A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Normie, South Newton street, when the Free Methodist society and friends of Rev. J. E. Bradley and wife met for a social farewell in appreciation of their services for the past three years. A short program was rendered and a timely address by Rev. J. W. Sharpe. Dainty refreshments of ice cream with crushed strawberries, cake and coffee were served. "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds" was sung with emotion, and very affectionate closing remarks were given by Rev. Bradley. Having been appointed to a charge in northern Washington, Rev. Bradley and family will leave Medford soon, much to the regret of their many friends.

The boys of the grades are enthusiastically preparing a gun drill and the minions will appear in a bright little sketch called "The Grandmas."

The College Women's club met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Campbell on King's highway. Election of officers for the ensuing year was the principal business to come before the club. After the business session a short Shakespearean program was given, including a group of songs by Mrs. Wolff of Ashland. Mrs. Vernon Sawyer, social chairman, was assisted by Mesdames Phipps, Haskins and Myron Root.

Miss Marybell Henson entertained with a dinner party Tuesday evening at the home of her parents on Berkeley Way in honor of Miss Margaret Mansfield. The color scheme of red roses was used, making the dining room very beautiful. Covers were laid for five. Those present were: Misses Margaret Mansfield, Grace Perry, Helen Pierce and Hazel Dyer.

The Redmen and Pocahontas held a joint entertainment at the Redman hall Friday evening in honor of St. Tammas day. At 8 o'clock supper was served by the ladies, after which the rest of the evening was spent in dancing and card playing. "Jane" with Charlotte Greenwood and Sydney Grant, the society comedians and pictured by the Oliver Morosco forces is the attraction at the Star theater today. Forrest Stanley and Myrtle Stedman hold a splendid supporting cast, which also includes Herbert Standin, the original Christian with Sir Henry Irving in "The Belle," Lydia Yeamans Tins, whose "Sally in Our Alley" has become a classic of the musical stage. Howard Davies, Syd de Grey and Natalie Warfield. Scenes of Miss Greenwood and Sydney Grant in a densely populated chicken farm are among the interesting novelties of the Robman piece, the most laughable comedy Morosco ever put out. The Local Movies will also be shown again today with the high school at an added local attraction.

EYE COMFORT FOR READING AND DISTANCE
KRYPTOK glasses are a wonderful convenience to middle-aged men and women who wear glasses.
You can see both near and far objects through KRYPTOKS with equal distinctness. Yet KRYPTOKS cannot be distinguished from single-vision glasses.

KRYPTOK GLASSES
THE ONLY INVISIBLE BIFOCAL
end the nuisance of removing your reading glasses every time you look across the room or at a distance. They relieve the tiring strain upon your eyes caused by frequently looking through your reading glasses, at objects three or four feet away.
KRYPTOKS are solid lenses without seam, line or fiber. They are the only bifocals with smooth, even surfaces—no arc-revealing, vision-blurring lines, seams or shoulders.

Medford's City Attorney Seeks Nomination on Democratic Ticket

B. R. McCabe, City Attorney of Medford, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for District Attorney. He has lived on this coast 25 years. Was admitted to the bar in California and practiced law ten years there and in Nevada before coming to Oregon in 1913. He is serving his fourth year as City Attorney for Medford, having been reappointed to that office by three successive mayors. When he entered the office the all-absorbing question before the city and the council was the electric franchise held by the California-Oregon Power Company; doubt of the company's right to a franchise for 25 years was thrown upon the conditions existing by nearly every lawyer in this section. The matter was passed by the council to McCabe shortly after he entered upon his duties, and after a careful consideration he advised the council to settle the difficulty on the basis then offered by the company; this was rejected by a majority of the council in the fall of 1913. The annual election was approaching and McCabe prepared a charter amendment to be submitted to the people, in effect, to ratify the existing contract and franchise and their terms for the remaining 17 years, and advocated his stand at the polls, this latter action all but cost him his position. The measure was defeated by the people, and the city was in the same unsettled condition. The council then sought outside legal advice and obtained an opinion that the city could win in the courts. This put it up to the company to bring suit against the city, which it did, and it cost the city nearly $10,000 to have the Federal Court tell it to do what the city attorney told it in the beginning.

The case of Phipps, et al, against the city involving the constitutionality of the charter an every assessment for public improvement in the city was another matter inherited by McCabe when he came into the office. He fought it through the Circuit Court twice, and then carried it to the Supreme Court and obtained a sweeping decision that puts at rest all doubt as to the power of the council to make a valid assessment without let or hindrance from the courts. It took the labor of three years in the face of the obstacle of no co-operation by those he was depending upon.

If nominated and elected to the office of district attorney the county would have a lawyer of undoubted ability and one, if we can judge by the past, who would be fearless in the discharge of his duties.
