

STORY NIGHTS AT MATHIS REVIVAL WELL ATTENDED

The only two stormy nights of the revival meetings thus far have been well attended and the interest even more manifest than at other times. The sermon of yesterday was a searching, straightforward message, clear and distinct in tone and commanding the attention of those who heard.

Mr. Vessey never sang better than when he rendered "Some One's Last Call," which he executed with rare skill and power.

The preacher spoke on "Repentance," using the words of Christ, "except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish" as his text. Among other things, he said:

"Repentance is a serious business. There is no foolishness about it. I am aware that the doctrine of repentance is not an altogether popular doctrine among people of the present day, but it is the most emphatic doctrine of the Bible. The Master laid such stress upon it that he said: 'Except ye repent, ye shall perish.' Whatever you may think about it—whatever notions you may have— or even what you may believe about it—the facts remain unchanged—repentance for sin is absolute necessity.

"Many times sorrow for sin is taken for penitence—but even Godly sorrow, which is needful, is another thing from repentance. When a man repents of his sin he will, of course, be sorry for it, but he will turn from his sin and forsake it—not for a day—but for an indefinite time—forever. His penitence will be evidenced by a change of conduct, and so far as possible a making right of what has been made wrong by his evil doing.

"When any man, like the prodigal in the far country, comes to himself," he says, "I have sinned, I will go to my Father," that man has taken the first step toward forgiveness when he took the first step in the opposite direction from his old life—toward his Father. Repentance may be said to be 'coming to yourself' and starting toward home.

"Another thing I want you to ever remember—and I am glad I can say it with all my heart—whenever any man heads toward home, turns back to God he sees Jesus Christ near at hand and ready with ample forgiveness and pardon.

"To cover one's sin and fail to turn from it is to condemn yourself in the sight of God. There is no more emphatic message in the old book than this: 'Except ye repent, ye shall perish,' and I rejoice to say there is no more emphatic promise than this: 'If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sin and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.'

The service tonight is a special one—young women's night. Seats will be reserved for all young women and the sermon will be especially appropriate for them. Special music is in preparation. The praise service begins promptly at 7.00.

NO MUNITION PLANT FOR GOLD HILL

(Portland Journal.) The other day a tip came into the office that the Beaver Portland Cement plant at Gold Hill was going to make $1,000,000 in about twenty months manufacturing munitions of war.

The story is said by officers of the company in N. W. bank bldg. to be one of the most fantastic and grotesque jokes they have ever heard.

The president is now in east trying to hurry up some machinery that has been held back by stress of war orders at factory. In meantime, other work about plant is going on, so that everything is nearly ready for start of cement making operations as soon as machinery comes.

THERE IS A REASON. Buying cheap goods to save money is like stopping the clock to save time. But you can always buy good goods at reasonable prices at Fouts' Grocery. Our special this week is U. S. inspected hams for 15c per pound. Ten cents per pound off on Golden Gate coffee. There is a reason.

SEVENTH COMPANY PLANNING SMOKER FOR WEDNESDAY

The Seventh company is arranging for another of their popular smokers, to be given Wednesday, March 8, at the armory at which special athletic events will be staged somewhat out of the ordinary events of this kind.

Through the efforts of the committee in charge of the program the faculty of the University of Oregon has consented to send the champion amateur wrestler of the university to meet the champion of southern Oregon in a bout of two falls out of three. The representative from the University will be Harold Prestel, more familiarly known as "Pretzel," among the students, and the honors of southern Oregon will be upheld by W. C. Edmunds, of Gold Hill, the best man on the mat yet developed in this section. Edmunds has thrown all comers to date and the headliner of the smoker is expected to be worth while.

In addition to the big event in the wrestling game, several other interesting bouts have been arranged, among which will be a demonstration of Japanese jiu jitsu style of wrestling, which has not before been seen in Medford. In the Japanese colony of Medford is an expert in this style of self-defense, Nakatani, who holds a certificate of efficiency issued by the national school of Japan in the jiu jitsu art. The Seventh company has secured Nakatani to go on the mat with an opponent for three falls.

There will be three boxing events, the participants to be selected from the winners in the previous bouts held between the Seventh company and the Central Point Athletic club. One or two contestants will also come down from Ashland.

There will also be curtain raisers in the way of contests in Indian wrestling, "bear scratch" and other amusing athletic trials of skill.

The program in detail will be announced within the next two or three days.

QUEEN OF BRONZE MINE AT TAKILMA BOUGHT BY TWOHY

The largest mining deal in southern Oregon since the sale of the Blue Ledge mine some ten or twelve years ago, was consummated this week when J. D. Twohy made the initial payment for the Twohy Brothers company on the purchase of the Queen of Bronze mine at Takilma, in the Josephine mining district near Waldo. The purchase price is $135,000 and the property was sold by the Tutt estate of Colorado Springs, owners. The Twohy railroad will be extended to the mine and development on a large scale be undertaken.

The Queen of Bronze mine has yielded over half a million dollars in copper ore and is one of the best-known copper properties in southern Oregon. Some years ago a small smelter was erected and operated for two seasons, but the death of the owner suspended operations, which were handicapped by lack of transportation facilities. The smelter was a concentrating plant and the mat hauled by wagon and shipped.

Last year the mine was operated upon a lease on a percentage basis. Between April and May copper ore was shipped that grossed over $65,000. The lessee was a nearby rancher, who mortgaged his farm to secure $1000 for operation, and is now on easy street. The ore was hauled by wagon twenty miles to the Grants Pass railroad.

With copper at its present price, 34 cents, and likely to go still higher, there promises to be great activity in copper mining the coming season. A deal is pending for the purchase of the Blue Ledge by Boston miners, and the country is full of mining men seeking desirable properties. The psychological time for a great mining boom in southern Oregon, with its great copper belt, seems to have arrived.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Freight congestion in eastern terminals will be taken up by the interstate commerce commission with representatives of all interests concerned at a public hearing here March 6 and 7.
