EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

Our quiet little village is being visited occasionally by those who are so anxious to serve the dear people in one way or another and are perfect that would not cause loss of principle that would not cause one of principle, especially if the dear people would only be considerate enough to vote for them at the coming election. There seems to be quite a number of those who are or have been engaged in school teaching who want to fill the office of county school superintendent, and some of them have expressed their desire to fill the office, some orally and some by letter. The first one was the present incumbent, Professor Wells, who announced his candidacy orally while out here a short time ago, visiting our school, and the next was Professor G. W. Ager of Talent, who has acted as one of the school supervisors for two years and is now engaged as principal of the school in Talent. He has not the time to spare to go out and visit the voters, so is writing personal letters to different ones on the subject; and then comes Francis C. Smith of Medford, announcing himself as a candidate for the same office, and they are all on the same ticket (republican), and want me to support them in the primary, and I have already registered as a democrat, so what am I to do in such a case? The two last mentioned, Professors Ager and Smith, especially stand for school efficiency and personal supervision of the schools and the elimination of school supervisors—the fifth wheel of the coach—and it seems to me, and not only to me, but to most of the patrons of the schools, that if they would eliminate about half of the books that the patrons of the schools are taxed with that that would be one of the most popular movements they could suggest, for as it is now the children, especially in the lower grades, have so many studies that they do not have time to master any one of them and the result is the children have a very superficial knowledge of each and are deficient in the fundamentals.

Miss Mabel Hansen, who has been teaching in the Florence Rock district, closed her school last Friday with an entertainment and picnic dinner and reports having had a very pleasant time. She came out Saturday on the Pacific & Eastern and remained over Sunday with us, taking the Eagle Point-Climax stage Monday morning.

Jud Edsall, who is engaged in cutting a thousand cords of wood on his place near Butte Falls, came out the last of last week and remained over Sunday and Monday with us, and while here engaged John Foster to go up and work for him in the wood camp.

We had with us on Sunday for dinner Mr. Wise of Trail, Frank Abbott, foreman of the W. Hart Hamilton ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Ayres, Henry Trautz, F. T. Newport and wife, George Austin, the mail contractor and carrier from Eagle Point to Climax; Miss Mabelle Cobleigh and Mrs. L. W. Owen, the lady evangelist. Mrs. Owen closed her meetings here Sunday evening. On Sunday at 11 she spoke on the subject of "Opportunity," and at night her subject was "Who is Who?" She has had large congregations each time after it was known who she was. She is a very pleasant speaker and has the faculty of holding an audience. She left here for Central Point Monday morning and expects to be in Gold Hill next week.

Manley Conley came out on the Lake Creek stage last Monday on his way to Grants Pass, where he will put in a fish screen in Rogue river that he has invented. He expected to stop at Rogue River and have Sam Sandry examine it before putting it in the stream.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Frey of Lake Creek came out Monday, stopped here for dinner and went on to Medford the same day, and C. A. Newstrom, the newly appointed road supervisor for the Lake Creek district, was also here for dinner the same day.

Our blacksmith, W. L. Childreth, puts in a large part of his time now making new and altering old branding irons. The last legislature passed a law requiring the stockmen over the entire state to have their marks and brands recorded in Salem so that there would be no two brands alike in the state and now almost every stockman in the state has to have his branding iron changed. He has to send to Salem to the register of marks and brands—another fat of office—and have a branding iron selected for him, then have the iron made, send an impression to the office, and if it is correct, have it recorded, and then the trouble has just begun. The stockmen have to gather all of their cattle and horses and re-brand them, but then the trouble has just commenced, for under the old law the different stockmen and many

ASHLAND AND VICINITY

Obituary sounded the praises of the Buckeye state at their annual reunion on Wednesday of this week at Moose hall. Dining appointments as usual were superb, and the bountiful feast was followed by a brief program with which the social hours were mingled. In common with other reunions since 1911, "Ohio" was sung to the air of "America," the words being by Mrs. Elizabeth Yockey, a native daughter. There were instrumental selections by Mrs. Van Fossen and Lloyd Stratton. Miss Floy Chambers sang, and Miss Miriam Gregg gave a reading, her selection being "Legend of Ohio," an original composition by Mrs. Yockey, whose versatile attainments and trenchant pen have afforded literary treats at the reunions for seven years in succession. Former officers were re-elected, they being Rev. J. S. Smith, president; O. H. Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. Cassius Miller, secretary. The attendance was large and enthusiastic. Upon adjournment the idea found expression to make the anniversary in 1917 larger and better than ever. A straw vote was taken for president, the choice being a rather perfunctory one and was, of course, for Burton of Ohio.

Mrs. Rachael J. Barnes died at her home, 815 Oak street, Tuesday of this week, aged 55. Besides her husband and parents, she leaves four sons and one daughter. She was a native of Iowa. Funeral services were held at the family residence on Wednesday, conducted by Rev. Mr. Vallandigham of the Christian church. Interment in Mountain View cemetery.

Rivalry among local automobile agents is keen this early in the season. A familiar model, known the world over and manufactured by a man who recently made a spectacular trip to Europe, now retails for $493.25, delivered in Ashland. It is a five-passenger touring car.

The authorities are still searching for one R. B. Stone, who early in the week worked the old racket of passing a worthless check on a firm of local grocers, getting goods and the check's overplus in current coin. He posed as a relative of O. J. Stone, former well-known resident, and told other plausible stories as to his reliable financial standing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kinney left for southern California on Wednesday. They will visit principally in San Diego, where W. H. Leeds, a brother-in-law, resides. Mr. Leeds was formerly editor of the Tidings and also served as state printer of Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Kinney will be gone several weeks.

F. G. McWilliams, who has been seriously indisposed of late, has gone south to try a change of climate for a persistent affection which medicine fails to alleviate. He will visit his children living in the Imperial valley of California, Calexico being an objective point. His daughter, Frances, is a teacher in the public schools of that town, which is situated on the Mexican border. Elvidge, Mac's oldest son, is associated with J. E. Peck, his brother-in-law, in big irrigation projects both in California and on Mexican territory.

Ashland's new voting districts for city, county and general elections include nine precincts, not counting Bellevue, as follows: No. 1, Ashland Boulevard; No. 2, East Central; No. 3, West Central; No. 4, East Main; No. 5, Oak street; No. 6, North Ashland; No. 7, East Ashland; No. 8, East Ashland; No. 9, Northwest Ashland; No. 13, Bellevue. Nos. 4 and 9 register at Susie Allen's office; Nos. 1, 4 and 8, at C. L. Loomis' store; Nos. 5, 6 and Bellevue precinct 13, at Billings office; Nos. 2 and 7, at J. A. Lemery's office.

H. G. Eastman of the local post-office force is reported to be steadily recovering from an operation for appendicitis which was recently performed at Modesto, Cal., by Dr. J. E. Hosmer, Eastman's father-in-law, who was a former practitioner here. His wife and child are with him.

Sheridan Thornton, expert machinist, has returned to Klamath county, where he is employed by the Algoma Co.'s lumbering interests.

On February 29, the occasion being the fifth Tuesday in the monthly calendar, who are not stockmen, know each other's brand and mark, and when after stock would look out for each other's stock, because they would have a stock book and by that means could tell whose stock they saw, and if one was inquiring after stock would easily find it, because the brands were familiar and easily remembered, but now, under the new arrangement, many of the branding irons are of such a shape that they will be hard to describe, much less to remember. I think that we better quit sending lawyers and doctors to the legislature and send plain, common-sense old farmers instead, and they will be more practical.

endar, the local Rebels kept open house in Old Fellows hall to the various affiliations of the order. Games, dancing and an exchange of the social amenities were followed by the serving of abundant refreshments.

Ashland owners of heavy realty holdings in the vicinity of Montague report that locality all agog over the probability of a beet sugar factory being installed in that territory. Greendia, south of Montague, is the objective point which eastern capitalists, who have been looking over the field, have in view as a location for the plant.

Child welfare work will be observed here during the period intervening between March 4 and 11. The slogan, "Better children, better parents and better cities," is an underlying principle which is spurring parent-teacher and other organizations to meet responsibilities under present-day conditions.

W. A. Freeberg of this city has resurrected a copy of the Mining and Metallurgical Journal, under date of March 1, 1897, in which he vividly depicted personal experiences of thirty days on the Colorado river in a flat boat. Specifically, the caption of his article is, "Scenes, trials and casualties of a party of three, and general observations of the mining possibilities along the river from the Needles to Yuma, a distance of 320 miles." The article is an interesting one of several columns and as its title implies, treats at length of the mining outlook in various camps of California and Arizona, at that period in the "middle ages." The Journal was formerly the Pacific Coast Bulletin, and was published at Los Angeles. It is devoted almost exclusively to information concerning mines and mining, with some lively correspondence features, and is profusely illustrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Martz of Rushylvania, O., accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Orville Glick on their return to Oregon from the east, and will locate permanently in this vicinity.

During the lull in mineral springs activities, Emory Smith, of the contracting firm which installed the physical plant, has returned to San Francisco and Engineer Bell has taken a trip north.

There will be a special train from here to Medford Friday evening of this week to accommodate 500 rooters who will be on hand to yell for Ashland at the initial basketball game of the concluding series. Dean Walker of Independence, an expert in the referee line, has been selected to officiate in that capacity. Round-trip excursion rate to Medford, 25 cents. Train leaves here 7:15.

L. E. Tryor of Los Angeles, for years actively identified with missionary work in Mexico, will speak at the Baptist church on his chosen theme next Sunday evening.

Frank McGee of Denver is a late arrival here, stopping at Hotel Columbia, who comes under medical advice to try Ashland mineral waters.

The final lyceum number in the Ministerial Union course will occur at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, March 7. Sidney Landon, impersonator, will be the bright particular attraction.

Due to stress and storm this winter, the maintenance account of the Southern Pacific increased $476,408 in January. The increase was mainly on the Shasta and Sacramento divisions in the mountainous sections.

Following the example of several Ashland business concerns, it is noted that Toggery Bill Isaacs and associates of Medford, have incorporated their popular merchandizing headquarters on an capitalization of $10,000 as a starter, "fully paid up and non-assessable."

The Elks' anniversary ball on March 17 will be an elaborate St. Patrick's day affair unrivaled in all its appointments.

 Lang & Co. Will Not Be Undersold

At 40c ROYAL CLUB is the "best buy" on the coffee market today—there is no finer coffee at any price.

This is no careless statement—we make it only after due consideration and after thoroughly testing competitive brands—including those of highest price. Yes! And there are thousands of satisfied ROYAL CLUB users ready to "back us up."

ROYAL CLUB is made from the finest coffees that money can buy. It is blended, neutralized and roasted by the latest scientific processes and under the personal direction of a coffee expert who stands at the head of his profession.

ROYAL CLUB is well worth 40c, but for two weeks we are going to sell it for less—for Lang & Co. Will Not Be Undersold.

Do not be misled by coffee roasters who charge you "too much" fifty-one weeks in the year and then expect the public to clamor for their product when they reduce the price for one week to what it should be all the time.

There is no set "year in and year out" selling price on ROYAL CLUB. Green coffee costs vary just as do sugar and flour and other staples. We have always made confidants of the public and have given you the benefit in reduced retail cost when the market was "down"—while other roasters pocketed this increased profit and said nothing.

ROYAL CLUB now sells for 40c, and it's worth it—there is no better coffee at any price; but we will not be undersold by any "outside" roaster—not even for a single week.
