INTERVENTION NEAR

ONCE again the United States is on verge of intervention in Mexico—an intervention forced by the inability or unwillingness of the Carranza government to protect the American border towns from bandit raids.

Carranza seems carried away by his own importance and to have lost his sense of proportion. His actions betray a perspective extremely narrow for the chief of a nation. His vanity and pomposity blind him to the existing dangers.

The American troops have no business in Mexico, save to protect the United States from foreign invasion. Had Carranza forces co-operated with Pershing's forces, Villa would never have escaped and the bandit bands have been rounded up long ago.

The United States government and people do not want to intervene in Mexico. The limit of patience has been exercised to prevent it. Should, however, the Mexican government carry out its threats of attacking the American troops protecting the border, it would needlessly force intervention by an unwilling government.

There can be but one result in case of a clash with Mexico—and that is disaster to Mexico. The ignorance of the people of Mexico can be understood, but the attitude of the Carranza government deliberately courting destruction passes human understanding.

HUGHES' FOOL FRIENDS

THE German-American Alliance triumphantly announces that its campaign in behalf of Justice Hughes secured his nomination by the republicans and the secretary of the organization states that he is sending out three million letters of instructions to German-born voters and descendants of Germans to vote for Hughes for president.

Every German paper in the United States, including the subsidized "Fatherland," is out for Hughes. President Wilson's vigorous flag day speech in which he accused foreigners of attempting to levy "political blackmail" is occasion for a fresh tirade of abuse from the hyphens who place the land of their origin above the land of their adoption.

It seems that the kaiser is not content with destroying American factories and interfering with industrial relations in the United States, but also seeks to interfere in its political affairs and name the next president.

If the German-American Alliance can deliver three million votes, of course it will decide the election. But such a supposition is preposterous. If the German vote is cast solid for Hughes it would force the American vote, in self-defense, to be cast for Wilson.

Mr. Hughes should be saved from his fool friends.

STOCKS UNSETTLED BY MEXICAN CRISIS

NEW YORK, June 19.—Stocks were generally unsettled today, in consequence of the unsettled conditions in Mexico. The Mexican group was particularly affected, losing two to four points, with as much or more for some of the specialties, comprising the motor and war shares.

GALLIENI'S DEATH DUE TO WOUND FROM TRAITOR

NEW YORK, June 19.—The death of General Joseph Gallieni, former minister of war of France, was due to a murderous attack by a French army officer of high rank under charges of treason and not to natural cause, according to stories told here today by passengers arriving on the French liner La Fayette.

General Gallieni was shot and fatally wounded when closeted with the officer in his Paris office, the arrivals from France said. The general, after an illness of three weeks, died May 27.

MINNESOTA HOLDS STATE PRIMARIES

ST. Pershing, commanding the American punitive expedition, that mounted horsemen, claiming to be Carranza followers and part of the command of General Cavazos, are stealing horses and cattle, according to reliable information received here today.

HUGHES TO NAME NEW CHAIRMAN FOR CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, June 19.—Charles E. Hughes arrived here from Washington early today to confer with a sub-committee of the republican national committee of which W. Murray Crane is chairman, concerning the organization of the committee including the election of a new chairman.

It is understood that Mr. Hughes has two or three men in mind whose names he will submit to the members of the committee for choice as chairman. The republican presidential nominee leaves for Providence, R. I., this evening to attend his class reunion of Brown university.

He would not discuss either politics or the Mexican situation. The members of the sub-committee were guests of Mr. Crane at a luncheon held prior to the conference with Mr. Hughes.

Before the luncheon the committee met and discussed the question of the selection of a national chairman. It was later announced unofficially that there was no basis for published reports that William R. Wilcox, former public service commissioner, would be selected.

It was declared that the name of William Loeb, once former President Roosevelt's secretary, virtually had been eliminated.
