

HIGH SCHOOL AT REVIVAL MEETING CHEERS EVANGELIST

High school night was the program at the Natatorium last evening. The great hall was decorated with the school colors, pennants and mottoes. The center section had been reserved for the Medford high school, which came in a body, giving their yells long before they reached the building. Every chair reserved for them was taken when the great throng filed in. When they entered the hall the great audience rose and received them with enthusiastic applause.

The yell master then took the rostrum and for ten minutes there was a quick succession of yells and school songs until everybody caught the spirit of the occasion.

A large delegation from the Phoenix high school was present and given reserved seats. Also a delegation, some twenty strong, of the citizens of Jacksonville had a reserved space. Tonight a large delegation from Ashland is expected.

The music was stirring and bright. The choir was augmented again by a sermon upon Joseph.

A large orchestra and Mr. Vessey kept things moving from beginning to end. The sermon by Mr. Mathis was a heart-to-heart talk with young people on the character and purposes of Joseph. His text was, "And God was with him." There was nothing of the "goody-goody" about the rapid-fire-straight-to-the-point manner of putting some of the vital principles every young person must hold to successfully face the demands of life. The speaker insisted that the things which made Joseph one of the heroic great characters of mankind are the very things the present-day youth must cherish and exercise.

"Joseph made good, wherever he was. In adversity and in prosperity he maintained the same high ideal of self and virtue. Joseph was the same in heart and purpose when as slave he felt the grip of the shackles as in the seat of authority as Governor of Egypt. One thing for which Abraham Lincoln will be revered and cherished forever is because he was still Abraham Lincoln in the White House as in the squatters' cabin in the back woods. It was a high place to which Joseph came, but he came thither by way of the slave pit and the felon's cell. Nevertheless God was all the while fitting him for the high place of honor. Any young man or woman who will pay the price in character and preparation has the right of way in this old world."

The speaker urged young people to set before them some worthy ideal and then subordinate all minor considerations to its accomplishment.

The sermon was received with marked appreciation and often the speaker was interrupted with applause.

Cheers for Evangelist.

At the close of the service the yell master of the school took the platform and led the great throng of school folks in yells and songs, and said: "We have received much here tonight from Mr. Mathis; let us give him three rousing cheers." And they were given with a vim and spirit enough to put heart into any man.

The seventh and eighth grades of the public school were present, coming in a body and occupying reserved seats.

Tonight is "men's night." Everybody is invited, but the sermon will be especially to men. Saturday night the great choir will give a sacred concert in place of the usual praise service. A fine program is prepared.

M'KINLAY LECTURES UPON 'THE FROGS' FOR DRAMA LEAGUE

The lecture on "The Frogs," which is to be given by Dr. McKinlay, of Portland this evening in the reading room of the Hotel Holland, promises an evening of unusual entertainment and interest. The saying that there is nothing new under the sun, which has almost become a dangerous platitude, is restored to its original and virile meaning upon considering and enjoying the humor and what would be greeted today as the most modern and up to date treatment of some of the salient questions which confronted the Athenians when Aristophanes wrote his greatest comedy.

Bacchus' expedition to hades with his slave as traveling companion and advisor, their interview with the gatekeeper of the infernal regions and the final denouement which takes place in the court of Pluto afford a vehicle for wit and satire, as bright and sparkling, as keen and caustic as any enjoyed today. To this literary attainment is added the merit of its having been without doubt a beacon light to the greatest satirists of modern times, and one wonders how much of a peek our trenchant Shaw takes occasionally into the pages of the ancient dramatist—especially does this thought suggest itself in that deliciously Shavian bell scene in "Man and Superman."

Dr. McKinlay's presentation of the comedy will be such that even those who are not familiar with the author will nevertheless feel well repaid at having heard him and enjoyed the modern interpretation of the ancient wit and humor.

The lecture is free and the public is urged to attend.

An error was made yesterday in

WHY FAMOUS PASTRY COOKS USE KC BAKING POWDER

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting—they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain; every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the double raise makes doubly certain.

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.
