

JUNIOR THRIFT EXHIBIT PLANNED FOR NOVEMBER 11

There will be held in Medford on November 11 a junior thrift exhibit. This is one of the coming events of the present school year.

Boys and girls are allowed to exhibit any article they have made during the summer. We certainly want all boys and girls to exhibit their work at this exhibition, which will be held in the building now occupied by the democratic central committee.

We invite the parents of the Medford public schools and all others interested in this work to visit and inspect for themselves the work of our boys and girls. There will be no charge of admission, so do not fail to visit and inspect this exhibit.

The exhibition is divided into the following departments: Gardening—Exhibits of fruit, vegetables and flowers raised by the exhibitor.

Woodwork—Furniture, tables, cabinets, chairs, bird boxes, shelves, etc., wood-turning, bowls, vases, map frames, etc.; patterns for castings.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

Miss Fannie Thompson of Olney was doing business in our town last Wednesday.

George Austin the mail contractor and carrier from Eagle Point to Olney has moved into one of the houses belonging to Mr. James in Eagle Point.

Hallowe'en night was properly observed in our city. Mark you, we are incorporated and have all the officers necessary to keep the city as quiet as the training, confining citizen awake from their slumbers they found that several sections of the sidewalk had been torn up and carried away and that an automobile was taken from where it was left by the owner, to the middle of the street where it leaves the Main street and a corral built around it of telephone poles about five feet high and staked with fence posts. The corral was built so large that it almost covered the street going from the main business part of the town, and the sidewalk was stacked up against the corral. The poles belonged to our post master and principal owner of the telephone system here.

The same night the Ladies' Improvement Club gave a box social, but it was not as well attended as might be expected as there was quite a number of our pleasure lovers went to Medford that evening to attend the Rebekah convention and so divided the citizens, but the boxes sold for a good price, and the bidding was quite spirited. I understand that there was one young man, who bought four boxes before he got the one he wanted. The receipts of the evening were $22.02. Those who attended say that they had a very enjoyable time. I understand that the proceeds are to go for the benefit of the school.

This is Saturday afternoon and the long-desired rain is coming at last.

Mrs. M. D. Stoddard, wife of the hardware merchant of Butte Falls, was with us Wednesday and so was George Gardner and Ben Sheldon, candidates for county clerk and representative, and O. N. Bishop, formerly of Phoenix, but now from Washington.

Fred Hupp of Talent came in after dark, to spend the night, from Willow Creek country, with two deer and a young bear he had killed while hunting. He was out with James Howard and another man and their horses got out of the pasture and left their foot, but on the way out Mr. Hupp found them at Mr. Chapman's and sent word where they were.

Word came over the phone that there was two fires in Butte Falls on Wednesday night, but it appears that there was only one, but two buildings were burned. One, the old Briggs store building, belonging to W. E. Buchanan of Ashland, and the other was E. A. Hildreth's confectionary and soft drink store. I have not learned the particulars or the loss, nor the amount of insurance they carried. Mr. Hughes phoned that he had a hard fight to save his store.

W. E. Buchanan and his brother-in-law, W. S. Kee, were on the train Thursday on their way up to see about the damage done in the fire at Butte Falls. R. E. Morton, representing the Portland Flour Mill Co., was also on his way up to Butte Falls. Leon Moore of Butte Falls was also on the train on his way home.

Thomas F. Bolts, formerly one of the officers of the P. & E., but now of Montana, came in Wednesday evening to visit his family. He is traveling for a concrete contracting company of Philadelphia. His many friends gave him a cordial greeting.

Little Miss Violet Zimmerman has been spending a few days with her sister here at the Sunnyside. Her sister, Miss Claire, is one of the young ladies who assists in the postoffice and telephone office.

Pete Belts and wife who own and cultivate a fine farm along the banks of Rogue river, about eight miles above here, were doing business with our merchants Thursday.

H. J. Eberly, district warden in forest reserve service, spent Friday night with us, and so did A. E. Edlar. He has been out on the headquarters of the mppu with Mr. Lewis' sheep of Central Point, and has just brought them in, and was on his way up Little Butte creek to visit his folks. Fred Sterges of Elk creek also spent the night with us. And Carl Richardson and his father of Peaton drove their wagon load of potatoes under our shed, but their team in the barn, and went on out on the desert in an auto and spent Thursday night with friends. Bert Higginbottom of Prospect also was here Thursday after another load of corn. He bought of Von der Hallen Brothers. While here he renewed his subscription to the Mail Tribune, and Mr. Sturges at Trail renewed his subscription to the daily Mail Tribune.

Wm. Perry has resumed work with his wood saw in our town.

Saturday was rather a busy day at the Sunnyside, as we had Henry Trusty and Miss Trevisse-Pence of Elk creek, Henry French, who owns and tends a fine farm of Rogue river bottom land near the French-Dodge bridge, came out and brought Mrs. H. a fine large porker, and took dinner. Wilford Jack also called and while here paid up the account of J. M. Wolzire with the daily Mail Tribune, and ordered it discontinued as Mr. W. and family have returned to the East. Mr. D. R. Patrick of Brownsville and Mike Sidley of Lakeview were both here for dinner and both renewed their subscriptions to the Mail Tribune.

F. T. Johnson and J. W. Graver, Eagle Point postoffice, have paid up since my last report.

Miss Nell Thompson of Derby was here Saturday night the guest of Miss Clara Zimmerman.

Saturday night there was what they call a "dub dance." I confess that I do not know the difference between the dub dance and the ordinary dance, unless it is that when they have a dub dance they import their musicians and when they have the ordinary dance they have, generally, at least, some of the home talent, for the same people go and they dance the same way—that is, they sometimes walk and sometimes skip around the hall, and keep that up until they get tired and then go home to sleep and sleep until about noon, then get up and feel worse than an ordinary person would after doing a hard day's work, and call that fine sport. Well, they had the club dance Saturday night and the next morning Harry Howell and Miss Florence Clark put in their appearance from their rooms and on inquiry I found that they were two of the imported musicians who had come from Medford to help to furnish music for the dance. From what I can learn the music was up to date, and as usual they all had a fine time. But the club dance necessitated having the movie show coming on Sunday night, and I understand that the attendance was quite small, as the Christian Endeavor had their regular meeting at the same hour in the church and had a very good attendance, especially considering that Sunday night was a rather cold, disagreeable night. The meeting was presided over by Miss Nora Childreth and they had an interesting program. We were favored with the singing of three or four songs and then the reading of the Scripture lesson. The reading of select pieces or clippings and prayer by your correspondent. Then the topic of the evening was announced, "Why Is Christianity the Hope of the Nation?" and J. W. Grover gave us a very interesting talk on the subject. This was followed by several recitations. One was by two little girls, the Clark sisters. Mrs. Charles Cingreth recited a beautiful poem on the wet and dry subject and Mrs. Flory read a poem, and then the choir sang two temperance songs that brought down the house. Then followed the usual benediction and we all went home feeling that the evening had not been spent in vain.

George H. Wamsley and Mrs. L. Whitney were among the guests at the Sunnyside Sunday, and so was Mr. Reier of Medford.

There was nothing special took place on Monday worthy of note unless it was that we were all getting ready for the election Tuesday.

Monday evening Mr. Good, the postmaster of Derby came in and spent the night with us, and C. A. Newstrom came in for a late dinner, and while here renewed his subscription to the W. M. T., and Charles Wagon of Derby also took dinner at the S. S. the same day.

Louis Gibson, who formerly lived on his farm on Beech creek, but went back to Arkansas, and from there to Kansas, married a widow with two children, returned to his old home, arriving on Monday. He has seen some of the world since he left, and can tell some hard stories about the country through which he has traveled.

Dick Daley, one of our boys, born in this town, but who has been living in Medford for the past ten or twelve years, was out Tuesday smiling on some of his old friends.

Tuesday morning the buzz of the auto, the rattling of wagons and the groups of pedestrians was heard on our streets, early waiting for their turn to come when they could record their vote for their favorite candidates, and by 10 o'clock the crowd had collected about George Brown & Sons' store. The voting took place in the hall over the store, each one trying to catch some word that might be used to encourage them in their hopes, and by noon the sidewalk was almost crowded, notwithstanding the fact that the air was so cold that many of them were wearing their overcoats and heavy cloaks, but still they came and went until noon, and then they began to concentrate at the old A-lpho store building, where the Ladies' Aid society has spread a sumptuous feast. There were over a hundred look-dinner there, and the receipts of the day amounted to $25.20. I saw one man as he came out place his hands on his stomach and exclaim, "Oh, what a dinner!" The great danger of those dinners gotten up by the ladies of Eagle Point is that some poor fellow who has not the will power to resist temptation on the discretion to stop when he or she have enough, may over eat and they cause a death, for such dinners are dangerous to the uninitiated. But our election passed off quietly and there seemed to be the best of feeling manifested. There were about 300 votes.

I learned too late for my last that the ninth grade class of our school gave the two Quakenbush boys, Vanlin and Carl, a genuine surprise party just before they left the Carlin orchard for Medford. Mrs. Quakenbush was apprised of the coming and had prepared and my informant said that they had a truly wonderful time, for Mr. and Mrs. Q. know just how to arrange to make young people have a good time. They had a feast of good things, and everything passed off pleasantly.

Mr. Hurd of Medford is to be here and speak in Brown's hall on Saturday, November 18, at 2:30 p. m., on the subject of the new banking law, and wants everybody to come and hear him.

Wednesday has been rather a dull day in Eagle Point, as many of the young men who cast their first vote for a president cast that vote Tuesday, sat up about all night to hear the election news, and were finally persuaded that they might have to wait for two or three days or perhaps a month before they would know the result. Us older people have not forgotten the Tilden-Hayes election when the democrats were beaten out of the presidency by the committee of 7 to 8.

Wednesday we had with us for breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neil of Derby. Mr. N. had been one of the election board, and when they got through with the count came right out with the returns, and Mrs. Neil accompanied him. They left their team in Harush's stable and took Minter's jincy for Medford.

Earl Day, Henry Voeyenburg and Henry Schumann-Henk of Sun's Valley were with us for dinner Wednesday.

In addition to C. A. Newstrom paying up his subscription on the W. M. T., C. V. Cummings has renewed his subscription to the W. M. T., and Mrs. T. E. Boldt has paid for an ad in the classified column for election dinner, 25 cents.

FRENCH CAUTIOUS ABOUT ELECTION

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The American election is being followed with the deepest interest, the news having the place of honor in most morning papers. The commentators, mindful of the dramatic surprise of yesterday, when the supposedly certain Hughes victory was turned into a possible defeat, are reluctant to commit themselves.

The majority of the comment is similar to that of Stephen Pichon in the Petit Journal, who expresses the belief that the victory of either candidate will have little effect on the American policy so far as the big questions interesting France are concerned. It is also pointed out that the present administration will remain in power, in any event, until March 4, and that many things may happen between now and then.

PRINCE HENRY OF BAVARIA DEAD

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Prince Henry of Bavaria, nephew of King Louis, is reported from Munich to have died from wounds received on a moon-boating trip on November 7.

Prince Henry was 32 years old and a major in the Bavarian guards. He was reported to have been wounded on the battlefield last June. The prince was unmarried.
