

ELSON PICTURES TO BE SHOWN AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

During the week of March 9 the public schools will place on exhibition the famous collection of Elson pictures. This collection consists of more than 200 carbon photographs and engravings, coming mostly in brown and in color.

The collection comprises 200 subjects, representing all the principal schools of art and including many reproductions of sculpture, architecture and important views from nature. Few collections have ever been brought together which so completely cover the history of art of all times as this.

The proceeds of the exhibit will be used in purchasing suitable pictures to decorate the walls in the various rooms throughout the city schools. It is part of the school work to inculcate the element of culture and refinement in the children through whatever means it has at its disposal.

The wholesome and refining influence of pictures of the right sort on the school walls is now generally recognized as one of the most valuable means of securing this end. The funds for purchasing such pictures, as well as an opportunity to make a selection from a very large number is secured by means of the exhibition. The larger the attendance the greater the number of pictures that can be secured for the schools.

Every man, woman and child should not fail to visit the exhibition. Your interest in the schools should now manifest itself.

Superintendent Hillis announces that the Cuthbert building on North Central has been engaged for the exhibit, and the work of decorating and hanging of pictures will begin on the arrival of the pictures Monday, March 27.

NATIONAL ORANGE DAY SATURDAY

Saturday is Orange day and everybody is asked to help celebrate it. Medford merchants have large stocks and are making special displays.

Good Housekeeping for January, 1916, says:

"Probably the reason many of us consider the orange a luxury rather than an every-day food is because we still cherish memories of the time when the fruit was high-priced and not widely distributed, and an occasional orange was a surprise often reserved for the toe of the Christmas stocking.

"Many of us are more or less slaves of our habits of thought, and in face of the fact that oranges can be purchased from December to April at almost any price, and the rest of the year at prices which are moderate when the value received is considered we do not take advantage of their wonderful dietetic properties because we consider them too expensive.

"It is generally known that the orange contains citric acid, which is a liver stimulant, and that it is a gentle laxative. But its wonderful supply of phosphates, a direct nerve-food, is usually overlooked, and the fact that oranges therefore have a most beneficial effect in cases of insomnia is practically unknown. In short, the importance of the orange as an every-day food the year round can not be too greatly emphasized.

"As a breakfast fruit it is unequalled, but to obtain the greatest benefit, it should be eaten a half-hour before the meal, so that the juice may leave the stomach and commence its rapid rebuilding and general cleansing while the digestive tract is comparatively open. If this is done, a cereal with light cream and sugar may be eaten at breakfast, but if the orange figures as the breakfast fruit, the cereal with sugar and cream should be omitted, as the combination sometimes causes nausea and gas.

TRIANGLE PROGRAM OF MERIT

Walter Long in "Martyrs of the Alamo," Triangle-Fine Arts Picture.

Keen interest in the D. W. Griffith historical Triangle play will be clearly demonstrated on its presentation at the Page theater today.

"The Martyrs of Alamo," or "Birth of Texas," is a Griffith special. Of special merit is its photography, distinguished by the brilliant effects which Mr. Griffith knows so well how to produce.

And you can't help feeling happy when you see that great comedy, "Her Painted Here," a Triangle-Keystone burlesque on stage life, presenting Polly Moran and Ilo Hamilton.

MEDFORD COLLEGE NOTES

Miss Hunter of the Gregg class in New York writes us this week complimenting us upon a set of papers received from Walter Dunsen, Clod McCredie, Roland Fisher, Medran Altman, Walter Dunsen, paper was the best in her opinion.

Among the school visitors for a week were: C. E. Godfrey of Philadelphia; Miss McClellan, a commercial teacher from Astoria; Mr. and Mrs. Owens of Eagle Point; Mr. Mathis, Mr. and Mrs. Vessey. We were much pleased to learn that both Mr. and Mrs. Vessey are Gregg "friends."

The Misses Sara Norwood and Vivian Childers recently enrolled for the stenographic course and are entering into the work with much enthusiasm. Both are splendid students.

Joan Anderson, who has been specializing in legal work with the result that she can turn out as neat a paper as anyone in Medford, has been doing some work for one of the leading lawyers here.

When the bell rings for correspondence class it means the postman's call for the letters and not a little pride has been displayed by those who produced their letters on time and with absolutely no errors either in arrangement, construction or typing; for such letters are put in the display files, and mean that they would pass inspection by anyone.

Clod McCredie is now in the final theory test with a grade of 99 per cent.

Louise Williamson is just completing her work in actual business. She has specialized in legal papers, and all branches of filing, and has given satisfaction to those for whom she has done outside work.

Miss Florence Clark, who is taking some special work, is an enthusiastic student and making excellent progress.

and, indeed, all fruits, can not be too strongly insisted on, for no matter how clean they may look they are no more free from bacteria than unwrapped bread or candies sold from open cases. If it is to be eaten with a spoon, the fruit should be cut in halves crosswise and if they do not stand level, this slices of skin may be cut from the ends. The pulp around the edge and the membrane between the sections should be loosened by a curved grapefruit-knife.

STUDEBAKER SIX CROSSES SISKIYOU BREAKING RECORD

The hill-climbing contests in San Francisco, in which a stock Studebaker outdistanced all others by climbing a 50 per cent grade with nine passengers in the car, created so much interest among local Studebaker owners that on Wednesday, March 15, Earl Woodshed, accompanied by Clarence Lovern, of Central Point, decided to cross the Siskiyou.

Leaving here at 8:20 in the morning, the first stop was made at Siskiyou, which was reached before 11:30. Siskiyou was reached with but very little effort, no trouble whatever being encountered. At Siskiyou it was decided to attempt the drive over the old instead of the new road. This action was done because the old road is a much steeper grade and it was the desire to put the car to the stiffest possible test.

Mr. Lovern, who without question has had as much automobile experience driving and otherwise as any man in the Rogue River valley, pronounced the trip the most difficult thing he ever encountered, and states that $100 wouldn't tempt him to go again. At times the car floandered through mud up to the running board. Snow two and three feet deep was plowed through in a manner that Mr. Lovern said heretofore he considered impossible.

Mr. Lovern, in commenting on the trip, states that he has driven practically every make of car, and that in his entire experience he has never driven a car which performed so wonderfully and pulled so consistently under what the ordinary driver termed impossible conditions, as the Studebaker.

The drive was ended at Hornbrook. The return was made on Thursday, the 16th, without the car receiving any attention. It was not even necessary to put additional oil in the crank case. The drive from Hill to Medford, on the return, which is the worst part of the drive, was made in little over three hours.

Mr. Lovern says that this without doubt stamps the Studebaker as one of the most powerful, most consistent cars on the market. Many a car, if subjected to the driving strains and other obstacles encountered on this trip, would in all probability have been a wreck. The springs met with other road conditions, which Mr. Lovern says he surely expected would break it any minute.

DRAMA LEAGUE TO HEAR PLAY READ

"That Something" which Mr. Hillis, our superintendent of schools, is to read this evening under the auspices of the Drama League center, was by W. W. Woodbridge and dedicated to the Rotary club of Seattle, which in turn dedicated the writing to the Rotary clubs of the world.

The author is little known as yet in the literary world, but judging from the reception which this work has met with, he must be touched with the spark of genius. Those who have enjoyed this bit of work have felt that the author was inspired to dramatic heights and that it carries with it the quality of work that never grows old and that one feels better for having known it.

The evening promises to be a very enjoyable one as Mr. Hillis' reading of this work has always been received with enthusiasm. The reading will be given in the Hotel Holland parlors. Admission will be free as usual and the public is cordially invited to attend.

THE VALUE OF TRUTH

Truth in business is just as important as truth in every-day life; truth creates confidence, establishes good-will and builds a reliability that will not be wrecked by the storms of competition.

Through three generations people have learned to place reliance on the advertised words of Scott's Emulsion, because they are unvarnished, unexaggerated truths about a household remedy of real and actual worth.

The popularity of Scott's Emulsion is increasing as intelligence advances, because in these days of adulterations it continues to guarantee pure cod liver oil medicinally perfected with glycerine and hypophosphites to build strength, improve the blood and strengthen the lungs. It is free from alcohol or opiates—a wholesome food-tonic, truthfully advertised.
