Plans for Short Session. Because of the probability that the next house will be republican, the president is laying plans to secure as much important legislation as possible during the short session opening next month. Measures he particularly desires passed are those to allow American exporters to establish common selling agencies abroad, to enlarge the interstate-commerce commission and to create machinery for preventing in the future a crisis similar to that which recently threatened to involve the country in a railroad strike, and other railroad legislation suggested by him when the strike threatened.

The president has begun preparation of his next message to congress. He plans to urge that a number of these questions be taken up.

BULGER IS GIVEN LIFE FOR MURDER

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 13.—The sentence of Colonel James C. Bulger, a soldier of fortune, who was to have been executed during the present week for the murder of Lloyd C. Nicodemus of Denver, was commuted to life imprisonment today by Governor George A. Carlson on the recommendation of the state board of pardons.

The commutation was granted, it was said, because of the belief of the board that Bulger was "insane at present and had been for some time."

Bulger shot Nicodemus, a Denver hotel proprietor, on May 6, 1915. The shooting followed a quarrel Bulger had with a number of patrons of the hotel, where he maintained headquarters for recruiting a regiment for service with the United States troops during one of the crises with Mexico.

HARVESTER TRUST ASKS REHEARING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Comptroller of the International Harvester company today asked the supreme court to set for reargument on February 26 the government's anti-trust dissolution suit against it. No reason was given by the court for the rehearing order. The court also directed reargument of an Ohio case involving interpretation of the Ohio employer liability law.

MODIFY O. & W. JOINT TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—By an order modifying a decision of last January, the inter-state commerce commission authorized the Oregon and Washington Railway and Navigation company to make its rate from the so-called Inland Empire to Astoria, Ore., on the Puget Sound rate basis, either by its own rail and water line, or by joint rate with the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroad's all-rail line to Seattle.

The decision does not disturb the rate structure, but permits the line to apply the tariff optionally between its route or its all-rail connecting route.
