Railroad men report active operations on the Southern Pacific crossing at Bailey hill, where the Pacific highway will cross under the railroad instead of at grade. The improvement will be expensive, costing in the neighborhood of $15,000 of which amount the Southern Pacific will assume most of the expense. The work will be completed inside of three months.

C. H. Veight left for Eugene Friday on a business trip which may be extended further north.

David Ivy, a blacksmith formerly in the employ of the S. P. here, returned last week from Eugene, where he has been for some time past. His stay here is indefinite.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

Bob Verbeck, the man who has the store at Union cross, on the Center Lake road, passed through here the middle of the week on his way out with a truck load of goods for the store. He said that the road was in fine shape most of the way through now.

Married, Monday, July 24, Mr. Sherman Woolley of Eagle Point and Miss Nellie Smith of Butte Falls.

Married, at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. L. I. Simmons, July 25, Mr. Louis Coy and Miss Doris Arena, both of Eagle Point. The bride is a sister of Mrs. J. S. Quackenbush, wife of the foreman on the A. Corbin orchard, and Mrs. Coy is one of the popular young women of this section and her husband has just entered in the age of manhood, having been married on his 21st birthday, and I understand that the bride is in her 17th year. Their many friends here are wishing them a long and prosperous journey through life.

Rev. L. I. Simmons started for Butte Falls shortly after the marriage to assist in conducting a protracted meet there.

S. W. Slasser, our town barber, and watch repairer, who has been away from his place of business for about two weeks, returned last Wednesday. During his absence Mr. William Whitman filled his place as town barber.

F. J. Ayres and wife were among the visitors in our town Wednesday.

William Butler and Narragon and son have each been hauling lumber from the lumber yard since last report.

William Mansfield, one of the deputy game wardens, passed through on the P. & E. railroad for Derby and the surrounding country, Thursday.

Mrs. Aden Tyrrell of Lake creek passed through here last week and on Monday evening the friends of the family gave them a surprise party at the home of her father-in-law, Mr. J. H. Lyrrell, where light refreshments, including cake, ice cream, etc., were served and my informant tells me that they had a regular old-fashioned jolly good time. The people in that Lost creek country know just how to have a good time when they get together, for they are one of the most sociable neighborhoods in the county.

Mr. J. W. Street, the man who is supplying the schools in the county with school supplies, was with us again Thursday and so was S. H. Harsh, Henry Turcotte and two strangers.

H. J. Hanver, one of the U. S. fish hatchery men, was here Thursday on the P. & E. He had been up to the Elk creek hatchery and was on his way up to Chukamas to inspect the hatchery there.

Jasper Hannah, who lives on the Bybee Bridge-Trail road, was here on business Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Foster and Mr. Foster's brother-in-law J. F. Dunlap of San Francisco, are here at this writing, Saturday, visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Stewart. Mr. Dunlap and Mrs. Foster are nephew and niece of Mrs. Stewart and have come in their auto from San Francisco via Red Bluff, crossed the mountains, the Coast range, to Karoka, Cal., came up the coast to Crescent City, thence to Grants Pass, Medford to this place, and today went to Crater Lake to see the ninth wonder of the world.

Thursday afternoon I concluded that I would take a stroll out of my usual beat and decided to call on one of my friends, Mrs. Argles Green, who recently arrived from the neighborhood of Los Angeles. Just before I reached the place there was a buggy stopped at the place and two ladies got out and the third one went on. By the time that I reached the place, I discovered that the two ladies were met by Mrs. Green in the lawn, under the shade of the trees that Mrs. Green's father, the late J. J. Fryer, had planted years ago and they seemed to be inspecting a lot of apparently old hats, as I drew nearer I discovered that Mrs. Green had pulled out ribbons, etc., and that one of the ladies was showing Mrs. Green an old hat—but I am going ahead of my story—I had been there but a few minutes before the same buggy came up and another lady got out and she had some more old hats, and I began to wonder what kind of a jumble I had gotten into and about this time the serene buggy arrived again and this time the driver and another lady got out, tied up the horse and joined the company, and the new arrivals had what looked to me like a large sugar sack, (white) and on bringing it to the place we were sitting, began to empty the contents on the ground, and lo, it was filled with old hats, and in less time than it takes me to write the account, here came another lady and a little girl and about the first question that was asked was: "Didn't you bring your hat?" By this time I discovered that I had settled down right into a hat making bee. I will here state that Mrs. Green is a special teacher in millinery work and had invited some of her old friends to come in at that time and bring in their old cast off hats and she would help them remodel them, trim them over and, in fact, make them new. Those present were Mrs. W. L. Childreth, Mrs. J. W. Grover and daughter, Mrs. Norman McQuoid and daughter, Mrs. Floyd Pierce and two children, Mrs. E. L. Martz and Miss Mabel Wamsley. Mrs. Green began to look around for a needle, thread and thimble for me to go to work on mine or some other old hat, and I suddenly thought of business that I had to look after in another part of town, so I bid the ladies adieu and retreated. After I left I learned that ice cream and cake was served and that they actually turned out two new hats, complete, and had several under way of construction, and one of the ladies told me that they had a very enjoyable time. After I left by my way to other parts, I met two ladies and one of them asked: "Have you been down to the 'ben party'?" and I answered in the affirmative and asked: "Weren't you invited?" and she answered "No."

Mr. Carl von der Hellen and Miss Orpha Netteknot motored up to the Sunnyside for supper Thursday evening for supper and Dave Smith formerly of Butte Falls, but now of Pondleton, Ore., spent the night with us.

Chalmers Ringer, one of our old boarders, came out from Medford Friday to stay a while with us, until he recuperates.

J. H. Roberts, who is interested with Thomas Riley, Jr., in this year's crop, took supper with us Friday night.

Since my last report C. W. Clements of Eagle Point has removed his subscription to The Mail Tribune and David Clynande and Henry French have renewed their subscriptions to the Weekly Mail Tribune.

JACKSONVILLE

John Fernall passed through town Friday, en route to his home at Applegate from Klunath Falls, where he went on business.

Mrs. David Williams and daughter Miss Blanche Williams, returned from a few days' visit with relatives living in Grants Pass.

Mrs. Harry Lay and son and Mrs. Ella Cook attended "The Birth of a Nation" at Medford Thursday evening.

Oscar Lewis and family have returned from Yreka, Cal., where they visited relatives.

Mrs. Charles Numan, Mrs. Harry Lux, Mrs. Guy Harper, Mrs. Blaine Klum and Mrs. Lewis Ulrich enjoyed a plunge at the Natatorium Thursday afternoon, followed by lunch at Brown's.

Recent word from Professor and Mrs. P. L. Smith tells of their arrival in Iowa, from where they will motor to North Dakota with relatives.

Mrs. James Buckley and children were in town here Friday afternoon. W. L. McIntyre and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tumeay are camped at the Sulphur Springs on Applegate. Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson are also enjoying an outing in that vicinity.

Friends of the Rev. H. A. Hatfield will be pleased to learn that he is on his road to recovery from typhoid fever, having passed the crisis satisfactorily.

Mrs. S. E. Dunnington and Mrs. Mary Macey left for Squaw Lake the first of the week, where they will visit Mrs. John Hastings.

The home of Mrs. Hattie Deuff was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour Thursday morning. The fire had made such headway before it was discovered, it was impossible to save the house, but the fire company soon had it under control and saved the adjoining buildings. The home and contents were covered by insurance.

Mrs. Melissa Taylor, for a number of years proprietor of the Taylor House, is contemplating starting a restaurant as soon as a suitable location is found. Mrs. Taylor is an excellent cook and will no doubt give satisfaction.

Miss Marion D. Towne was a business caller at the county seat Thursday.

A large delegation from here attended the reception given the Rev. Hoag at Medford Thursday evening.
