

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES TO BE HELD TOMORROW

The annual tribute of the living to the dead of the Civil war will be paid tomorrow, Memorial day. The G. A. R. and Women's Relief corps will have charge of the exercises.

The parade will form at the city park at 9:15 a. m. and start at 9:30 a. m. Members of the G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps, Company Seven, C. A. C., school children and fraternal orders will make up the line of march, headed by the Medford band. The exercises of the day will be held at the Page theater at 10 o'clock.

The address will be delivered by the Rev. William B. Hamilton of the Episcopal church, and the invocation by the Rev. Harry B. Tucker. The toll of the Grim Reaper on the fast thinning lines of the old soldiers, since last Decoration day will be read. Instrumental and vocal numbers will be contributed by Miss Sadie Whitman and Forrest Edmeades, patriotic readings by Mrs. Webster and Mrs. George T. Wilson, and a military march by twenty young ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Lynette Hovious.

After the Page exercises the decorations of the graves of the old soldiers will begin. The Hall Taxi company will carry women and children free to the cemeteries between the hours of 8 a. m. and noon, meeting at the Crater Lake garage, on Fir street. Several hundred can be accommodated.

The program at the Page is as follows:

- Musical selection—Medford band
- Instrumental music—Miss Sadie Whitman
- Invocation—Rev. Harry Tucker
- Commander's order to adjutant, Commander's welcome.
- Reading record of G. A. R. dead since last Memorial day.

D'Artagnan! There is magic in the word. Who has not read "The Three Musketeers," loved Athos, Porthos and Aramis and felt the thrill of bold adventure in traveling with D'Artagnan on journey of peril to save fair lady? He is as any one of us might be in supreme moments, as many millions of men are at this moment, ready to die for a good cause, a smile on the lips. Can we see him in the screen portrayal as we saw him when reading Dumas' great story?

There are things in trousers who might as well be vegetables so far as defending honor and principle are concerned, creatures who eat, sleep, reproduce themselves, rot and die, but there are some real men left, and they all sit up and take notice when the sword play is active in the Kay-Bee production of "D'Artagnan."

Throughout five reels we follow D'Artagnan's career of health and vigor, now stirred by his courage, now in accord with his practical nature, now smiling over his cleverness at intrigue. An attractive feature of the presentation is the artistic teamwork of screen images, appropriate and sustaining the mood of the play. A decided success.

Craig Johnson, the popular actor who already has so many successes to his credit, stars in "D'Artagnan."

As for the Keystone "Fidel-Fate" with Charles Morris, well, there is no end of serenely funny situations.

FREE AUTO TRIPS TO THE CEMETERY

The Hall Taxi Co. will carry women and children free to the cemetery tomorrow between the hours of 8 a. m. and 12 m. Those who wish to do so will meet at the Crater Lake Motor Car Co's garage on South Fir street, near Main. Women and children are especially invited to go. We can take care of several hundred.

CHORAL SOCIETY TO GIVE PRETENTIOUS PROGRAM FRIDAY

The concert to be given on Friday evening June 2, at the Page theater by the Medford Choral society will be one of the most pretentious musical programs ever attempted by local talent in Medford. It will include nothing but the best compositions of the great masters which have been sufficiently studied and rehearsed to insure a smooth and intelligent interpretation. The members of this organization desire to have it especially understood that it has not been the purpose of the society to simply rehearse a program and give a concert, but that it is the intention to make this a permanent organization and include all of the musical talent in the valley. Fortunately this community has an unusually large percentage of musical people and there is no logical reason why Medford cannot have a permanent organized chorus that will make its place in the front rank with any similar organization on the Pacific coast.

The members have all given their time and have been faithful in attending and working at rehearsals. They now announce the concert on Friday, June 2, for the sole purpose of raising funds to purchase a large comprehensive library for their organization and in so doing they have abiding confidence that the community will respond.

List of Participants. The following is the list of members who will take their respective parts in the program:

LANKY BOB'S WIFE TO TELL OF OPERA STAGE AND PULPIT

"From the Opera Stage to the Pulpit" will be the topic that Mrs. Bob Fitzsimmons, nee Countess Temo Zella, prima donna, wife of the ex-world champion pugilist will discuss at the Baptist church Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Pacific Coast Rescue society. She will tell the remarkable story of her life and conversion.

"I am through with you, Stick to Margaret and Dan McGinnity." These were the words Mrs. Bob Fitzsimmons wrote to her husband, the ex-champion prizefighter, before she attempted to commit suicide by jumping out of the window in the county hospital at Los Angeles four months ago. As she hung in the window ready to drop to her death a woman rushed to her and, grasping her, said, "Do you know Jesus? He will save you and heal your sickness."

Mrs. Fitzsimmons answered that she was not a Christian, and that she never had read the Bible. She had been confined in the hospital, almost senseless, for three months, awaiting death. Friends had desisted, but she had refused to write, and she welcomed the chance to take her own life. But this woman opened her mind for the incoming of the teachings of the Bible, and she was converted.

Since that time she has been lecturing from the pulpits of the large cities of the coast, and has decided to devote her life to evangelistic work. She is a member of the Temple Baptist church of Los Angeles, of which Dr. James Whitcomb Brounger, formerly of the White Temple, Portland, is pastor. She spoke at the White Temple, and her subject was, "What Can a Man Give in Exchange for His Soul?" She addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday.

"I never had had the opportunity to become acquainted with Jesus until the woman saved me at the hospital. My life from the time I was 14 years old until I married Bob in 1914 was spent on the stage with some of the best grand opera companies in Europe or America, and there is not much chance to hear about Jesus on the stage.

"Now I look forward to the time when Bob will be converted and we two can devote our lives to evangelistic work. He is pleased to think that I have been converted and has quit drinking. The whole trouble with Bob throughout his life has been that he was too good a fellow. The women caused his downfall, and he has been too free with his money."

W. McCoy of Asland was elected chairman of the association; W. H. Gore of Medford, vice-chairman, and Marshall Hooper of Grants Pass was elected secretary and treasurer. The meetings will be held twice each year. Banks will close during the summer months at noon hereafter.

MARBLE BRICKS IS NEW INDUSTRY PROMISED VALLEY

By W. W. WATSON.

Marble bricks, equal in quality to the marble slabs of Vermont, can be made out of the marble deposits of the Blue Ledge district. No one has attempted to estimate the quantity of marble found in that region. It exists in vast ledges occupying the greater area of one mountainside. Great walls of it stand out in a precipice nearly a mile long. It is white as snow. Apparently its quality is excellent. Scientific tests have not yet been made of its texture.

Samples of this marble now on exhibition at the Commercial club have been examined by those who work in marble and granite. They pronounce it fine in quality. However that may be and without hazarding a guess, it is known to be excellent material out of which to manufacture a first-class quality of what is termed "marble bricks" and for which from $20 to $30 a thousand is paid.

Marble Front Finish. H. A. Jansen, proprietor of the Medford Cement Brick and Block works, is authority for the statement that some of the marble-finish bricks now being used in the block being erected on the corner of Fir and West Main streets cost $110 a thousand.

"This same quality of marble bricks I can make out of the Blue Ledge marble for less than half of that price," said Mr. Jansen. "In fact," he continued, "they ought to be better, because they will be all marble. Many of those in commercial use now are only 'glazed.' I would grind the marble to the proper fineness and manufacture the brick from that product, just as certain clays are made into brick. I believe it could be done so inexpensively as to enable the manufacturer to put the product on the market at $30 a thousand. There is quite a difference between that figure and $110 a thousand. For such a brick there would be a great demand.

Ample Capital Awaits. "The sum of $50,000 awaits investment in my enterprise as soon as there is demand for it. With a railroad into the Blue Ledge territory the demand for this capital will quickly appear. It is my intention to install a plant for the purpose of manufacturing marble bricks out of the product of that region. I have no fear of the market problem. The demand for that class of building material will be abundant just as soon as it can be put on the market at a fair price. Scarcity of the raw material in accessible regions is what makes the marble brick so high in price now. A railroad to that mountain of marble in our great mining district would make it a mine of money for all who cared to utilize it. There is enough of it, from descriptions I have had of the deposits there, for generations. I have ordered some of the marble for the purpose of making a few samples of brick and ornamental work, as well. We can then tell what may be done with it."

Tonnage for Generations. Those who talk inanely about lack of tonnage for a railroad to the Blue Ledge country certainly count expert intelligent people to give them patient audience; nor can they reasonably expect business men and women to listen to such cheap twaddle without feeling a sense of pity for those who make it.

Over two billion feet of merchantable timber in the Blue Ledge districts alone is the estimate of government officials. Tonnage from the mines, in areas already blocked out, will keep an ore train busy for two years, without further development. Tonnage of fertilizer is practically beyond computation. Ditto tonnage in marble. The reduction of these raw materials into commercial products will employ thousands of men. In the development of that region thousands of tons of freight will command the services of the railroad outside of the transportation of raw materials. All of our vegetables, meats, poultry products, canned goods and a great deal of our fresh fruits will have a market at home. Heaven has nothing to do with the crime of a knocker's existence.

IN MEMORIAL

In the midst of this terrible death struggle of our Anglo-Saxon brothers in the war in which we had no making, we pause for a day's reflection, and our minds revert to those who have paid the price and made our liberty possible, as one people under one flag.
