AUSTRALIA VOTES MAJORITY AGAINST CONSCRIPTION

MELBOURNE, Australia, via London, Oct. 21.—The position of the conscription referendum is virtually unchanged, but its friends all declare themselves hopeful that the final result will show a majority in their favor. The political situation seems certain to become complicated, but developments in this respect are not expected until Premier Hughes returns shortly from Sydney.

FRED DODGE OF ASHLAND INJURED COUPLING TRAIN

While assisting in the coupling of a train which had broken in two at Steinman, in the Sixtyons, Monday evening, Fred Dodge of Ashland was thrown to the rails and both arms severed. The injured man was rushed to Ashland on the engine, making the run in fifteen minutes. At the hospital it was found necessary to amputate one arm at the shoulder and one above the elbow.

Late this afternoon Dodge was not expected to live, due largely to the loss of blood. Mrs. Dodge is prostrated and is under the care of a physician. Their five-month-old child is being cared for at the Granite City hospital in Ashland.

Dodge is a member of the Ashland Elks lodge and is well known and liked among the young people of both Ashland and Medford. He is a son-in-law of Mayor Johnson of Ashland and a brother-in-law of Mrs. John Johnson and Miss Clayre Johnson of this city.

BIG CLEVELAND REPUBLICAN OUT FOR PRESIDENT

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 21.—The Hughes campaign here got a terrible jolt today when Homer H. Johnson, leading lawyer and life-long republican, announced he "would vote for President Wilson."

Homer H. Johnson

Johnson was a delegate to the Chicago convention that nominated Hughes and is a member of the republican county executive committee of Cuyahoga county which includes Cleveland. He is an ex-president of the Cleveland chamber of commerce and is one of the most public spirited men in the city.

"President Wilson has handled the difficult situations of his administration as well as they could have been handled," said Johnson.

"I have the highest admiration for Wilson, I think highly of Hughes too, but I think there is no necessity for making a change.

"In all this carping criticism and fault finding that has been indulged in this campaign, slight has been lost of the paramount issue, the diplomatic problems to be handled and the big questions that will have to be decided when peace comes.

"President Wilson is a bigger man than his party. I have the utmost confidence in him and in his ability to handle the big questions that will come up for settlement after the war.

"The issues to be decided after the war make the presidential election this year a question of man rather than parties.

"When it comes to a choice this year between two splendid men; I believe President Wilson has had the experience and has shown that he merits the confidence of his fellow countrymen, so I probably shall cast my ballot for him."

TO OVERTURN GOVERNMENT

administration since the birth of the nation. "This Wilson record of laws enacted enriles the president to my vote. To withhold it would be to brand myself a hypocrite.

Foreign Dictation. "I have no patience with those voters who permit consideration of foreign interests to influence them. Nor do I believe there are many such, all the talk of the 'typhnoides' to the contrary notwithstanding. A handful of professional agitators have by their persistent activity besuatched the fair name and fame of two large groups of our best citizens, those of Irish and German birth or extraction.

"The present administration has all the strings of our foreign relations in hand. To overturn the government at the critical time would be a dangerous experiment. Wilson can be trusted to exercise in the future the same patient, steadfast sanity which has characterized his past, and to bring us safely through the crucial time ahead, without loss of prestige or benefit upon American honor.

May Not Materialize. "As a protectionist I wish the president were less of a tariff-for-revenue-only advocate. There is grave fear, in which I share, that the close of the war will be marked by a flood of imports, which will work havoc with our domestic industries.

"Yet that is, after all, only a fear. It may not materialize. If it does we

CHRISTOFFERSON, FAMOUS AVIATOR, KILLED IN FLIGHT

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Oct. 21.—Since Christofferson, consulting engineer of an aviation company here, was killed today when his machine overturned in a fall of 100 feet during a trial flight of a new military aeroplane.

Christofferson was flying over the aviation field at a height of several hundred feet when his engine went dead. He exploded to an approximate height of 100 feet, but seemed to lose control of his plane and plunged to earth, the machine turning over upon him.

His wife and two brothers were watching the flight and rushed to his aid with Miss Eugenie Doty of San Francisco, an aviation pupil. The injured aviator was hurried to a hospital, but expired soon after reaching there.

Christofferson was 26 years old. He was born near Des Moines, Ia., coming to California at the age of 7 with his parents. His father, Henry, is a rancher near San Diego, Cal.

Christofferson caught his first inspiration to fly in 1910 after watching Lincoln Beachey, who was killed in a fall into the bay last year at the Panama-Pacific exposition. He was only a boy then, but he built a machine—and flew.

Christofferson's most noted flight was an aerial journey between San Francisco and Los Angeles, over the Tehachapi mountains. He was not only a pilot, but his mechanical skill in the manufacture of aeroplanes, an angle of the business to which he had devoted much of his time lately.

REBEKAHS HOLD CONVENTION

One hundred and fifty members of the Rebekahs from 11 lodges of Jackson and Josephine counties are today in session at Odd Fellows' hall, Medford. Grants Pass and Ashland furnished the largest delegations, 475 Talent, Eagle Point and Jacksonville well represented.

Among those present from Grants Pass is Mrs. Jennie Burke, Grand Warden of the Rebekah assembly.

can trust the sound common sense and undoubted patriotism of the president and congress to remedy the evil. "One thing is certain, the tariff issue occupies a subordinate place in this campaign. It alone should not determine the vote of any citizen. There are too many graver and more imminent dangers to be guarded against. The present administration is the safest rope to cling to.

Debt of Gratitude. "I would like particularly to call attention to the debt of gratitude every wage earner owes to the Wilson administration. It took labor out of the class of economic, Hiberto our constitutions, laws and industrial usages, founded as they were upon the harsh canons of English political economists, regarded human labor as belonging in the same category with bolts of cloth, pigs of iron and bales of hay, and subject to the same treatment, with brutal disregard for the human element, not merely ignoring the workman himself, but the wife and children behind him.

"Wilson has elevated labor from this ignoble place and given full recognition to the human bodies and souls which the term labor encompasses. This, to my mind, is one of the greatest of his accomplishments."

open war, are going to have an extraordinary efficiency, a great organization, great powers, great discipline, alert manhood. They have had their wastes; they have had their misfortunes, but behind all those serious consequences of war must be observed the advantages of a tremendous driving power, perfecting organization and increasing the efficiency of men and women. They have learned to co-operate; they have learned to work together. It is no time to talk to the American people that unless it uses its governmental powers to protect itself it will fail, it is self-evident.

The heckler then asked his question. After replying, Mr. Hughes continued: "In all the matters we are looking far to the future. We must consider our place as a great nation devoted to the interests of civilization.

"We must maintain the right to buy. We have the need, in the absence of a merchant marine, such as we should have; we have the need of utilizing the facilities of travel and we must protect American citizens in every right with respect to life, property and commerce as to all nations.

"What we want is an American standing for its own rights, being the world with a sense of justice, asking naught but that to which she is entitled, but fearless and courageous. We need an America four-square to the world, commanding itself by the firmness and consistency of its policies, vindicating, as I have said, the principles of international law and showing itself as to all the champion of the rights of neutrality."

time of the sinking and that the vessel was sunk by two torpedoes rather than by gun fire, had not been confirmed in any official dispatches today, but it was admitted that if such were the case the seriousness of the situation would be greatly increased.

Since the original reports given out yesterday morning the state department has not made any further information public. The case is being handled directly by Secretary Lansing himself and any further facts will be given out through him when made public.

The German embassy does not believe the evidence will show the pledges given to the United States have been violated. It is said at the embassy, however, that if a commander of a submarine has violated or exceeded his orders, his action would be promptly met with severe punishment.

Officials of the embassy feel that Consul Frost's dispatch yesterday, saying the Marina had been shelled, indicated that the vessel was trying to escape.
