HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 14.—Military authorities began examination today of scores of colored troopers of the ninth United States cavalry taken aboard the transport Sheridan after they were taken into custody in the tenderloin district by a provost guard and a battalion of the second infantry, called by the police to quell rioting and looting. During the disturbance two women were badly hurt.

Quiet was restored quickly by throwing a line of guards about the district and expelling all except those who belonged there. The cause of the trouble has not been determined.

When the outbreak occurred last night the police called for aid and were joined by a score of negro soldiers from the Sheridan. The disturbers outnumbered the pacifying force and the provost guard was called and a battalion of the second infantry was sent from Fort Shafter.

All houses in the district were closed by the military force and persons were permitted to go through the guard lines only upon passes. One company of infantry patrolled the tenderloin all night, but returned to quarters today.

Many houses were entered and partly wrecked during the night.

STEAMER GLENGYLE'S CREW SAVED, REPORT

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Captain Chester of the Glengyle and twenty men of the crew were picked up by the steamer Mossoul. Three Englishmen of the crew and seven Chinese were lost. The sinking of the Glengyle was reported in a London dispatch on January 2, when it was said that of about 120 persons on board, passengers and crew, all with the exception of three Europeans and seven Chinese were landed and that it was not believed any Americans were on board. The Glengyle was bound from Shanghai for London.

OREGON ORCHARD FRAUD TRIALS BEGUN

PORTLAND, Jan. 14.—H. H. Riddell, former secretary of the Oregon Inland Development company, was put on trial in federal court before Judge Bean today charged with having used the mails of defraud in a plan to sell lands scattered throughout the state on the contract plan. Frank Riebet and J. T. Conway, other officials of the company have been convicted on a like charge and are serving prison terms.

RADIUM KAISER'S ONLY HOPE

other words there may be an inherited weakness—a field in which if the seeds are dropped, as we drop seeds into prepared ground, cancer may result; whereas in another individual where no predisposition existed, it would not result.

Cancer Not Contagious

"The first step toward the proper treatment of cancer," continued Dr. Kelly, "is the early recognition of the disease and the reporting to a competent surgeon of any little sore, however tiny, about the lips, tongue or throat which does not promptly heal.

"In this early stage and in a stage of irritation called the precancerous stage, the disease is practically always curable. But, if allowed to go on until it forms a lump of considerable size, with every passing month the chances of cure become less.

"The treatment of cancer is absolutely, first, last and all the time, surgical. No means have as yet been discovered which will cure cancer outside of surgery, with the exception of radium, and that is at present in an experimental stage."

FRUIT EXHIBIT FROM EXPOSITION NOW ON DISPLAY

By W. W. WATSON.

Another shipment of processed fruits and vegetables from the Rogue River valley section of the Oregon building at the Panama-Pacific exposition, San Francisco, was received by the Medford Commercial club yesterday. They arrived in excellent condition and look like they had just been processed and sealed.

It is a most attractive assortment of fruits and vegetables, including pears, plums, peaches, grapes, cherries, strawberries, celery, green peppers, potatoes and so on through a long list. They constitute a valuable addition to the club display and doubtless will prove to be of great assistance in directing serious attention to the region that has produced such choice specimens of orchard, vineyard and farm growth.

To the casual observer in this district, these exhibits at the club rooms may after awhile become commonplace, but to the tourist they tell a wonderful story of soil fertility, of a climate in which seasons and sunshine combine happily to produce fruits of such charming luster, such delicate blending of colors and so temptingly delightful in appearance. The impressions thus created are worth volumes of verbal publicity. They are tangible evidences of the quality of the things produced. No further testimony is needed as to the richness of our soil and the adaptability of our climate to the growth of prize-winning commodities in these lines.

Another feature of the display is found in the great variety of the products shown, including all of the cereals, corn of many kinds, sorghums of all kinds, fruits from the luscious Bing cherry to robust Newtown Pippin apple, peaches famed the world over for their size and excellence of quality, pears of two or three varieties fairly bursting with juicy plumpness, strawberries so large that they have to be carved before serving, and rich in superb flavor, plums that blush many colors, and mangels and sugar beets and pumpkins so large in circumference and weight as to arouse incredulity at once if described in detail in cold type to the outside world.

Added to these are the precious

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT! STOP DANDRUFF AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Hair Stops Falling Out and Gets Thick, Wavy, Strong and Beautiful

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.—Adv.

minerals and coal and limestone gathered from nearby mountains and foothills. It is a fine exhibit—and to those who live in this favored region it suggests another thought.

If all of the more than 300,000 acres of arable land in this beautiful valley were under an adequate system of irrigation and modern tillage, producing an annual harvest of these rich products for the world outside whose markets are hungry for them, how the figures of local wealth would jump to an aggregate sum of millions of dollars each year!

"It is easy to put these things down on paper," some local bumpkin will say; and, using the combined energies of our industrial, commercial and social strength, it would be just as easy to put them into good bank paper.

Intelligent Work Required

It will require work, to be sure. It requires effort to accomplish anything. It entails the employment of energy—misdirected, of course—to doubt, to knock, to croak, to obstruct the progressive work of the optimist; in short, to be a negative character of any kind. The wild bear at breakfast in a swamp of rich wild cabbage aptly illustrates a negative character in the class of those just designated. As it eats and grunts and manches the fat leaves it travels backward. About the only thing that prompts it to go forward is fright or search for food.

When those farmers of this Garden of Eden, who know what they could accomplish here with the proper facilities, speak of being unable to succeed in that generous measure without water for their orchards and fields, and the newspapers voice their outcry for modern advantage and equipment by urging all to unite and supply the one thing needful—irrigation—even a smugly attired and self-complacent city man is sometimes heard to exclaim: "It's all rot!" That fellow talks simply for self-entertainment.

Like Banquo's Ghost

He likes to hear the jingle of his words, just as the little boy on a

Fourth of July likes to shake a Roman candle at his playmate and watch the balls of fire roll out, knowing they are harmless. The voluble citizen who talks chiefly for the noise it makes is equally harmless to those who know him. The only danger is that his appearance may deceive strangers.

It remains a fact, nevertheless, and a fact, like Banquo's ghost, that will not down—when we get irrigation throughout the length and breadth of this rich valley, great trainloads of just such fruits, vegetables and the manufactured products therefrom as those represented by the exhibits at the Commercial club will roll out of this county during all of the months of our long season of harvest, year after year, every crop insured by its system of irrigation.

ASK MODERATION OF GERMAN CENSORSHIP

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—The budget committee of the reichstag today concluded its discussion of the censorship by adopting a series of resolutions for submission to the reichstag asking for a moderation of the censorship.

The resolutions ask the chancellor to see first, that the present exceptional measures do not tend to arrangements which will permanently impair the freedom of the press and of public opinion; second that civilian experts are attached to the war press bureau and the press departments of all the military district commands whose duty it will be to alleviate the rigors of the censorship; third, that notice of warning must be given newspapers before confiscation can follow; fourth, that suppression of a newspaper can only occur on the chancellor's approval, and, fifth, that questions of home policies and of the traffic policy are taken out of the hands of the censorship.

A socialist resolution demanding the abolition of martial law was rejected.

MRS. MOHR ADMITS WRITING WARNING NOTE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 14.—The allegations of the two negroes, C. Victor Brown and Henry H. Spellman, who with Mrs. Elizabeth P. Mohr are on trial here charged with the murder of Mrs. Mohr's husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, were narrated to the jury today by William F. O'Neil, chief inspector of police. Dr. Mohr's negro chauffeur, who is to be a witness for the prosecution was ruled out by the court.

A card which Mrs. Mohr admitted having written a year before the tragedy to George Brooks urging him to persuade his sister-in-law, Miss Burger, the doctor's secretary to keep away from Dr. Mohr's home at Newport on pain of "having a sad ending" was admitted to evidence. Mrs. Mohr told the inspector the latter testified that she wrote the warning in one of her "frenzied moments—that this woman, Miss Burger, had aggravated her till she could stand it no longer."
