SAYS CHILD LABOR CONFERS BENEFIT UPON HUMANITY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—An attack on the constitutionality of the pending child labor bill was made in the senate today by Senator Overman of North Carolina. He insisted that the issue should be submitted to the states as a constitutional amendment. "If this legislation is constitutional," declared the senator, "there will be nothing left of the rights of states, but there will be an absolute absorption of the police powers of the 48 sovereign commonwealths, and there will be no barrier in the way of centralization of all power in Washington, to which goal we are now rapidly drifting. This bill is not for the purpose of regulating commerce, but its main purpose, its ultimate purpose, is, under the guise of regulating commerce, to regulate production in the manufacturing and mills of the country. It is to put a state under duress and compel it to do that which some states have done in order, as has been stated in this debate, to have uniformity. Senator Overman submitted statistics designed to show a beneficial effect upon society of child labor. Records for 1910, he said, showed that only 15 children in 100,000 between 14 and 16 years of age in North Carolina, were committed to jail or workhouses as compared with 275 in Massachusetts, 199 in Rhode Island and 122 in Missouri.

EDITORS RETURN ENTHUSIASTIC OVER CRATER LAKE

construction of trails to all points of interest. Supt. Marshall Speaks.

Robert B. Marshall, superintendent of the fourteen national parks, following Mr. Steel, urged upon the assembled editors the necessity of putting Mr. Steel and his work before the people of Oregon and asked them to father a movement to raise sufficient funds to send Mr. Steel to Washington where he would stay before congress, talk to them, convince them of the worth of developing the park and he could come back. Mr. Marshall said, with appropriations sufficient to pave the road, build the trails, and put through even the dream of a tunnel through the rim to the lake shore. His faith in Mr. Steel, in his dreams, his ability to make them come true and his belief in him as a lover of nature, a romanticist of broad vision was expressed when he said, "In Will Steel, I firmly believe you people of Oregon have another John Muir."

Strahorn Speaks.

Robert E. Strahorn, widely known as a railroad constructor, spoke of the plan he is now working on for the building of a railroad that will bring the tourist within thirty minutes auto ride of the rim. He dwelt on his hope of having a road so that the weary Portlander may board the train at midnight Saturday and be landed at the lake Sunday forenoon. Such a road, he explained, will bring thousands to the resort where now they come in tens. "While many of us now have cars, and many more have Fords," said Mr. Strahorn, "I want to make a plea for the average American citizen, the great majority who have no cars. For them, the building of this road I propose, will open up this paradise of Crater Lake park. And I solemnly," he added, "for the sake of this multitude of people, the support of you molders of public opinion in whatever is necessary to bring to the minds of the people of Oregon, an understanding of the work I hope to do. Seventy-five percent of the state lies east of the mountains, and this section, with this railroad I hope to build, I also hope to aid in developing."

Pendleton's Invitation.

When the cheers from the eastern Oregon contingent had subsided E. A. Aldrich, editor of the East Oregonian, Pendleton, extended a welcome to the delegates on behalf of his city, where the next annual convention will be held next June or July. Pendleton, he explained, has not the scenic attractions to offer that are found near Medford, but she will make hospitality make up, at least in part, for that lack. As an attraction, he cited the trip of 27 miles to Bingham springs, which will be taken and added that a miniature roundup, similar to the regular yearly affair, will be staged, with cowboys from surrounding ranches and Indians from the three nearby reservations, in attendance.

At the break up of the campfire, the editors of country dailies in the state met for a few minutes and decided to hold a session in Portland, September 11 next. At that time questions of co-operative buying and regulation of advertising rates will be taken up.

Hotel Capacity Taked.

The sleeping accommodations of the hotel were taxed to the limit by the 258 guests registered. However, by doubling up in rooms, putting extra beds in tents and providing a number of drivers of cars with shake-down beds before the fireplace downstairs, all were provided for. Cars left the lake as early as 5:30 this morning and began arriving in Medford at noon today. The last will be here in time to enable the delegates to leave on the 7:20 train and then the convention of 1916, the most successful in its history, will be but a pleasant memory in the mind of the Oregon Editorial association.

The only accident of the trip occurred when M. J. Shoemaker, editor of the Roseburg Review, who was ascending the trail, was struck in the knee by a rock, bounding down the trail to the water's edge. His knee was laid open and severely bruised.

GEORGE F. CONSIDINE, NOTED SPORTING MAN, DEAD

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—George F. Considine, once manager of the famous boxers, including Jim Corbett and Kid McCoy, and a former stakeholder at big ring contests, is dead at his home here. It was learned today. He was stricken with mastoiditis on Saturday and did not survive the operation. Lunch goods at De Voe's.

ELKS' STEELHEAD PICNIC IS BIGGEST SUCCESS OF SEASON

"That fish and mulligan, why I never tasted anything better." That is Jerry Jerome's expressed opinion of the Elk feed at Kelly's island, upper Rogue river yesterday and seems to express the opinion of all the 200 Elks who took part. Chris Gottlieb, chief chef, was the man responsible for the palatability of the fish and M. M. McGuire was the mulligan artist. Forty large steelheads comprised the piece de resistance of the feast.

The fishermen left for the grounds, Friday night and Saturday, the others following Sunday morning in 50 cars. Provisions and a few stragglers were carried in two trucks. The long tables were placed under shady trees along the bank of the Rogue. One of the members arrived at the eleventh hour with his car loaded to capacity with flowers and tiny American flags with which the tables were decorated.

Before the feed the afternoon was spent in sports. The potato, egg and 100-yard races were won by Bob Boyle. Elmer Poes captured the sack race. Bob Boyle and Bob Medley walked off with the three legged race. The ball, as scheduled, was to be between the married men and the single men. There were not single men enough in the crowd to form a team, so teams were chosen with Jerry Jerome and J. J. Buchter as captains. The former's team won handily 16 to 5. Boxing matches had been counted on as a source of amusement, but as single men were so scarce and the married men feared to return to their spouses with black eyes, the events were called off.

Local Elk members characterize the feed as the best of its kind ever pulled off in the valley. Everything went off smoothly, there were no accidents, not even a stomach ache and all returned full and happy to Medford at 7:30 o'clock.

WEED UNMERCIFULLY WALLOPS MEDFORD

Weed unmercifully walloped Medford Sunday at Weed, before a large crowd by the one-sided score of 16 to 2. Selberts weakened in the fourth after a long fly had been misjudged and before the smoke cleared away eight runs scored. Tuorke, who pitched for Weed, was touched up for eight hits, but Medford could never make any of them count. The out field was out of tune, and put the infield and battery in the hole time after time. Next Sunday Weed will play in this city, bringing a special train. A special train was run from Grants Pass, about 100 going. Grants Pass won from Hornbrook by the score of 5 to 3.

RECRUITING FOR OREGON TROOPS ALONG BORDER

Captain Curtis B. Winn, recruiting officer for the Third Oregon infantry, now stationed at Palm Beach, near San Diego, is spending Monday and Tuesday in Medford seeking recruits for the Oregon troops now in service near the Mexican border. The regiment is 600 men short of full enlistment and the opportunity is offered many young men to secure a good military training in actual service. The pay is $18 a month and all expenses, including a $19 outfit and in all probability the troops will not be kept in service longer than six months.

The Oakland Boy's Band will give a concert and dance in the Pavilion at Gold Hill, Monday night, August 7. Surely a great number of people will take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy a rare treat. 117*

FRENCH CORPORAL CAPTURED COMPANY OF 100 GERMANS

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Corporal Goutteaubier of the French light infantry has been decorated with a military cross by President Poincare for capturing 100 Germans, including two officers, aided only by a single companion. The curt reference to Corporal Goutteaubier's exploit in army orders reads:

"For bravery and contempt of danger which struck terror into the trenches and shelter of the enemy. With a single comrade he has made 100 prisoners, including two officers, whom he took to the rear and then rejoined his post."

When Corporal Goutteaubier was paraded before President Poincare on the recent visit of the latter to the Somme front he told the story of his feat at the request of President Poincare. It was on July 26 before Hem wood. The French troops had just dashed forward at the German positions. The first wave had swept over the enemy's trenches and the second had followed to complete the operation. However, from a hollow toward the right a well sustained fusillade was being poured into the flank of the attackers.

Goutteaubier who was at the right wing of the second wave, called out to one man, "Guillot, come with me." The two men approached the spot whence the firing came. They glided from tree to tree until they were close to the shelter where the German company was holding out. Guillot threw bombs as fast as he could into their midst and the fire ceased. "Surrender," shouted the corporal in a stentorian voice from behind a tree. In response to his demand 100 Germans emerged from the shelter with uplifted hands, led by two officers.

"Pass along this way," shouted Goutteaubier from his hiding place. "Go out of the wood at once and march to the rear."

Two minutes later the 100 Germans spherbered by the two Frenchmen, arrived at the French line.

The prisoners admitted that some of their comrades remained in the shelter. "Come on Guillot, let us go and fetch them," said Goutteaubier. The two men went back but Guillot fell with a bullet in his breast and the corporal had to abandon his enterprise.

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

Astoria, N. Y. — "For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my head would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said I must go under an operation, but I did not go. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation." — Mrs. JOHN A. KOENIG, 602 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or, if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

If you want advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, (confidential), Lynn, Mass.
