GERMANY WARNS SHIPS TO KEEP OUT WATER WAR ZONES

(Continued on Page Two.) motion of hostile attempts. Such a precaution is all the more urgently needed, since for the persons in power in repeated speeches and especially in the resolutions of the Paris economic conference, declared their unyielding intention, even after the restoration of peace (not?) to recognize Germany as of equal right, but rather continue to fight in systematic fashion. "The attempt of the four allied powers to bring about peace failed on account of the last for conquest of their adversaries who (do not?) want peace. Under the pretext of the principle of nationalities they unveiled as their war aims opposition to a dismemberment of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria. To our desire for reconciliation they opposed their will. They want to fight to the last. New Situation Exists. "Thus a new situation has sprung up which forces Germany also to new decisions. For two years and a half England adopted political and naval measures in a critical attempt to force Germany and Austria-Hungary to submission. Brutally, despite the laws of nations, the group of powers marshaled by England not only prohibits legitimate trade of its adversaries by reckless pressure even on neutral states, it stops all trade relations agreeable to it or forces them to limit their trade according to its order. "The American nation knows the means taken in order to move England and her allies to return to the laws of nations and to respect the law of freedom of the seas. The British government persists in its war of starvation, which certainly does not touch the military strength of its adversary, but which forces women and children, the sick and aged persons, to undergo painful privation for their country's sake, which is harming the national vitality. Blame Put on Britain. "Thus British impertinence in gold blood accentuates the suffering of the world without regard for every command of humanity, without regard even for the silent longing for peace within the nations of its own allies. Every day in which the fearful struggle goes on brings dear devastation, new misery, new death. Every day by which the war is protracted will preserve on both sides the lives of thousands of brave soldiers and means a blessing for the tortures of tortured humanity. The imperial government before its own conscience and before history would be unable to assume the responsibility if it left untried any one means to hasten the end of the war. Together with the president of the United States, it had hoped to obtain this by negotiations. "The attempt to establish an understanding between the adversaries having been unavailing by the announcement of intensified warfare, the imperial government must now continue the war for whatever time more forced upon it by using its own weapons. The imperial government therefore is forced to do away with the restrictions which would hamper its unimpeded upon the use of its fighting means on the sea. Neutrals Are Warned. "Treating that the American people and its government will be able to see more reasons for this decision and for its necessity, the imperial government hopes the United States will appreciate the new state of affairs, from the lofty and exalted standpoint of the imperial government and on its part will also cooperate in order to avoid further misery and avoidable sacrifices of human life. "Referring us to details of the planned war measures at sea to the annexed, the government at the same time begs to express its confidence that the American government will warn American ships against entering the barred zones described in the annex, and also will warn its citizens against taking passage or carrying goods to ships plying to sea in the barred zone. Similar moves have been limited to the representatives of all neutral governments. THIRD SEATTLE BANK CLOSED (Continued From Page One.) and some of the small banks were doing their usual business. The German-American Mercantile Bank issued the following statement: "We regret to announce that it has been necessary for this bank temporarily to close its doors owing to the fact that we could not collect on our securities. The bank is abso-lately solvent and it had been given those and assistance based upon good securities, it would have arranged to take care of all its depositors' pending money. We firmly believe that every depositor in this bank will receive every dollar he has in it." ELLIS SUBPOENAED (Continued From Page One.) "reliably" had been spoken out in the Hutton message on all correspondents at 1:34 o'clock and "confidentially informed" that a note had been issued. It also developed that the message originally read: "a note will be issued." Hutton insisted that he and Mr. Ellis attached no great importance to the president's message, regarding its effect on the market. Had they regarded it seriously, he said, they certainly would have sent out emphatic messages warning customers to liquidate. Hutton a Loser. None of the nine partners of the Hutton firm, said the witness, dealt in the market on the information received in the telegram. Hutton said that he himself had been short 1,000 shares of Utah Copper and a few shares of other securities before December 29, but that he had covered prior to that date at a profit of $12,000. He did not himself sell on the strength of the Washington information. Just what the volume of selling for his customers' account was on December 29 after the Hutton message had gone out, he said it would take time to ascertain, but on that night his books showed that the long interest of his clients aggregated 229,704 shares and the short interest about 37,000 shares. Connolly and company, he said, were on December 29, short of no stocks whatever. "What broke the market," said Hutton, was not the peace note, but Secretary Lansing's "verge of war" statement. "But that was on December 27," remarked Whipple. "Yes, but that's what has killed the market." From December 29 to December 31 Hutton said the clients of the Conolly firm lost $10,000 in transactions, $50,000 being sent to Hutton and company, and only $10,000 being returned. No pools of collection of persons were operating through his firm between December 10 and December 25, Hutton said. "I wanted to say," Hutton said, "that we did not take the account of Connolly & Co. because Mr. Hutton was President Wilson's brother-in-law. It would have been the same if he had been a Smith, Jones or anyone else provided we were confined members of the firm were clean men." Until the Connolly firm opened, Hutton said, his house had no Washington representatives for seven years. The witness also insisted that he had no knowledge on December 29 that a note was coming from President Wilson. Other members of his firm handled the various messages in the record. P. A. Connolly, the Washington broker, who supplied E. F. Hutton and company, New York brokers, with a remarkably accurate forecast of the contents of the president's peace note on December 29, declared repeatedly and emphatically at the "leak" inquiry today that all of his information was based on gossip and rumor of persons, whose names he could not remember. PROSECUTOR RESTS IN MOONEY CASE SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—The state rested its case today against Thomas J. MOTHER SAID TRY IT

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Copner after Doctor's Failed.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I want you to know the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was in such bad health from female troubles that I could hardly get off my bed. I had been doctoring for a long time and my mother said, 'I want you to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I did, and it has really made me a well woman. I am able to do my house work and am so happy as I never expected to go around the way I do again, and I want others to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." —Mrs. Josie Copner, 1625 Harrison Ave., Fairmont, Cincinnati, Ohio. No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous remedy, the medicine ingredients of which are derived from choice roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.
