

MEDFORD WINS FROM HORN BROOK IN TEN INNINGS

Ten-inning game for a starter! It was that, fans? A baseball game between Hornbrook and Medford, which opened the season on the home grounds Sunday, was a most agreeable surprise. While the boys showed a lack of practice which is unavoidable at this season, they were there with the "pep," and the game was tied up in the ninth-inning it a corking spectators' game.

"Old" Cas had all his usual stuff, striking out ten of the boys from the box, and allowing but four hits, while Anthony fanned eight and only allowed six good ones.

Sherry kept his men well keyed up, and Mac pulling off a double steal that was a "morning's morning" to the native sons, while Moran's impossible handling of hot ones indicated that we have a real third-sacker.

Manager Ewing can deliver this kind of ball regularly he should have no reason to complain of the attendance.

SENIOR PLAY AT PAGE ON TUESDAY FINE PRODUCTION

The senior play tomorrow night at the Page marks a unique departure from the usual run of school plays and their everlasting college atmosphere, of which the people who patronize them from a standpoint of loyalty are justly weary.

In "Merely Mary Ann" the graduating class is giving to the theater-loving public of this city a play that stands among the best in comedies, a recent success from Broadway, New York, where it ran an entire season. The class, in order to give it, were compelled to pay a royalty of $30 for each production night, a record for royalties paid by any class for a school play.

The play required special scenery in order to produce it correctly and this was ordered some time ago by the 1916 class. The furniture also required was different from that to be had at the local theater and the new furnishings were brought to the Page Saturday.

The cast is the best Mrs. Wilson has ever worked with in this city, some of the young people showing great natural ability that should be trained.

MOTORISTS, ATTENTION!

A great crowd will greet the production, for reserved seats are almost gone. "It looks like the S. R. O. sign will be hung up when the curtain rises," said Manager Hugo Lundberg.

The cast. Lancelot, a composer G. Henselman. Mr. Peter, in business Leland Nor. Herr Bradman, music publisher.

Lord Valentine Foxwell, a gilded youth. E. Narregan. Mrs. Leadbatter, a boarding-house keeper. Vera Roundtree. Rossie, her daughter Dorothy Thorne. The Sisters Trippett, music hall dances, Polly and Dolly. F. Bacon and N. Campbell. Lady Chalmers, a poor peevish.

MARGUERITE CLARK IN PRINCE AND PAUPER

Dainty, magnetic Marguerite Clark, the idol of millions of photoplay fans, is the star of the Famous Players-Lasker company's screen adaptation of Mark Twain's fanciful romance, "The Prince and the Pauper," the first work of America's greatest humorist to be presented to the motion picture public, which is the Paramount feature attraction at the Star theater today.

Every man, woman and child is familiar with the great American humorist's immortal story of the ambitious little beggar and the adventurous little prince, each of whom craved the life and freedom of the other. It is a rare combination of quaint humor, rich with the sparkling satire that has made the name of Mark Twain revered and loved the world over, and the occasional dash of pathos which makes the laughter the richer. And there is now and then a real thrill that shows the master touch of the gifted author.

It is the sort of story that all will delight in and the photo production is one that can well be called part of a liberal education, since it introduces to the motion picture public the work of one of the nation's greatest men of letters.

After the strawberry patch had been raided by the committee so appointed the dainty lunch was served and all departed feeling it was good to be there.
