FEW PRESIDENTS WILSON'S EQUAL SAYS GILMORE

Prominent Ashland Republican Declares Nation Needs Services of President—Most Unfair Campaign Made Against Him—Mistakes Few and Far Between.

In an interview Tuesday afternoon, Henry George Gilmore, of Ashland, stated his reasons for supporting President Wilson in the present campaign although heretofore he has always been a staunch supporter of the republican party and candidates.

Mr. Gilmore is a man who is remarkably well read and conversant with public affairs, has traveled extensively and was in Washington, D. C., and attended the sessions of congress during the passage of some of the important legislation of the present administration. He was particularly interested in the passage of the federal reserve act and describes in vivid language the scenes in the house at the time it was under consideration. Mr. Gilmore has been and still is a frequent contributor to the various metropolitan dailies of this country and of London, where he passed his early years.

Most Trying Situations

"Woodrow Wilson," stated Mr. Gilmore, "has been confronted with a series of trying conditions and circumstances such as have not existed since the terms of Abraham Lincoln. We may expect any man, confronted with such conditions, in spite of his best endeavors, to make some mistakes, but the mistakes of Woodrow Wilson have been so few and far between as to be not worth considering. Never, probably, in the history of our country have we had such a holder of office and such an aspirant for the presidency as Woodrow Wilson. From the intellectual, moral and executive standpoints few men have ever shown themselves to be the equal of the present occupant of the white house.

"As a matter of fact it may be stated that a very large number of conservatives who have held religiously and bonafidedly to the republican party have declared themselves as emphatically in favor of Mr. Wilson, mainly on account of his record both before and after his occupancy of the chief magistracy of the nation.

No Political Trickery

"Apart from his watchfulness and thoughtfulness in determining what was the best to be done under the most trying of circumstances, he has shown himself so distinctly a non-partisan that no one can twit him with being a political trickster of any sort.

"In all his endeavors he has proved himself eminently practical, and as the head of the government has brought to pass legislation that is of inestimable value to our country in the face of events and conditions that would stagger any but a man imbued with the highest principles and a determination to make good at every point.

"President Wilson has suffered as no other man at the hand of political adversaries who think there is little or no merit possible in the administration of the affairs of the country outside the republican fold. Notwithstanding the greatest provocation President Wilson in the conduct of his campaign has never once lost his temper or tried to pay back his assailants in their own coin.

Tried Against Untried.

"Under no circumstances can our country, surrounded as it is with most trying situations, afford to dispense with the services of the tried as against the untried, and, in my opinion, the public is ready to endorse this sentiment in no feeble fashion.

"November 7, as I believe, will witness the triumphant victory of Woodrow Wilson, who in its hour of trial has done so much not only to keep his country out of war but to set a daily example of well doing for the vital interests of our country at large in a thousand different directions.

"Mr. Wilson has been the educator of his country and deserves well of every loyal, God-fearing American citizen.

Beneficial Legislation

"In the way of legislation I might point out that his federal reserve act was the ablest effort ever put forth to relieve the financial strain of the country. Amongst his other efforts to strengthen the weak points in governmental supervision of the country's finances, his acts to ameliorate the position of the farmer, stands the rural credits act. This alone will stand him always in good stead whenever an apepal is made on the strength of the administrative arts of the democratic party."

Mr. Gilmore recently returned from a trip to Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., He witnessed the arrival of the Golden Special in Seattle and heard the flaming speeches of Albert Beveridge. He heard Beveridge severely taken to task for having nothing to say but grilling of President Wilson. Both the emissaries of the Golden Special and Beveridge met with serious opposition from the women voters of the northern cities.

Seattle and Tacoma, he predicted, will go for Wilson. The republican campaign committee are endeavoring to make capital out of the lumber tariff question. Their talk is without foundations, however, and has no weight, inasmuch as the mills are at present running double shifts of men, and as the records show, the imports of lumber from Canada are practically nil.

of lives of American citizens, so that they may create a domestic political advantage."

Saying that he did not mean to speak of politics, the president mentioned the program of the progressive party. He called attention to the interest of the nation in social justice. Men of wealth, he declared, must realize that poorer people are "of the same flesh and blood."

To Establish a Unit.

"We have got to organize the relationships between private initiative and private activities," he continued. He spoke of the shipping bill, saying it was intended to pave the way for private activity.

"Out of a mixed collection of people," he continued, "we have got to establish a unit.

"I want to register my solemn protest here against the use of our foreign relations for political purposes. I cannot, I will not, consider any man a patriot who does this. They bring in questions the details of which they are ignorant. Sometimes lives are involved."

The president urged co-operation. "When the talk is over," the president concluded, "we will get down to business."

Greeted by Thousands.

JOHNSON CITY, N. Y., Nov. 1.—When President Wilson's special train passed through here today the executive was greeted by thousands of the employes of a shoe company, which recently established the eight-hour day. The workmen and their families repeatedly applauded the president, who shook hands with many.

Alluding to the shoe company's action in effecting an eight-hour day as an indication of a spirit which diminished feeling between capital and labor, the president said:

"I want to express my regret that I was not able to be here last Saturday to celebrate what I think was a very significant thing, the action of the firm of Endicott, Johnson & Co. in giving its employes eight hours, not only for the reasons that are commonly given, but also for better reasons, because they regard men and all their employes as members of the same business family with them. If that sort of feeling existed everywhere there would be no question between capital and labor. I want to congratulate you upon living under such auspices, and tell you how very much obliged to you I am for this good welcome."

S.O.S. CALLS SENT G. O. P. TO CHECK DRIFT TO WILSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The New York Telegram, the evening edition of the Herald, republican, concedes in last night's issue that Mr. Hughes' campaign managers have been literally stampeded by current political developments indicating President Wilson's reelection. One article is headed "Republicans in Panic as Campaign Nears End," and says:

"Although every effort is being made to conceal the state of feeling that prevails at republican headquarters, it is known that the campaign managers are bordering on panic and they are at a loss as to which way to turn. This was the admission of the republican national committee's campaign committee. Every preconceived arrangement for the closing campaign has had to be changed and the 'S. O. S.' signs that are coming in from every republican state in the middle west have the campaign managers in despair."

N. Y. Progressives for Wilson.

The Evening Telegram also features another article, setting forth that at least one-third of the New York progressive vote is for President Wilson. Upon this subject it says:

"That 34 per cent of the progressives in this state will vote for President Wilson instead of for Charles E. Hughes was the admission made today by one of the most prominent progressives in the city working in the interest of Mr. Hughes. He said that a canvass of all the enrolled progressives in the state shows that proportion for the president. The fact was a decided shock to him, he said, as he had no idea the percentage would be so large."

"Why Vote for Hughes?"

Commenting on the "drift to Wilson," which is sweeping the country, the New York Evening Post, independent, offers editorially the following explanation:

"I can think of several reasons why I might vote against Wilson, said a puzzled independent, the other day, 'but I can't think of one why I should vote for Hughes.' This is compactly the extraordinary nature of the present presidential campaign. This fact has been the great weakness of the Hughes campaign, and it has been the more glaring as his speeches and the days have slipped by."

SHOULD STAND BY PRESIDENT

ings where unalloyed peace is called for.

"We are still in the throes of the European conflict, and also in struggle for a 'method' with Mexico. In both cases the cause of America is in the hands of its president. While he is, in undoubted good faith, bending all his energies to maintain our rights, our interests and our honor, should we not stand by him and sustain his hands? By contemptuous sneers at his 'incompetence and inefficiency' are we not like the bird that befouls its own nest? By throwing him out of office and putting an untried man in his place, do we enhance the strength and prestige of our country? Do we not proclaim to those with whom we have controversies that we are an unstable lot, likely to undo tomorrow what we have laboriously accomplished today? Are we a nation?"

REPUBLICAN RALLY AT BUTTE FALLS LAST SATURDAY

Six speakers, one republican, one prohi, twelve democrats and seven school children and babies comprised the grand republican rally held in the assembly room at the schoolhouse on Saturday evening, October 28.

H. D. Mills, as chairman, introduced the speakers, the lineup being as follows: G. M. Roberts for district attorney, J. B. Coleman for county assessor, G. A. Gardiner for county clerk, with Ben Sheldon and C. M. Thomas for representatives. The gentlemen came to the front in the order named and each for himself presented his claim to office on the grounds of personal or individual qualifications. Each gave a very good talk, told some pleasing stories, and on the whole made a very good impression. Messrs. Sheldon and Thomas gave a little attention to candidate W. H. Gore, telling us what a wonderful power he would be in case of his being elected joint representative. Everybody in Jackson county knows Gore, and it was obvious that little or no attention was paid to what was said in his favor.

Then came the introduction of Fred Mears. In opening, he paid the local candidates quite a compliment, in particular those present. But Hawley—poor Hawley! Everyone must have consigned him to some dark corner of their loving forgetfulness, as his name was not mentioned.

Evidently the local fry were not big enough fish for Mr. Mears, so he proceeded to trim President Wilson from every conceivable angle, and after a few flourees (as the Frenchman would say), presented as the only possible salvation for the country, Charles E. Hughes for president of the United States. Mr. Mears represented that all that had been done by the Wilson administration was wrong, and nothing but a reconstruction of administrative affairs would make this country tenable for our own citizens or square us with the nations of the earth. Mr. Mears described Wilson as a round plug being fitted to a square hole, and many other things that go with the political jargon and which are indulged in by disgruntled politicians.

At the close of Mr. Mears' spread-eagle effort the Wilson sentiment was stronger than when he began. There will probably be some vote-splitting for local offices, but Butte Falls is solid for Wilson. E. A. H.

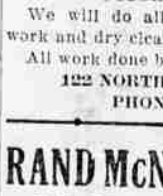
tacked us on the starboard, while the other lay off some distance to port doing observation duty."

"The ship was struck squarely in the bunkers," said Robert H——, a member of the engine room staff. "The bunkers fell in and the engines were dismantled. Two men were killed in the stokehole and several others were scalded.

"Three boats got away; a fourth was smashed. Orders were given to see particularly that all Americans among passengers or crew were saved. The wireless station tried to summon aid, but his gear was dismantled by the first torpedo."

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT

Mrs. Sheldon Spent $1900 for Treatment Without Benefit. Finally Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



Englewood, Ill. — "While going through the Change of Life I suffered with headaches, nervousness, flashes of heat, and I suffered so much I did not know what I was doing at times. I spent $1900 on doctors and not one did me any good. One day a lady called at my house and said she had been as sick as I was at one time, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her well, so I took it and now I am just as well as I ever was. I cannot understand why women don't see how much pain and suffering they would escape by taking your medicine. I cannot prnise it enough for it saved my life and kept me from the Insane Hospital."—Mrs. E. SHELDON, 5657 S. Halsted St., Englewood, Ill.

Physicians undoubtedly did their best, battled with this case steadily and could do no more, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any complication exists it pays to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special free advice.
