COURT DISMISSES CASE AGAINST YOUTHS

The case against Forest Burch, 18-year-old youth, who was accused by Paul Davis of breaking into a cabin, property of the state, on the Siskiyou highway near Steinhilf, was dismissed this morning by Justice Glenn O. Taylor.

The boy's story showed that he was walking across the mountains. A snow storm came up, and after walking some he was cold and tired, he came to the cabin and sought shelter there for the night. While in the cabin he helped himself to a meal from the supplies cached there. Nothing else was disturbed. The dismissal was made by Justice Taylor on account of the youth of the prisoner and his evident need of shelter at the time he broke into the cabin.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Robert Bruce Wilson, one of the foremost pioneer women of Portland, passed away Tuesday evening, Jan. 23, at her home, Park and, after an attack of bronchitic pneumonia, from which she had been suffering for a little over a week. In the death of Mrs. Wilson Portland mourns the passing of one of its first pioneer women, who was foremost among a generation that is fast disappearing.

Mrs. Wilson is survived by ten daughters and three sons—Mrs. Stewart B. Blair, Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Misses Virginia and Cleopatra Wilson, Mrs. George E. and Holt C. and Robert Bruce, the last residing in Medford, Oregon. Her husband, Dr. Robert Bruce Wilson, was the first physician and surgeon of distinguished ability and education to settle in 1831 upon a farm in Portland, coming here in December, 1830. They were married in 1834, she being Mrs. Caroline, the sister daughter of Capt. John H. and Mrs. Conch.

Her father, Captain Conch, first sailed into the Columbia river in 1830.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Welch died at the family home at the Gold Range orchard, January 24, aged 22 days. Funeral services were held at Park's chapel, Medford, January 25. Interment was in the Central Point cemetery.

FIRST SEMESTER OF SCHOOL YEAR CLOSES THIS WEEK

Friday of this week closes the first semester of the school year. The eighth grade examinations are in progress in all the buildings. There will be no less than sixty-five candidates for junior high work beginning Monday, January 29. This will run the total enrollment up to more than 430 students in the high school alone. Never before has Medford had such an enrollment in her high school. Compared with last year at this time, there are more than 100 more students enrolled, thus making an increase of more than 30 per cent in one year.

Crowded as it is, few electives are offered in each of the Washington and Lincoln junior high schools. At this rate of increase, by another year the high school will have completely outgrown its present quarters.

This week also completes the examinations in the senior high school. A new program of studies has been completed and the enrollment of students has already taken place. On Thursday afternoon the instructors will meet all their classes, when the work for the second semester will be carefully outlined; lessons assigned in all new work begun and the new semester started Monday morning without loss of time. All report cards both in the grades and high schools will be ready for the students Monday noon.

On account of the fact that additional room cannot be made at the high school building to admit additional classes from the junior high schools in the Washington and Lincoln buildings, the children will not change teachers in the middle of the year, as has been the usual custom, but will remain with the same teacher throughout the year. Consequently this will preclude beginning students from entering the primary grades in the middle of the year. Children of school age will not be admitted until opening of the fall term next September.

Miss Mary Knowles of the University of California will arrive this week to head the department of Latin. Miss Knowles, who recently resigned to accept a like position in the high school at Tonopah, Nev.

Pearl Anderson, who has been head of the English department, has resigned and will head the department of English in the Lewis and Clark high school, Spokane, Wash.

Miss Nellie Cox, who is just finishing her work for a degree at the University of Oregon, will take Miss Anderson's place and will assume her duties Monday morning. All the new instructors have had successful experience in high school work and come to the Medford high with strong credentials.

The fact that both of these instructors have been offered better positions in larger schools at an increased salary speaks well for the personnel of the faculty of the Medford schools.

Miss Adele Brant, who is to take Miss Turner's place in the department of modern languages, has been on the ground several days and will take over this work next Monday.

THREE FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING BROOD SOW

Tom Kinney, Carl Hammond and Roy Watkins were found guilty in the justice court Wednesday of killing a brood sow belonging to A. M. Terrill of Lake Creek, and were bound over to the grand jury under $500 bonds. Attorney F. J. Newman for the defense, grilled the game wardens for their activity in his plea. It developed that game wardens were called to the scene by telephone, upon the information that deer were being slain recklessly. When they arrived they found six or seven men gathered around the remains of a hog and deer. The case attracted considerable interest in the Lake Creek district.

FINED $25 FOR KILLING DEER OUT OF SEASON

E. G. Harding, who was arrested by Game Wardens J. H. Driscoll and Ed Walker, charged with having fresh deer meat in his possession, was brought before Justice Taylor Wednesday, plead guilty and was fined $25 and costs. A number of complaints have been filed with the wardens who are endeavoring to catch the guilty parties and break up the illegal killing of game out of season.

SPEAK TO AID FRENCH ORPHANS AT NAT TONIGHT

Miss Florence M. Schofield and Miss Elinor Fell, who will address two meetings today in the interests of the fatherless children of France, made a tremendous impression in Portland where they were for two days. Miss Schofield was in Paris at the outbreak of the war and she immediately offered her services to the community. Very soon her entire time was given to the relief of French children whose parents had either been killed or driven into exile. A year ago Miss Fell accompanied her to America for the purpose of raising $10,000 to carry on the work. So ready was the response to the appeal that the fatherless children of France was founded. Many thousands of orphans have been saved from institutions through the efforts of the association and many other thousands have been enabled to remain with their mothers through this gift of ten cents a day. Minneapolis alone has over 250 "god-parents."

At the afternoon meeting for children Prof. Hill will preside. The evening meeting at the Natatorium will be at 8 p. m. The Medford Choral society will sing "The Marsellaise" after which Mr. S. V. Beck with will introduce the speakers of the evening.

Miss Schofield and Miss Fell will be entertained at luncheon by the local treasurer, Mrs. Frank Preston. Mrs. Frank Owens entertains for them with an afternoon tea.

MEDFORD PLAYS COTTAGE GROVE TEAM TONIGHT

Tonight and tomorrow night the Medford high school basketball team will meet the team of Cottage Grove in the first conference game of the season. The preliminary game tonight between the Talent and Medford girls will be called at 7:30 and the main event at 8:15.

Cottage Grove defeated the Ashland team on their home floor last night for the first time in six years by a score of 19 to 12. Ashland put up a strong defense, but the consistent shooting of Cottage Grove proved too much for them. Cottage Grove plays the sure and steady type of game, holding the ball until a good chance for a shot, and then seldom missing. The Cottage Grove team averages about 150 pounds to the man.

Twenty men have been turning out for practice at the Natatorium. From this squad the following lineup has been picked for tonight's game: Guards, Wallace and Young; Carter and Brandon; forwards, Gentry and Jones.

Of this lineup only Young and Brandon have played previous to this year. The remaining three men are appearing on the floor for the first time tonight.

The Medford team has gained in condition, team work and accuracy since the game with Phoenix the first of the week when Medford won the game by a score of 14 to 13.

HOW APPENDICITIS CAN BE PREVENTED

Medford people should know that a few doses of simple buckthorn bars, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler's, often relieve or prevent appendicitis. This simple mixture removes such surprising food matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, soft stomach or gas. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. Adler's is as easiest and most thorough action of anything we have ever sold. L. B. Haskins, Druggist.
