THE MOST POPULAR BOOK

THE one best seller is the Bible. It has been translated into more than 100 languages and it has an annual circulation of about 5,000,000 books, testaments and portions.

How many thousands of books about the Bible have been written no man knows, and the average reader does not require the information, because the Bible, whether it is read as literature or as a religious guide, carries its meaning directly to us untrained fellows as well as to the student and preacher.

As the days grow shorter and the evenings longer the question of what to read this winter perplexes many who like to make their leisure profitable.

Then—why not read the Bible? In it there is versification which later poets have not equalled, stirring narrative of great adventure, biography of great men, the word which comforts, the thought which inspires, and a system of ethics so perfect that man has not yet compassed it.

Because it fits into the experience of all, because it applies to the conditions of every age and every land, the Bible is recognized as the world's leading classic. No man can claim to be educated unless he has studied the Bible.

These are hard years for the sensitive. The agony of Europe sears the mind. And something of the sadness of Europe spreads out and encompasses the peoples at the four corners of the earth.

Men talk less about the war than they did in its beginning, but they feel its horrors, its wastefulness, its hopelessness far more. And when the literature of the war proves too appalling and they seek relief in books of another kind, they require the solace and stability of the classic author rather than the excitement of the new and transient writer.

In this mood they can appreciate the Bible with understanding, for it is the one book wherein for several thousands of years the spirit of man has found light, and nourishment, and an interpreting response to whatever is deepest in him.

NEW YORK TROOPS CAST THEIR BALLOTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The announcement that New York state troops had cast their ballots in the national and state election and that the votes, under seal, were already on their way to Albany, aroused unusual interest and speculation today in political circles.

The vote of the New York state guardsmen will not be counted until December 19, when the inspectors of election formally meet and proceed to the official count.

INDIANA VOTE HEAVY ON STRAIGHT TICKETS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7.—Early reports from all parts of the state indicated that a heavy vote will be polled today. The polls opened at 6 o'clock and in many precincts a third or more of the registered vote was cast by 9 o'clock. The polls will close at 6 o'clock tonight.

LARGE EARLY VOTE IN WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Pleasant weather and a large vote marked the early hours of election day throughout West Virginia. Next to the presidential ticket interest centered on the woman suffrage amendment on which active campaigning was continuing.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editors: We, the Central Point Poultry and Egg Co., find the farmers through us, experience in marketing poultry hold their young chickens till they get buttons as small as the size of a pea. At this stage they are called stage, and his market can pay over 10 cents per pound for poultry of this grade. How much better it would be should the farmer be awakened to the fact and market his chickens before they become stage and save himself a loss from 5 to 6 cents per pound. Your paper reaches many farmers' houses and you give them many hints in farming they need. For this reason we are sending you this our approval. Yours truly, CENTRAL POINT POULTRY & EGG CO., 212 E. 3rd St., Central Point, Ore., Nov. 6.

FINE WEATHER IN PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Weather conditions were favorable and the largest vote in the history of the state was expected to be polled throughout Pennsylvania today. The republican leaders declared that Hughes will have not less than 200,000 majority, while the democrats were sanguine that President Wilson will receive a record-breaking vote.

Particular interest was evinced in the contest for congressmen in a number of the districts in which close contests were expected. In addition to presidential electors, a United States senator, state treasurer, auditor general, four congressmen at large and a justice of the state supreme court were balloted for as well as congressmen, state senators and members of the state legislature.

COLD WEATHER PREVAILS IN BUTTE

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 7.—With clear cold weather and a light fall of snow on the ground, voters turned out early today to cast their ballots. It was expected that a large percentage of the 29,000 registered voters would be cast. Republicans are claiming this morning they will carry the county for Edwards for governor, but the Stewart forces are not disheartened and predict their usual majority of approximately 4500. The prohibition issue is the question most keenly interesting the voters. Women voters are going to the polls in large numbers.

PRESIDENT CASTS FIFTIETH BALLOT PRINCETON, N. J.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 7.—The president cast the fiftieth ballot in his precinct. He voted in the old fire engine house where, from the time he became connected with Princeton university he has many times before recorded his choice on election day.

Because of the length of the ballot it took Mr. Wilson several minutes to mark it. In addition to voting in the presidential election, he marked his ballot for the state officers.

The president was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, and when they arrived they were greeted by a demonstration staged by Princeton students and professors. At the entrance of the Princeton campus a drummer stood waiting the president's coming, and as his automobile drove up the drummer beat a tattoo. Almost instantly students appeared from every direction. They swarmed over the campus and rushed toward the voting place in which Mr. Wilson alighted from his automobile. The Princeton yell went up with a resounding "Wilson, Wilson, Wilson," at the end.

While the president was inside voting the students continued to arrive and moved in the street outside. They cheered almost continuously while a large corps of moving picture operators and photographers took up strategic positions. A small opening in a window enabled some of the students to peer inside the engine house and they pushed and jostled for a glimpse of the president. Mrs. Wilson sat in the automobile and looked at the crowd. The president started for Long Branch immediately leaving at 9:30 o'clock. He planned to spend the remainder of the day playing golf and resting. He will receive the returns by telephone from Secretary Tumulty tonight.

FAIR WEATHER FOR SILENT VOTE

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Gratification was expressed today at both republican and democratic national headquarters here at the fair weather for election. It has been claimed by both of the leading parties that the outcome of the election would be greatly influenced by the so-called "silent vote" and it was believed that good weather would bring this class out in particularly strong numbers.

SUNNY WEATHER FOR DIXIE BALLOT

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—Fair weather throughout the south today brought voters to the polls early and democratic leaders have predicted an unusually large vote for the presidential candidates. Only in North Carolina and Tennessee were the republican hopefuls of reducing the size of the customary democratic majority.

FACTORIES CLOSE FOR ELECTION IN OHIO

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 7.—With many factories and shops closed and favored with clear, warm weather, the early vote was exceptionally heavy, almost one-third of the total vote being in at 8:30 o'clock.

HUGHES CASTS VOTE IN SMALL LAUNDRY 'THIRTEEN' BALLOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Charles E. Hughes cast his vote this morning in a small laundry on Eighth avenue, almost directly back of the hotel where he made his headquarters during the campaign. His ballot was number 13. When his attention was called to this, the republican candidate said "thirteen" was his lucky number.

Mr. Hughes went to the polls before breakfast. When he saw the weather conditions indicating a clear cool day he remarked: "It looks like a good republican day."

A small crowd, among whom were several newspaper photographers, greeted him as he entered the voting place. After voting he sauntered in the doorway a moment for the benefit of the camera men. Two extra policemen were on guard, in addition to the two required by law.

When Mr. Hughes emerged from the booth he handed the marked ballot to the inspector, having taken exactly two minutes to record his choice. He walked back to his hotel accompanied by the crowd and went at once to his rooms. He expected to pass the day quietly at the hotel.

SPRINKLES GREET NEBRASKA VOTERS

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 7.—Lowering skies and light sprinkles greeted the voters of this vicinity early today. Generally fair weather is predicted. Unusual interest was manifested by the voters early today. The polls close at 8 o'clock p. m. and in view of the great length of the ballot, containing nearly 250 names, it is certain the returns will be very late. Results are uncertain as to all issues involved.

20,000 BOXES OF APPLES SHIPPED TO AUSTRALIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Twenty thousand boxes of Washington apples were part of the cargo of the Sprinkles liner Ventura, which leaves today for Australia. A shipment of 5000 boxes will start for New Zealand tomorrow on the liner Moana.

FAIR WEATHER PREVAILS OVER MOST OF NATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Fair weather, general throughout the country, except in the upper Mississippi valley and in Western Colorado, accompanied by agreeable temperature brought out the voting hosts early today. Reports at noon from practically all sections indicated that a heavy vote had been cast and some points reported that the bulk of the vote was in before 10 a. m.

New Ashtford, a small Massachusetts town, had the distinction of making the first returns. The town has twenty three voters this year and when the polls closed at 1 a. m. the count showed the result: Hughes 16; Wilson 7.

In 1912 New Ashtford gave Wilson 4 votes, Taft 2 and Roosevelt 6. All of the New England states in their early reports of the voting dwelt on the heavy early balloting. Providence, R. I., reported that throughout the state it was the heaviest ever known.

New York state and other middle Atlantic states reported an unusually large early vote and similar reports came from the west and south.

Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the democratic finance committee announced that the total expenditure of the campaign was approximately $1,650,000. This money, he said, has all been collected with the exception of about $200,000, a deficit the committee was not worrying about.

About sixty per cent of the New York city vote had been cast at 11 o'clock it was estimated by the election board.

SIXTY THOUSAND VOTE BY 9 SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Forty thousand voters had cast their ballots here today by 6:30 o'clock, thirty minutes after the polls opened. By 9 o'clock 60,000 of the unprecedented registration of 183,000 persons had voted. Harry Zeman, registrar of elections, predicted a vote of five-sixths of the registration.
