Francis alleged that with no provocation Freyer had attempted to strike him with a club at the same time threatening to kill him. Both parties were dismissed with a warning to stay away from each other and avoid any more misunderstandings. The trouble arose, according to Francis, from the practice of some one spitting on the windows of Francis' shoe shop on East Main street. E. E. Kelly left Thursday evening for San Francisco, where he will remain until Monday, attending to legal business.

PROTEST HIGH RATES ON PAPER REFUSE BOSTON, Feb. 9.—A protest against freight rates on paper refuse shipments from New England to the west was made at a hearing today before William A. Disque, an examiner of the interstate commerce commission by the International Purchasing company of this city, which had petitioned for a revision. Counsel for the company claimed that the refuse rates were higher than those on paper makers' fibre and that charges for less than carload lots were two and one-half times higher than for full carloads.

BIRDENA BEACON MARRIED IN PORTLAND PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 9.—All's well that ends well," said Birdena Beacom, the 19-year-old girl who attempted to commit suicide in a hotel at Second and Yamhill street last Friday night, as she left police headquarters yesterday headed for matrimony.

The girl drank chloroform when Irving R. Eastin, employe of the Portland Gas & Coke Co. announced that he was "through" with her. It was to Irving R. Eastin that she was married at noon today by Rev. Walter Lee Airheart, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, at his residence, 275 Fourteenth street. Apparently the couple had become completely reconciled, and Mrs. Eastin said she looked forward to a happy married life. She first met Eastin on a camping trip at Phoenix Lake, in California, and several weeks ago, on his promise of marriage, came to Portland. The reconciliation was effected by Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, superintendent of the women's protective division of the police department.

The Boils Of Lazarus were eased by the dogs who licked the infected places, but they were not cured. Many modern people employ the same method in their treatment of boils, pimples, rashes, carbuncles, eczema and other skin diseases. They apply a salve or lotion to the sore places and fondly imagine they have cured them. The important fact which they fail to recognize is, that these skin diseases are diseases of the blood, and that no external treatment can permanently cure them, because they are essentially internal ailments.

M'CABE ALLEGES MANY REASONS IN INJUNCTION SUIT R. B. McCabe has filed an amended complaint against the city of Medford in behalf of Charles D. Colby in the suit to prevent the sale of bonds under the Hanson plan approved last month by the voters of Medford. The city has ten days in which to file an answer, demurrer or motion. The nature of the city's answer has not been made public, although Fred Mears, city attorney, stated this morning that the answer will adequately cover and answer the points in the complaint. The complaint prays that the court will declare the Hanson plan illegal and void, and that the city be permanently enjoined from issuing or selling bonds under the provisions of the plan, basing the plea on the following contentions: First—The plaintiff (Charles D. Colby) contends that he signed up to pay his street assessments in ten equal yearly installments under the Bancroft act, and by so doing acquired a vested right which the city cannot take away. This signing up, the complaint continues, constitutes a contract between the city and the individual property owner which cannot be set aside, and further, contends that the Hanson plan is illegal because it attempts to set aside the contract.

Second—The plaintiff attempts to show that the city, by levying a general tax during 1915 and 1916, to pay interest on outstanding paving bonds, has attempted to create a general obligation of the city. The plaintiff contends that the Hanson plan is illegal because it attempts to shift the debt from the property owner to a general city obligation. Third—The plaintiff contends that the Hanson plan is illegal and void because of being improperly submitted to the people, alleging that it is a measure competitive to the Medynski plan and was not submitted within thirty days after the filing of the Medynski plan. Fourth—The plaintiff contends that the Hanson plan is illegal in that it failed to carry an enacting clause. Fifth—The plaintiff contends that the Hanson plan is illegal because it attempts to provide two ways of enforcing collection of delinquent accounts, first by sale, and second by a proceeding in the circuit court. (This contention is based on a technicality based on the meaning of the word "action," which in Washington is applied to all law and equitable matters and which in Oregon is generally applied to law matters, "suit" being used to designate equitable matters.) Sixth—The plaintiff contends that the Hanson plan is unwieldy, ambiguous, impractical and void, for the reason that it attempts to create a new lien "out of a clear sky." Seventh—The plaintiff contends that the Hanson plan attempts to repeal the Bancroft law. The second cause of suit accuses the city council of unlawfully attempting to sell bonds under the Hanson plan before the preparation of a consolidated lien docket and that the plaintiff is given no plain, speedy or adequate remedy at law.

EGG CIRCLES TO BE ORGANIZED FOR COMING SEASON At a meeting of the Southern Oregon Poultry association Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the public library, the question of organizing "egg circles" will be taken up for discussion, the idea being to ascertain whether or not the Medford and Ashland districts desire to organize for this season. The egg circle is an organization auxiliary to the association, where the latter exists, or it may be maintained independently. Its secretary or manager collects the egg and poultry output daily and pays the producer-member once a week or once a month, as the members may elect. The latter thus obtain a better price for their eggs, in comparison with the prevalent retail prices, than can be enjoyed in any other system. It is the initial feature of organized marketing and leads to a system in which all producers co-operate for protection afforded by much improved methods. Other matters of much importance to the poultry industry and especially to the association and its work during the summer will be considered. Therefore, a full attendance is particularly desired. There is no longer any doubt that the next Southern Oregon poultry show will be held about the first of December this year, so it is desired to put everything in order for a complete and valuable success.
