EM-TEES

Dear E. D. K.—Three weeks ago I met a nice young man who said he was a banker from Kalamazoo. We became fast friends. He asked me to let him have $72.75 to pay his car fare to New York to see his friend, J. P. Morgan, as all of his money was tied up in war stocks. I did, I haven't seen him since. Do you think he loves me?

Answer—Yes, dear heart, we think he loves you—$72.75 worth.

Dear E. D. K.—A young man who says he is a moving picture actor has asked me to marry him. When I asked him if he could support a wife he replied that I could go to all the moving picture theaters free. Do you think I am justified in accepting him?

Answer—Ask him if he serves meals with his free moving picture shows.

Dear E. D. K.—I weigh 115 pounds and have a 22 inch chest. I am in love with a young lady who weighs 220 and does heavy lifting in a hand laundry. When I told her I would always be her protector she laughed most annoyingly. Why did she do it?

Answer—Gosh, Percival, if you can't guess, we're too kind to put you wise.

She Will Be Missed. The neighbors of Mrs. Dora Shellhammer sadly regret her moving to East Run, for they will have to go further in case of the need of a butcher.—The Logan (O.) Gazette.

She'll Move to New York Soon. Miss Julia Berger of this place, who had the pines in the Cheyenne Lander, was over to Walker's Creek yesterday and was pointed out on all sides.—The Kelton (Wyo.) Tribune.

EVENTS SHAPING FOR PEACE DECLARES COUNT TISZA

BUDAPEST, June 1.—Count Tisza, the Hungarian premier, known as the "strong man" of Austria-Hungary, in an interview accorded to a correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt, expressed himself very cautiously with regard to the prospects for peace and the situation so far as the readiness of Germany and Austria-Hungary is concerned.

INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT

COLONEL MARTIN M. MULHALL, formerly field agent of the National Association of Manufacturers, who was one of the chief witnesses in the investigation of what President Wilson termed in 1913 an "insidious lobby," the probe of which dissipated the opposition to the present tariff bill, is publishing a book entitled, "The Invisible Government," in which he describes the clandestine efforts of the lobby maintained by big business to influence legislation.

The book contains extracts from letters showing the workings of the system submitted at the congressional inquiry, no report of which has ever been published. The lobby is described as "the most powerful, vicious thing in America. It is so powerful it can reach out and crush almost any man. It buys and sells legislators, laughs at popular elections and stops at nothing to gain its ends. This year it is making a supreme effort to cinch its hold on Washington and the nation."

There are 4000 members in the National Association of Manufacturers, representing a capital of over $7,000,000,000, embracing every great industrial interest in the nation. Annually a fund of $1,250,000 is collected from the members and spent for political purposes by an inner circle, and no accounting made. Not even the membership knows how the money is used. Mulhall declares it is spent in bribery, corruption and intimidation and submits documentary proof.

The book is to be printed in the interest of clean government and it is predicted will create a political sensation. But there are other lobbies that need exposure just as badly as the manufacturers—the power trust lobby, seeking to grab the remaining power-sites; the California oil lobby, seeking to gobble the navy's oil lands; the preparedness lobby, maintained by the munition makers, are instances of an insidious and invisible government—which is not always invisible.

SHAW ON CHILD POVERTY

THE best article on child poverty we have seen is by G. Bernard Shaw, the famous Irish author and playwright, who has written to Judge Henry Neil of Chicago, approving the latter's educational campaign in America as follows:

"Child poverty is the only sort of poverty that matters. The adult who has been poor as a child will never get the chill of poverty out of his bones; but he will die and make room for a better nourished generation.

"There are no doubt property owners in America who say it is confiscation to tax one man's property to pay for the education of another man's children.

"We have scoundrels of that sort in England, too. Some day they will perhaps have the opportunity of saying it to a higher judge than Henry Neil. He will send them to the place he reserves for those who have learned to say 'Our Father,' but have not learned to say 'Our children.' The one without the other is blasphemy. Also it is an unbusinesslike folly.

"Neglected children cost more than well-nourished ones to everybody except their immediate parents.

"The principal business of a policeman at present is to prevent happy children from obtaining food.

"The proper primary business of a policeman is to seize every hungry child and feed it, to collar every ragged child and clothe it, to hand every illiterate child over to those who will teach it how to read and write.

"If America cannot see this, there is no future for America. And it is because she has been slow to see this that so much of her past is shameful and so much of her present miserable."

BAND CONCERT IN CITY PARK AT 8 O'CLOCK TONIGHT

The fifth concert of the season will be given this evening at the city park band stand by the Medford band under the direction of Bandmaster Rowland. The program which will commence at 8, includes many beautiful numbers, both classic and popular. By special request, the grand march by Felix Mendelssohn "War March of the Priests" from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be played by the band this evening. The public is respectfully requested to keep as quiet as possible during the rendition of the various instrumentals. Following is the program: March, "Officer of the Day"; Hill Concert waltz, "The Dream"; Prayer; Dances, "Mignonne"; Dances, "One-step, Norway (the land of the midnight sun)"; Fisher Grand march, "War March of the Priests"; Mendelssohn Popular, "The Little Grey Mother"; Chilian dance, "Manana"; March, "The Commander"; The Star Spangled Banner.

At the present date, the waterfront employers' associations in San Francisco, Oakland and San Diego have also refused to grant the rates. The boats that operate will continue to operate without making any cargo on the Pacific Navigation company's steamers, Harvard and Yale, plying between San Francisco and Los Angeles and San Diego, and the Great Northern steamship company's vessels, the Neptune Pacific and Great Northern, which run between San Francisco and Chicago.

DOUBLE LIFE CHARGED INNES' GEORGIA TRIAL

ATLANTA, Ga., June 1.—Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis who with her sister, Beatrice Nelms disappeared in San Antonio, Tex., in 1914 went there expecting to marry Victor E. Innes, although he already had a legal wife and so with him to Indiana to found a new religious sect, according to testimony of Mrs. John W. Nelms, mother of the missing women, in court here today. Mrs. Nelms testified in the trial of Innes on charge of larceny after trust. He is accused of taking $1000 from Mrs. Dennis.

Mrs. Nelms took the stand after other witnesses had testified that Innes received about $2000 from Mrs. Dennis to purchase real estate in Montana, Mexico and possibly Utah. Mrs. Nelms told in letters her daughter received from Innes in the telling of his love for her. He postponed the date of the marriage from time to time during 1912 and the early part of 1914. The witness said, "until finally he wrote her to meet him in San Antonio in June 11, where they would be married."

It already had been testified that Mrs. Dennis thought Innes was not married at the time she knew him and that he brought the present Mrs. Innes to Atlanta with him, introducing her as his aunt.

Mrs. Viola Siskin Innes, a divorced wife of the defendant took the stand and testified that Innes had been married before she married him and that his full name was E. A. Victor Victor Elmore Innes. She lived with him about five years, she said. They were divorced at Carson City, Nev., in 1910.

GATES HERO OF MEDFORD MADE MOVING PICTURE

The Star theater will make a moving picture comedy in Medford Friday that will be the first of its kind to be produced in the state and will prove a novel film.

One of the big scenes to be produced on the library lawn at 2 p. m. Friday, through the efforts of Manager D. L. Sharriff, will be a picnic in which practically the whole cast will take part. C. E. Gates, who will play one of the leading roles in the comedy, announces that the following will be requested to attend the picnic: Fred Moore, Judge Tou Valle, J. A. Westerland, Art Burgess, W. F. Isaacs, H. C. Behring, H. A. Latta, Chas. Thomas, Hob Denel, W. H. Gore, Walter Bowen, J. C. Mann, Ralph Hardwell, Geo. Collins, Jonas Wold, Emil Schmidt, S. Vilas Beckwith, Phil Hamill, Delroy Getchell, Shorty Garnett, Carl Heilbrunner, Ed Brown, H. A. Walther, Gus Newberry, J. J. Buchter, A. P. Hazelrigg, Chas. Schieffelin, Walter Mundy, and Elmer Foss. These gentlemen are requested to bring their wives or sweethearts. If you have no sweetheart, bring your mother or sister or some other man's sweetheart.

Another scene will be made in front of the Star theater at 11 a. m. sharp, in which Chief Hittson will shoot at the leading character six times in order to stop the fleeing highwayman.

Many other points in and around the city will be used to producing this film. Thrilling scenes will be numerous and many automobiles will be used in the picture.

It will furnish lots of fun for the actors as well as prove a big advertisement for Medford. Practically everyone has witnessed the professional movie actors go through their various parts, but few of those who will appear in this picture have ever been filmed by a movie camera. One feature of the plan is that much of the action will be extemporé; only the larger scenes will be rehearsed.

Carl Tengwald, Lowe Zandell will play opposite to Mr. Gates. There are many well known ladies who will also take a part.

If you hear curious noises, or any one climbing your back fence, jump-

SHACKLETON BACK AFTER REMARKABLE ANARCTIC TRIP

LONDON, June 1.—A further account of the Antarctic expedition of Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer whose arrival at Port Stanley Falkland islands, was made known yesterday, shows that the expedition had a remarkable escape.

After meeting with almost unrelieved weather in the early part of 1915, the last man's ship, the Endurance, was finally forced by great icebergs and drift-ice to be abandoned.

Six weeks ago, the expedition of all the men and supplies, together with provisions, were abandoned. After a most hazardous journey the explorer reached Elephant Island. The survivors at first became so nervous that it was thought to have the greater part of the party which was for being abandoned. The men, who had been stored in the ice, had to be rescued.

After a journey of three weeks, such as probably is unique in the annals of Antarctic exploration, Sir Ernest reached South Georgia. There he sought the assistance of whalers for the rescue of the party on Elephant Island, but this proved to be impossible owing to the prevalence of unfavorable weather conditions.

The message was there is urgent need of help for the distressed men. In view of the information received from Lieutenant Sir Ernest, the office of the government for sending a relief expedition from England will be abandoned and a whaler will be sent from the Falkland islands to rescue the distressed men.

Armed returned to Port Chalmers, N. Z., having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Right of her men were absent when the vessel broke away and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in the south Atlantic off the coast of Argentina.
