronation. Ten aeroplanes and several dirigibles represented the aerial branch of the service.

Before the parade the emperor rode through the ranks. He was accompanied by the military attaches of the various embassies, including Colonel James A. Irons, the American attaché.

The review of troops was witnessed by the diplomatic corps, including the American ambassador, George W. Guthrie, all the members of his staff and their wives, and by Rear Admiral Albert G. Winterhalter, commander of the Asiatic fleet of the United States and officers of the cruiser Saratoga.

ITALIANS TO TRY
ALBANIA DRIVEEMPERESS OF JAPAN
HAS BABY BOY

ROME, Dec. 1.—What is believed to have been an intimation that an Italian expedition soon will be sent to Albania was given by Foreign Minister Sennino in his address before parliament when he said that as soon as possible the Italian flag "would wave from the opposite coast of the Adriatic to help the Serbians."

The eastern aggregation got the jump on the aggies the moment the latter kicked off, and scored two touchdowns before the western players got their hands on the ball at all. With the exception of the game with Washington State college, the Aggies defeat today was the worst they have suffered this season.

Perfect execution of numerous complicated plays was what gave the victory the advantage on the offensive. On the defensive their line tossed back interference and downed the runner with clock work regularity.

In the last quarter, however, however were almost even. The Oregon team barely solved Syracuse's plays and made good gains on forward passes interspersed with line plunges White and Schneidert. Syracuse's giant guards, and the entire backfield, led by coach Lincoln high, Portland, head timekeeper George Dewey, Portland, and William Horr, Syracuse, N. Y., assistants to linesman.

Score by quarters:

PARIS, Dec. 2.—Telegraphing from Athens under date of December 1 the correspondent of the Havas News agency says:

"The Bulgarians have not yet occupied Monastir. The Serbian army has evacuated the city, leaving only a few officers and a small detachment of troops to preserve order. It is supposed the Bulgarians are awaiting reinforcements before entering the city."

"The Serbian commandant at Monastir posted notices throughout the town advising all inhabitants who feared the treatment they might receive at the hands of the Bulgars to leave the place, and that Serbian troops would be engaged in protecting their flight towards the Greek frontier. Serbian refugees who continue to arrive at the Greek border are suffering frightfully from cold, the weather registering ten degrees Fahrenheit above zero."

"Fresh Bulgarian forces are concentrating toward the French front."

SHIPPING BILL
PROMISES AID
YANKEE SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Draft of an administration shipping bill to take the place of the measure which failed of passage at the last session of congress, is in the hands of the house merchant marine committee today. It was prepared after conference between Secretaries McAdoo and Redfield and would have congress appropriate $50,000,000 for merchant ships that could be used as naval auxiliaries.

The bill, too, would create a federal board with jurisdiction over deep water traffic, similar to that exercised by the inter-state commerce commission over the railroads.

The bill will not be introduced in congress until President Wilson has given his approval after its revision by administration leaders in and out of congress.

They found American homes and property looted and destroyed, and confirmed previous reports of the destruction of property, the confiscation of 1300 miles, harness, wagons, and equipment belonging to the United Sugar companies and of various depredations. It was confirmed also that Carranza soldiers, returning to the place after the raids, had participated in looting, according to the best reports.

Some of the most distinguished men in the city paid a tribute to the Japanese financier last night at a dinner in his honor at the Lotus Club, John D. Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, said that America desires the friendship of Japan if for no other reason than its pecuniary advantage.
