Special Officer Cady yesterday afternoon put consternation into the hearts of many Medford motorists when he stood on the corner of Main and Central streets with a star that, judging from its size, had been cut from the bottom of a shipman, and majestically stopped all drivers of cars whom he deemed either were, or might be infringers of the traffic laws. After reading them a lesson on driving he handed each offender a card stating that he was wanted at the Elks carnival. Two members of the fair sex who were stopped played even for upon being stopped they let their engines die and before Cady politely started cranking, kicked off the switch and let him turn until out of breath when some bystander would come to assist and the motor would be started with one turn.

BRITAIN PUTS EMBARGO UPON COTTON GOODS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Consul General Skinner at London today notified the department of commerce that Great Britain has extended her embargo against importations into the United Kingdom to include cotton knit goods.

Mr. Skinner's cablegram said in part: "Proclamation of October 3 provides that from and after that date the importation into the United Kingdom of the following goods is prohibited: Aluminum powder, birds, alive, other than poultry and game, bone, horn, ivory and celluloid and manufactures of cotton hosiery."

Officials of the department said the term cotton hosiery used in the English sense includes not only hosiery as known in this country, but other knit cotton goods. Mr. Skinner said the prohibition was ordered because of "an active campaign of a protective nature. He added that the embargo on oranges had been lifted.

Myron Root has returned to Medford after a business trip to Minnesota.
