All patrons of the city electric light system using current on a flat rate basis for lighting only are to have fuses played as a further equipment to residence connections. These devices will summarily record the extent of current to which patrons are entitled under flat rate schedules. About 600 households are involved in the installation. Some householders afflicted with electrical stigmatism resented the new departure, asserting that it reflected a stigma on heating as well as lighting motives; consequently the installation of the fuse detector is to be made general.

Rheumatism Should Be Nipped In The Bud
Rheumatism in its early stages may delude you into believing that it is a disease of a purely local and temporary nature. Beyond a slight numbness of the limbs and pains in the joints or back, there may be no outward indications of it, but if you do not heed these warnings, or if you rely upon liniments to cure you, it will grow rapidly worse until you have Rheumatism in its most violent form.
These symptoms, mild in the beginning but growing steadily worse, indicate that your blood is impregnated with Uric Acid, which, if not eradicated, will contaminate your entire system. The results will be racking pains in the joints, muscles and ligaments, chronic stomach troubles and a sluggish liver.
The only relief is in the restoration of the blood to its normal, vigorous condition, which can be accomplished by taking S. S. S., the unfailing remedy for rheumatic troubles. Our Medical Department is at the disposal of all users of S. S. S. Swift Specific Co., 203 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga.

At the Willow Springs grange last Saturday afternoon all present listened to a very interesting talk on canning, given by J. S. Miner, who lives on his ranch in the Willow Springs district. Mr. Miner has operated canneries all his life. His first canneries were in regard to irrigation. He stated that it was impossible to supply adequately a cannery in this vicinity with any vegetables or berries without irrigation. With irrigation a cannery at Central Point would be a very profitable investment. He stated that he has lived no place where the climate was more favorable to the raising of vegetables for canning purposes than this, owing to the early spring and the length of the growing season. But these climatic advantages avail us nothing without irrigation. For years Mr. Miner has operated canneries in districts where irrigation was dependent upon to insure a crop. He stated a large number of instances where farmers had sold him as much as several hundred dollars worth of tomatoes off of one acre of irrigated land, while a next door neighbor without irrigation, could raise only a very small fraction of that amount.

He told of how farmers in Utah under his direction, drilled peas six to eight inches deep in the spring and when these were ready to harvest, the vines were mowed and raked and carted to the cannery, where a machine would separate the peas from the vines. After the peas were removed the farmer would immediately plow the land and put it into sweet corn, thus furnishing the cannery with two well paying crops. The last factory operated by Mr. Miner is situated about 20 miles south of Salt Lake City. This cannery was owned entirely by the neighboring farmers. The capital stock was $15,000, each farmer taking at least one share of very small denomination, for which many of them had to borrow the money at the bank at 10 per cent interest.

When Mr. Miner had finished the season's canning, about half of the output was already sold and the other half was in the warehouse. The returns received for the goods sold together with the value of the goods in the warehouse, at the prevailing prices in November, amounted to $13,000 or nearly 100 per cent of the total money invested in the factory. Besides this the farmers who borrowed money to buy their shares of stock found that their few acres of peas, corn and tomatoes, taken to the cannery, brought them enough to pay for their stock, and then some. In view of these statements it seems that the people in the Central Point district should wake up and get water first and then figure on getting a cannery. 'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished.

To all friends and acquaintances who so kindly extended their help, sympathy and flowers during our sad bereavement we extend our sincere thanks.

It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold. Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you—Drink more water.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with acids occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They suffer sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The uric acid gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and get rid of the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; effortless to use, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.
