MEDFORD PAYS LOVING TRIBUTE TO THE DEPARTED

Medford paid the annual tribute to the great heroes of the civil war today with a parade, exercises at the Page theater, a general suspension of business and decoration of graves with flowers and flags.

Under the auspices of the G. A. R. and Women's Relief Corps, the parade was held in the morning, the line of march being down Main street from the city park to the Page theater. The entire membership of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. were in line, and the ranks were thinned only last Decoration day. The line of march was headed by the Medford band, followed by fraternal organizations, school children and Company T. C. A. C.

At the Page theater the address of the day was delivered by the Rev. Wm. B. Hamilton of the Episcopal church. He dwelt upon the debt of love owed the nation to the old soldiers, who fought for the preservation of the Union. He stated that in a world war and the honor paid the veterans by America was a singular message of love. The address was of unusual merit and force and was listened to by a large audience.

Patriotic readings, songs and music were given by Mrs. George T. Wilson, Miss Sadie Whitman, Miss Webster, Mrs. Lynette Hovius and Ernest Edmonds. The theater was decorated with the national colors.

All day long Medford people journeyed to the cemeteries to lay tokens of memory upon the last resting places of departed ones, and the G. A. R. held their simple and impressive exercises, a flag and flowers being placed upon the grave of each departed veteran.

City and county offices, the banks and postoffice were closed all day. The stores and barber shops closed at noon.

Cry of Edue Producers. Two years ago these "Edue producers" said there would never be an other war, the global world, which let us not be misled again. Even should some come in across tomorrow, as declared, it might not be at first the American policy of preparation.

Woodrow Roosevelt interpreted his views that the American flag should have been hoisted at the beginning of the war, a prominent fact, but at the head of the navy department, and the army prepared.

"I believe in international duty," he said. "The duty of a nation, like every country, is to be considered as if it stood alone in the world. We are one of a community of nations and the effective condemnation of wrongdoing by that community is the great force of civilization."

"Pointing out that the canal zone, Alaska and the islands must be defended, General Roosevelt called attention to the transportation of Russian troops from Eastern Siberia to France and of the concentration of British, French and Australian troops in the Mediterranean as illustrations of the spirit and policy which should govern nations of soldiers and sailors."

AT THE STAR THEATER FOR TODAY ONLY

A dancer achieved a highest honor of feat of making a reputation of Portland, and it is a dancer in a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, "The Price of Folly," produced by the Vitagraph company, under the direction of George B. Baker, that Edith Storey will achieve her desire to portray a character that is absolutely at variance with any she has heretofore assumed. Miss Storey must be one favored of the gods, as she no sooner expressed a wish to be seen on the screen as a dancer than Mr. Baker, who happened to be passing and heard her, assured the Vitagraph star which was to be granted in "The Price of Folly." The story of the picture is similar to that of the historical danced who had an apartment adjoining the royal palace in Brussels and will give Miss Storey an opportunity of displaying that versatility that stamps her as an artist in the front rank of motion picture stardom. At the Star theatre today only.
