Revised Bill Provides Permanent Commission Along Lines Suggested by President, to Take Tariff Out of Politics—Provides Six $10,000 a Year Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—A revised bill for a permanent non-partisan tariff commission on lines suggested by President Wilson, and which, it is said, has received his full approval, was introduced in the house today by Representative Rainey of Illinois, ranking democratic member of the ways and means committee.

"The bill in its present form has the approval of the administration and will be the administration measure on this subject," Mr. Rainey declared.

"It will be supported by all the democratic members of the ways and means committee, and it is hoped it will receive the support of the republican members of that committee. The bill is nearly non-partisan, as it is possible to make it."

Six $10,000 Commissioners

The bill would provide for the appointment of six commissioners at $10,000 a year each, not more than three of them can belong to the same political party. The first appointments are to be made for two, four, six, eight, ten and twelve years, after which the terms of officers of all are to be twelve years. The chairman and vice-chairman must be appointed biennially, according to the terms of the bill.

The duties of the commission are to investigate the administrative and fiscal effects of the customs laws of this country, relations between the rates of duty on raw materials and finished products, effects of ad valorem and of specific duties, all questions relative to the arrangement of schedules and classification of articles in the law, and to put all information in its possession at the disposal of the president, the house ways and means committee and the senate committee on finance.

Probe Tariff Relations

The bill would give the commission full power to investigate the tariff relations between the United States and foreign countries, commercial treaties, preferential publications, the effect of export bounties, preferential transportation, the volume of importations compared with domestic production and of conditions, causes and effects relating to competition of foreign industries, including cost of production and dumping.

The need of protecting trade secrets and processes is recognized in a provision of $1000 fine or imprisonment for one year for any member or employe of the commission who divulges any secrets of the commission.

Representative Rainey said the bill would not be submitted to a party caucus, although to save time it probably would be added to the omnibus revenue bill. Because it is hoped to make the commission permanent, he declared, the bill provides for an annual appropriation of $300,000 to meet its expenses.

For Tariff Stability

"The measure, in my judgment, insures in the future tariff stability, and whenever revisions appear to be necessary it will make it possible to make them intelligently," said Mr. Rainey.

"If enacted into law, it will come as near removing from the tariff making and unreasonable partisan action as any measure yet conceived."

The measure would give the commission full power to compel the attendance of witnesses and give it access to and the right to copy any document of any individual or business concerned in the production or sale of any article under investigation.

No person could be appointed to the commission who has been elected or served either in the house or senate. All employes, except a secretary to the commission and a clerk to each commissioner, would be placed in the classified service under the terms of the bill.

PRESIDENT POOR GOLFER—JUST KNOCKS BALL ABOUT SAYS INSTRUCTOR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 27.—If it were not for the fact that he is president, Woodrow Wilson might be classed as a "duffer" among golfers, according to George Sargent, new professional at the Interlachen club. Sargent, for five years instructor to the nation's chief executive, William Taft and Wilson, on the links at Chevy Chase, Washington, says Wilson is an enthusiastic golfer, but his game consists mostly of knocking the little sphere about.

Before international diplomatic relations became complicated, Wilson spent much time on the links. Sargent often accompanied the president and instructed him.

Now the president does not get much time for golf. However, he manages to run out to the course of the Washington Suburban club, a short automobile ride from the executive mansion. This is a nine-hole course, and the president and Mrs. Wilson can motor out there, play one round and be back in an hour.

Taft, when president, was a member of the Chevy Chase club, and played all his games there. Sargent opposed the former president in many matches, and declares he is a really good player.

Presidents of the United States are not the only high officials whom Sargent has taught. He learned his golf in England, where he was born, and before coming to this country was a professional at two of the largest clubs in the British Isles, where he showed many of the nobility how to take their stance and handle the clubs. He won the national open championship in 1909 at Englewood, N. J.

BOB BURMAN DEFEATS BARNEY OLDFIELD

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Mar. 27.—Taking the lead in the third lap from Barney Oldfield and never being headed from that time to the finish, Bob Burman Saturday afternoon won the Panama-California exposition 50 mile match here. Burman's time was 27:30 1/2, and was considered remarkable by experts in view of the dangerous course. Telesoff also drove a remarkable race and from the eleventh lap on, closely pursued Burman.

18 POUNDS OF BLOOD

Is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the quality of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities. When multitudes of people are today taking Scott's Emulsion to avert winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes.

KELLY TO FORCE TRIAL OF BIGAMIST

Frank Thomas, alias O. C. Thompson, who deserted his wife in this city, going to Eugene, where he pretended to take another wife, will not escape so easily as at first appeared to be possible. Prosecuting Attorney Kelly, recognizing the seriousness of the case and insisting on the prosecution of Thomas for bigamy, prepared a complaint and sent it to Lane county, accompanying it with Mrs. Thomas' marriage certificate and other data to be used in the case. There is no doubt that the defendant will be held to the grand jury and his marriage enterprise uncovered. Mrs. Thomas is in entire sympathy with this turn in the case of her much-married husband.

LAST OF ISHI TRIBE, STONE AGE CULT DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Ishi, last of the stone-age Yahi tribe of Indians, which once flourished in California, east of the Sacramento river whose "discoveries" in 1911 near Oroville, Cal., resulted in his adoption by savants of the University of California as a valuable anthropological acquisition, is dead here, from tuberculosis, possibly brought on by the interruption of his primitive outdoor life.

WILLARD SPARED MORAN PURPOSELY

CHICAGO, March 27.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, arrived here today from New York, showing no ill effects of Saturday night's fight other than that his right hand was in bandages.

According to announcement, Willard will remain in Chicago several weeks, getting his hand back in shape. He has a contract to give exhibition bouts with a circus during the summer. It is reported his end of the summer's purse will amount to approximately $150,000.

Before taking a taxi to his home Willard answered many questions.

"I did not knock out Moran because a knockout would have had effect on the fighting game in New York and there is enough feeling against it now," said Willard.

"I won all the way. Moran got in my punch several times and I would have stumbled over him if he had not zipped out of the way.

"I do not intend to retire. I am not that much of a fool, even if they do say things about me."

NEW YORK, Mar. 27.—Jess Willard is still the heavyweight pugilistic champion of the world. In ten rounds of fast fighting he defeated Frank Moran of Pittsburgh here Saturday night on points.

A crowd of about 12,000 persons paid approximately $150,000 to see the fight and went away apparently satisfied with the result. It was the greatest showing Madison Square Garden had ever seen. Many women were in the throng.

Willard broke his right hand in the third round, but blows from his fighting left kept Moran at a distance. Moran's best round was the third and his worst probably was the seventh. He was bleeding after the fifth round and his left eye was almost closed at the end.

Willard was rushed to the ropes in the third and received blow after blow on the face. The crowd sensed a knockout but the finishing punch was lacking.

Moran put up a game fight. Most of the time he crouched and forced the fighting. Willard seemed slower on his feet than the challenger, and appeared to have an unlimited capacity to take punishment. Moran scowled as he fought, but Willard smiled.

The awarding of the suit to Willard on points was virtually unanimous among the experts about the ring-side, although all gave Moran credit for his gallantry and continual efforts to land a punch that would bring down his gigantic opponent.
