MUSCOVITES TRY TO SAVE

A great battle has developed in western Rumania. The Austro-German army advancing from the region of Campulung has defeated the Rumanians in a pitched battle, breaking through their lines.

More than 6000 Rumanians have been captured in western Rumania, together with 49 cannon. In the advance toward Bucharest the Teutonic forces have reached the Argeheh river.

Two Flanking Operations.

Indications point to the probability that two flanking operations on a large scale are in progress on the Rumanian front. The one apparently is intended by the Russians to save King Ferdinand's armies, and possibly his capital, and the other by the Teutonic allies to force the evacuation of Bucharest and cut off the troops defending it.

Having assembled what seems to be a huge force along the fringe of the lower Carpathians, the Russians are pressing a great offensive on a front of approximately 250 miles, running along the western frontier of the Rumanian province of Moldavia and extending northwest along the Bukovina border. Already they are declared to have scored such successes as to lead to expectations that the supply lines of General Von Falkenhayn's army invading Rumania from the north may shortly be seriously menaced.

Cutting Off Rumanians.

The threat to the Rumanians comes from Field Marshal Von Mackensen on the southeast. Controlling virtually the entire course of the Danube as far as Telednavoda, as they do, the Teutonic allies, it has been pointed out, seemed likely to attempt throwing forces across it at points further and further east, to outflank each line taken up by the Rumanians as they retired under the pressure of Von Falkenhayn's forces from the north and west, and such of Von Mackensen's troops as were already on the north bank of the river.

Entente commentators point out that such a move may now have been effected, taking the mention by Petrograd that hostile patrols have appeared near Lake Grikla as indicating that a new crossing has been made by Von Mackensen near Oltenita, southeast of Bucharest. An advance from this point would hem in the Ru-

MRS. HANLEY TO DELIVER ADDRESS TO ASHLAND ELKS

ASHLAND, Dec. 2.—The address at the Elks memorial services on Sunday, December 3, will be given by Mrs. E. B. Hanley of Medford. The opening ceremonies will include a selection by the orchestra, and ode, followed by the roll call of absent members by the secretary. Invocation, Rev. P. K. Hammond; solo, "Face to Face," Prof. Earl Rasor; Eulogy, A. LeRoy Strickland; violin solo, Sumner Parker; solo, "The Lord is My Light," Mrs. H. T. Elmore. Mrs. A. LeRoy Strickland is accompanist.

The closing ceremonies incorporate the doxology in which the audience, as is customary, is invited to join, and the benediction by the Rev. Hammond. The memorial committee includes J. K. Choate, Wilfred Carr and Howard Barrett.

The neurological list in behalf of whom the ceremonies are held, include 37 deceased members. The first death in the local membership of Ashland Lodge No. 944 was Charles V. Hermann, the last being the late Fred L. Dodge. Three members have died during the past year, W. S. Howery, Elsie Nell and Fred Dodge.

The ceremonies begin at 2:30 p. m., to which the public is invited in accordance with custom, and the exercises will be typical of an annual observance, which the Elks conduct in memory of their fraternal dead.

The officers of Ashland Lodge are: George Owen, exalted ruler; George Watson, esteemed leading knight; Charles Hast, esteemed loyal knight; C. L. Miller, esteemed lecturing knight; J. E. Thornton, secretary; P. Provost, treasurer; Clifford Jenkins, equitre; G. H. Hedberg, inner guard; T. Provost, tyler; Rev. P. K. Hammond, chaplain.

Weather is Bad.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Bad weather has prevented major operations on the Serbian front, according to an official statement issued by the Serbian war department. The statement follows:

"Bad weather and fog continued yesterday to interfere with our operations. Nevertheless there was local fighting and artillery duels, notably in the region of Grunishite and Sokol, where the fighting in the last few days has been very hot."

GREEK KING SURRENDERS

A second marine detachment to advance further. All trains between Athens and Piraeus were stopped and no carriages were permitted to enter the city.

In Athens there was intense excitement. Women, carrying loads of provisions hastily bought in anticipation of a siege, thronged the streets, above which bullets were flying. Old men mounted guard at the street corners with hunting guns on their backs as to release the soldiers for the fighting outside.

Four hundred British marines reinforced the French force in the Scappena, the industrial exhibition building which lies at the south side of the gardens of the royal palace. From the surrounding hills Greeks poured bullets into the Scappena. The allied forces appeared to be acting under a preconceived military plan, which was intended to spare the city as much as possible.

Petitions are being circulated asking for the nomination of H. C. Glascock as councilman for the first ward on the People's Progressive Non-Partisan ticket.

ROYAL PALACE GERMAN ARMY STRIVING TO CAPTURE

The royal palace is one of the finest buildings in Bucharest, the capital of Rumania which reports say is about to be taken by Falkenhayn's and Mackensen's German armies. The city is in the center of a circle of 18 formidable forts, 40 miles in circumference, but it is of little importance industrially.

Local and Personal

Benton Bowers of Ashland was in the city Saturday attending to business matters.

Tyson Beall of Central Point transacted business in the city Saturday. Hum Pratt of Ashland spent Saturday in the city on business.

Mr. and Mrs. William Von der Helten of Eagle Point were Medford visitors Saturday.

R. P. Tucker of Gold Hill was in Medford Saturday.

Mildred Carr and Kenneth McWilliams of Ashland spent Saturday in Medford visiting friends and attending to business matters.

L. L. Mullet of Portland is spending a few days in the city. Mr. Mullet was formerly cashier of the First National Bank at Ashland and was also representative from this district.

S. S. Stevens of North Talent spent Saturday in Medford transacting business.

Miss Violet Reed of Ashland is in Medford today. Miss Reed will be on the staff of Crosson's confectionery, which will open about December 5.

The victory of Medford in the football game with Ashland Timmaging may be attributed to the work of Coach Otto Klum of the local high school. In the matter of material in the raw, Ashland had, at the first of the season, a little the better of Medford. As the season progressed, Klum through consistent hard work, put his men into the best of condition and imparted a surety and smoothness to their play such as is seldom seen in the teams of any but the largest city high schools. Klum was formerly coach of the Ashland team and under his tutelage the Ashland aggregation easily walked away from Medford.

With the coming to Medford of Klum the tables have been reversed.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

WEDDING BELLS

Wm. Verne Luce, who was employed at the Medford Cigar store for some time and Miss Mildred Ayers, sister of Mrs. Rev. H. M. Branham, who worked for the Home Telephone Co., for the past three years were married October 25th at Sabetha Kas., and returned to Medford last week and will make their future home in Medford. These are worthy young people and have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Miss Violet Reed of Ashland is in Medford today. Miss Reed will be on the staff of Crosson's confectionery, which will open about December 5.

The funeral of Miss Ethel Rigdon, former popular teacher of the Salem high school, who died Monday following an accident, will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the First Methodist church. Seats will be reserved for the high school pupils who will attend the funeral in a body. The interment will be in City View cemetery with private services at the grave.—Salem Statesman.

Miss Rigdon formerly taught in Ashland where she has many friends.

PACKED MEETING PREVENTS FORMING OF ANGLERS' CLUB

The meeting called Friday evening by John S. Orif for the organization of a "live and let live" anglers' club, favoring further restrictions on the river, but opposing closing the river to commercial fishing, was packed by officers and members of the Rogue River Fish Protective Association, who attended in a body, and blocked all efforts to proceed with organization, demanding that the river be closed, and even voting down a motion for the appointment of a committee on organization. As a result, the organization of the club is proceeding privately.

Speeches favoring a closed river were made by W. F. Isaacs, T. E. Daniels, C. S. Thomas, Jack Aitken and others. E. E. Kelly declared a closed river was impractical at this time and said anglers efforts should be directed towards securing stricter laws, especially for screening irrigation ditches, which annually killed more trout than dozen hatcheries could liberate. G. Putnam opposed closing the river to salmon fishing as destroying a valuable resource to the state and wasting a needed food product. He declared the closed river no remedy for the deficiency in trout, inasmuch as their taking is forbidden now and stated there was the same complaint on poor fishing during the two years the river was closed, that now exists. He stated that from past experience he knew the legislature would not close the stream and that efforts to induce it to would be wasted, and that better results could be obtained if practical reforms, such as a longer weekly closed season, abolition of soiling, and ditch screening were worked for, and the laws already on the statute books enforced.
