that obstacles, "new or old" should not be placed on American business. He told of the clarifying of the anti-trust laws. He was not against big business, but against bad business, he declared.

The president said he wanted "fair rules of the game" for American business.

The president's speech, in part, follows:

"One of the pleasures of coming into this western country is that so many things get started here, so many things by ways of energy and initiative originate here.

Stops Traffic Chiefs. "There was an advantage in those old days when there were no railroads. You were not then under the paternal oversight of the east. Small groups of gentlemen, who considered themselves able to comprehend more than the Almighty has permitted any man to comprehend, were not then endeavoring to run your affairs along with their own. And the railroads, perhaps, have not done you as great a spiritual service as they have material service.

"They have kept you in communications which you did not stand in need of for you know how to take care of yourselves. I have thought very often how useful it was sometimes to make new beginnings, to break old connections and long standing traditions in order to meet the new conditions and new circumstances and new times. I have been a student of history all my life, but I have noticed that the movements of history occur when the shackles of the past are shaken off, that if you wish to be delayed in your development you will always be going with your head over your shoulder, reminding yourselves of how the thing was done and hampering yourselves with methods which ought long ago to have been shaken off.

Met by Cheering Crowds. A cheering crowd of thousands of people gathered from all parts of Nebraska and neighboring states greeted the president on his arrival and continued the applause as he proceeded through the streets in an automobile. A non-partisan committee officially welcomed the president and Mrs. Wilson to Omaha.

Because of the Ak-Sar-Ben celebration of Nebraska's admission, to statehood 50 years ago, Omaha was in gala attire. Flags decorated the buildings and bands of music played almost constantly. The president immediately entered into the spirit of the occasion. Bands of Indians and cowboys were here to participate in the parade. It was estimated fully 100,000 people lined the streets.

Rides in Procession. President Wilson was received with enthusiastic applause when he entered the commercial club, where 600 Omaha business men were gathered. Mr. Wilson sat between Governor McReehead and Senator Hitchcock. The lunch room was decorated with American flags. Outside the band played patriotic music.

Mrs. Wilson rode with the president at the head of the Historical pageant. His program includes an address in the evening at the municipal auditorium, after which he leaves for Long Branch, N. J. Before the address, President and Mrs. Wilson will be the guests of honor at a dinner given by the state historical society.

Given an Ovation. When President Wilson left the commercial club lunch and went in an automobile to the head of the historical pageant the streets of Omaha in the business section were so packed with people that his machine had difficulty making progress. It was the largest crowd he has encountered since his inauguration.

As the president proceeded along the streets he was met by a constant ovation. He remained standing in his machine bowing to the crowds. The cheering was continuous, automobile horns were tooted and bands played and the people cheered. Windows of buildings along his route were filled.

vention in Mexico, designed to serve no higher purpose than to insure American investments at the cost of Mexico's aspirations toward freedom. Between now and election day, I want to see the truth driven home time and time again, that the basic issue to be resolved on November 7, relates vitally to the future peace of this nation.

"The stamp of Wall street of the interests which see through dollar-marked spectacles and can think only in terms of selfishness, is upon the opposition to Mr. Wilson.

All for Selfish Interests. "Behind that opposition have lurked many elements of widely divergent beliefs, but all united in the single thought of getting hold of the government for their own profit and for the promotion of interests which are not public interests. These men of Wall street do not put up their money for a pig in a poke.

"Usually they know what they are buying, and the people may rest assured, if they defeat Mr. Wilson, these men of Wall street will make the people pay back the money with interest, and maybe with their lives.

"The republican leaders' only hope for getting good team work out of the radically antagonistic groups which make up their following, the progressives of 1912, the tariff reactionaries, the Rooseveltists, was to confine themselves to a discreet and general discussion of the vital issues of the campaign. I do not believe that the American people will tolerate such a negative sort of campaign, and I know how the American people will vote if the republicans commit themselves to the promises which are the logical implications of the attacks they have launched against the president.

"I want to see the day come in American politics when there will be something like intellectual honesty on both sides of national campaigns.

Point to Many Achievements. "However widely some men may disagree with some of the things that Mr. Wilson and his administration have done, no man who is both just and intelligent can fail to find in the long list of Wilson's achievements something of which the conscience approves.

"It is revolting to observe the leader of a once great party contending that everything that the president has done was poorly done and wrongly done. That is demagoguery. It would greatly strengthen the opposition to

Good Old Home-Made Family Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind—Safely and Cheaply Prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any druggist 25c ounces of Pinex (20 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 25 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the rattle, soothes the throat, breaks the sore, irritated membrane that lines the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really refreshing. A doctor's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Nuxvom, now extracted, combined with glucose and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to see your druggist for 25c ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., 12, Wayne, Ind.

Mr. Wilson were its leader to concede that the president has done many things of high type of statesmanship and to lapse the indictments of him upon the few issues on which he might hope to raise public opinion.

"The country is too prosperous and too confident of future prosperity to listen seriously when you say we are living in a fool's paradise of temporary prosperity. That is demagoguery again. The country is too well pleased with, too well satisfied of the merits of the federal reserve act, the trade commission act, the tariff commission act, and the other measures by which the Wilson administration established business peace, to devote much time to the disquisitions of agitators who contend that nothing good has been done.

Quality of Workmanship. "One other thing I wish to emphasize, it is the quality of workmanship that may be expected from Mr. Wilson and his party colleagues in congress in the next four years, when quick decisions must be made and sure hands will be needed. Their hands have been trained in the efficient school of experience, and even if the opposition offered men of as high a character as Mr. Wilson's own, the American people would not unwisely in swapping experienced public servants for less experienced ones: It has been a real inspiration for me to talk with Mr. Wilson for several hours at his summer home today. I am more than ever convinced that the remarkable record of achievements which lies behind him is not accidental nor the work of an opportunist, but the normal expression of a character truly great. Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constituting the condition of the nervous system of the foundation. When this rule is followed you have a rebuilding of the hearing mechanism, and when this is done the hearing is restored, and this rule restores to the normal condition, hearing that has been lost forever, since cases out of this rule are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give you three hundred dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. J. C. CHENEY, L. Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
