VAN DRESAR SAYS WILSON WILL WIN IN MINNESOTA

"Having spent the summer at Minneapolis, and traveled more or less through Minnesota and the Dakotas, I have no hesitation in risking my reputation as a political prophet in predicting that President Wilson will carry, by an overwhelming majority, all of these states," says E. L. Van Dresar of Portland, democratic nominee for public service commissioner, who spent Monday in Medford, en route to his home. "I formerly lived in Minnesota, and the change in public sentiment astonished me," he continued. "Minnesota has always been a rock-ribbed partisan state, but party lines are mastered completely this year. The people are very prosperous, grain has never sold at such a high figure, business is booming, and President Wilson is given credit for keeping the country at peace.

"I was not a candidate for office, but my name was written in as nominee by those who believed the public service commission should be non-partisan and contain at least one practical railroad man. For 25 years I have been in the railroad business, and had extended experience in transportation, manufacturing and shipping. My present business is that of selling railroad supplies."

10-HOUR LAW FOUGHT BY MANUFACTURERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24.—The ten-hour law case, on which the United States supreme court ruled in favor of further oral presentation today, was brought by manufacturers against the state of Oregon in an endeavor to have it declared unconstitutional. The tax limits work in fact, from ten hours and requires pay of time and a half for overtime. The original brief in the state's defense was prepared by Louis Brandeis, now justice of the supreme court. When he was appointed to the supreme bench the work was taken over by Professor Frankfurter of Harvard and Chicago.

IGNORANCE OF WAR IS SHOWN BY RUMANIANS

in almost a holiday spirit, for it is which the universal feeling here of Germans and Hungarians here, officers and men alike, have left behind them the trench warfare of other regions and thrown themselves into open field maneuvers against the Rumanians.

Attack Singing.

It was scarcely believable that after two years of strenuous life at the front infantrymen should rush to the assault with songs, yet it is a fact, to which the universal feeling here of dealing with a foe who has yet to learn every trick of modern warfare contributes much. Though the German and Hungarian infantrymen were about to rush into the fire of Rumanian rifles and machine guns, they viewed the situation complacently, saying the worst of open field work was preferable to trench drudgery. Officers explained that the change virtually would make the troops fresh forces, owing to the novelty and the fact that the central powers' troops are best suited for maneuvering because of their training along the line.

The Predeal Pass is one of the few open field actions witnessed in this war by correspondents of war. At 11 o'clock German artillery opened fire on the Rumanian trenches on Sasaul mountain, 5000 feet high, which an hour later reached its maximum fury. The fire was then directed mainly against the trenches and some 500 feet below the summit. For a quarter of an hour the Rumanians stuck to their trenches. Word coming from the artillery post that the Rumanians thus far seemingly had not been impressed, the artillery increased its fire.

Rumanians Dispersed.

The Rumanian infantry still held on for a time, but finally broke across the slope like a swarm of ants as the German and Hungarian infantry came into view. The German artillery followed up the fleeing Rumanians with shrapnel and the manner in which they pursued the Rumanians seemed almost uncanny. From Sasaul mountain the Rumanians finally reached their second position. A full ensued. A few minutes before 2 p. m. it was decided to resume operations. German artillery, ably supported by some Hungarian batteries, repeated the work of the morning, and the infantry then rushed forward. In a comparatively short time the objective was gained.

The ground being extremely difficult, the Rumanians endeavored to forward infantry reinforcements through the town of Predeal, with the result that heavy German and Hungarian guns inside of fifteen minutes had captured the town. Reinforcements were obliged to seek shelter in the forest above the town, passing through German infantry fire at long range.

Rumanians Handicapped.

The Predeal battle was not remarkable for severity of artillery fire or other action, but great interest centers in it because German and Hungarian infantry, unaccustomed to mountain fighting, was able to cope with the difficulties of the terrain. The Rumanians, on the other hand, showed lack of military knowledge. The efficiency of their troops suffered because much of the artillery had been taken out of range for fear of being cut off. The Rumanian artillery therefore made an unusually poor showing. The Rumanian infantry did relatively better, but it was at the mercy of the murderous German and Hungarian shells.

There was no observable tendency to underestimate the Rumanians, but officers of General Von Falkenhayn's army spoke frankly of their many handicaps. They said the Rumanian general staff had overlooked some of the most important lessons of the present war, as for instance the absence before the Rumanian positions of barbed wire, which is replaced by shallow pits with pointed stakes.

Rumanians Outflanked.

This far the Rumanians have been The Spring of Perpetual Youth was what the Spanish explorer sought in Florida. Youth cannot be perpetual, but with health a man or woman can retain youthful looks till the near approach of actual old age. If a woman is dragging wearily along, oppressed by some woman's ailment, she may expect a return of youthful beauty and vivacity by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. (Adv.)

worsted each time by flank movements and superior opposing artillery, the significance of which may be best understood when it is considered for a time the Rumanians constantly had numerical superiority, in one instance thirty to one. As nearly all armies in the present war have done, the Rumanian infantry shoots badly, though an improvement already is discernible. The losses of General Von Falkenhayn's army are said to have been light. An officer of the general staff told the correspondent that in the battle of Kronstadt the losses in dead were less than the number of guns captured from the Rumanians, which was sixty-seven. But this was an exceptional case and occasionally the Rumanian infantry shows up comparatively well.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR SOLANO FARMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—C. A. Sloney, an attorney, was named receiver of the Solano Irrigated Farms today by Presiding Judge Cabanis of the superior court. The action followed the filing of a suit in the local superior court by J. D. Isaacs, who alleges the trustees now in charge of the corporation have mismanaged. The Solano Irrigated Farms was an exploded gigantic real estate venture into which Patrick Calhoun, in his heyday as president of the United Railroads of San Francisco, flung the most of $1,000,000 which the railroad commission of California charged was lost from the United Railways treasury. Calhoun's note for the amount was written off the railway's books at a cash valuation of "$1.00."

Calhoun testified recently in legal proceedings in New York that his only tangible asset was "five dollars."

TURKISH TROOPS DEFEAT ARABS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 24.—The suppression by Turkish troops early this month of a rebellion near the Arabian holy city of Medina, which contains the tomb of Mohammed, was reported in an official statement issued today by the Turkish war department. The text reads: "Detachments of our troops detailed to suppress the rebellion near Bkr Ruba Situl, three and one-half miles southwest of Medina, defeated the rebels in an engagement on October 6. The rebels fled toward the sea, leaving behind several prisoners."

How to Get Rid of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness or Head Noises

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms can be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parnint (double strength). This will not cost you more than 75c. Take this home and add to it one-quarter pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. A decided improvement is sometimes noticed after the first day's treatment. Breathing becomes easy, while the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which are often overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly 90 per cent of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment. Heath's Drug Store, Strank's Drug Store, Medford Pharmacy, West Side Pharmacy, Haskins Pharmacy can supply you.
