GOLDEN ERA FOR FARMERS HIGH PRICES FOR PRODUCE ST. PAUL, Minn., Mar. 10.—The shortage of staple articles of food is responsible for high prices of food according to a statement of business conditions issued today by John H. Rich, chairman of the ninth federal reserve bank.

"A food shortage exists over practically the whole world. Many millions of men have been withdrawn from agricultural occupations and in respect of the size of the 1917 crops in this country, any excess over the home demand will be greatly needed in other parts of the world."

"In addition to the European wheat shortage and the Russian supplies tied up, Argentina, which in 1915 produced 175,000,000 bushels of wheat now faces a complete crop failure."

"This is the golden opportunity for the farmers. World-wide conditions offer him guarantees that there will be a substantial reward in store for him during the coming fall for everything that he can add to his normal production."

TABLE ROCK TABLETS E. T. Maynard and family of South Medford were visiting friends in this district for a few days the first of last week.

The owner of the horse that was roaming the Table Rock road last week has been located and is now coming for the unfortunate animal. Wm. Vaughan reports that there are fifty young lambs among his flock of sheep which are doing remarkably well considering the weather.

Stanley Lydiard has purchased the Harry Hays homestead for a consideration of $500. Mrs. A. L. Vincent has a photograph of a flock of quail feeding in less than ten feet of the house. Their gentleness is caused by the fact that Mrs. Vincent has been feeding them and a number of other birds during the freezing weather.

Work was commenced last week on the new flume being put in by the Table Rock Ditch company. Some twenty from this district attended the high school play at Central Point last Friday night and all seemed well pleased with the entertainment.

The rapid and continuous firing of guns was heard throughout two afternoons the first of the week along the river, and on investigation we found that a jack rabbit hunt was in progress, conducted by several of our boys who claim that the two drives netted 94 rabbits.

Mr. Bigham of Trail was here Wednesday and Thursday looking for feed for his cattle. He made arrangements with Harvey Nealon for hay and will bring his cattle down Monday to be fed until the first of April when he believes the range will be in shape to support them. Mr. Bigham, although well into the seventies, does most of the riding after his cattle and in some instances endures hardships that some of our young men would prefer to pass by.

Reports come from the Trail district that there are five feet of snow in that vicinity which if melted with a warm rain would cause a serious flood. J. C. Pendleton had business in the valley towns two days last week. P. C. Gill of Richmond, Virginia, who is a brother of Mrs. M. B. Chase of this place spent the past week at the Chase home and sightseeing over the valley, leaving Saturday evening on his return trip. Mr. Gill is connected with a large hardware concern in the south.

Henry Maury and sister, Miss Mary and Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Richardson and daughter of Ross Lane, were pleasant callers at the Nealon home Sunday evening. Miss Opal Centers of the Antioch district visited at the Collins home for a few days last week. E. W. Carton is short a work horse, one of his dying one day last week.

It has been said that some people would grumble if they were going to be hanged. Only a few weeks ago people were complaining of the dry season and now that we have received a good supply of moisture in the form of snow a terrible howl is heard and the country is going to the bad. We admit that the snow is somewhat out of season but it is the little surprises that break the monotony and make life worth living, and a country that is able to pull off such stunts is the country we want to live in.

The subject for debate at the next meeting of the Arraw Head Literary Society relates to foreign immigration and as the two teams are pretty well matched a good debate is looked for. On paying a visit to the Modoc orchard recently we were surprised at the appearance of the big orchard, also at the many substantial improvements made during the last few years. It appears that although no great noise has been made the work has been going steadily along with each convenience and better equipment added assisting materially the results of a day's labor. Through the courtesy of Elmer Hull, the general foreman, we were permitted to inspect some of the later improvements and the first to claim our attention was one of the largest crude oil tanks in the state with a capacity of more than 50,000 gallons, and the foundation and retaining wall requiring more than 100 sacks of cement to construct. This tank is so situated that the gravity system can be used both in filling and emptying, four wagon tanks of a special design will deliver the oil to the smudge pots throughout the orchard. In looking through the blacksmith shop we find pulleys and belts have been put in and much of the machinery is run by a gasoline engine, thus making it possible for one man to do all the shop work for the big ranch. A large shed for the storing of machinery is just being completed and although 30x60 feet there is not a post on the inside, it being constructed with a self-supporting roof so there will be nothing to interfere with the running in and out of machinery. We find a large up to date pumping plant has been installed for pumping water to the reservoir on the hill and for irrigating purposes, a pipe line runs from the reservoir past the ranch buildings, a hose cart to connect with this line furnishes fire protection. We notice some difference between this orchard and others in the valley, many of which buy all their feed, provisions, etc., while on this place not only an ample supply for home use is produced but large quantities are sold. The small dairy produces enough milk and butter for the cook house with considerable to sell. A drove of red Duroc hogs furnish meat for the cook house, also occasionally a beef is killed, the hogs and cattle both being a product of the ranch, and a large number of the surplus being sold each year. There are large well filled bins containing wheat, barley and oats and great hay mows containing hundreds of tons of hay which will be fed on the ranch and the manure put back on the land, thus preserving its fertility. At present there is a crew of twenty-seven men employed who seem to be well contented and take a deep interest in their work. Frank Riddle, an expert orchardist, is foreman of the orchard work and the appearance of the trees show that he is well qualified to fill this position, besides superintending the work in the orchard he keeps a record of all that transpires among the trees that might be of benefit later; also he takes care of the U. S. weather station located on the ranch. The trees during the last few years have made a remarkable growth and in spite of being attacked by blight during the last two summers prompt action with a crew large enough to successfully combat the disease, have saved the trees from the mutilation seen in many other orchards and leaving them practically free from any signs, ravages of blight.

We are indebted to Mrs. J. C. Pendleton for the following report of the snowfall in this district for the last twenty-three years and while this record is in a large sense correct it does not include snow storms of short duration where the snow melted as fast as it fell and did not remain long enough for the night and morning measurements:

Snowfall at The Oaks orchard, Table Rock, Ore., from November, 1894, to March, 1917:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Total in. 1894-95 4.50, 1895-96 3.50, 1896-97 2.00, 1897-98 5.00, 1898-99 4.00, 1899-1900 1.00, 1900-01 25.75, 1901-02 4.00, 1902-03 1.50, 1903-04 1.00, 1904-05 4.50, 1905-06 3.50, 1906-07 5.50, 1907-08 6.50, 1908-09 6.75, 1909-10 3.75, 1910-11 6.75, 1911-12 4.75, 1912-13 0.50, 1913-14 14.00, 1914-15 43.75, 1915-16 3.75, 1916-17 43.75

Taken from the daily diary records for the months of November, December, January and February, measure taken night and morning. MRS. J. C. PENDLETON.

SAMS VALLEY A Portland stock buyer was through this precinct last week for the purpose of encouraging stock raising among the farmers. In spite of the inclement weather the wise old stock venturer out and left a 6 1/2 pound baby girl at the home of M. A. Schultz Saturday evening. Mr. Schultz believes this signifies we will have no need of soldiers in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Strauss, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Mike Koger, were interviewing business houses in Central Point Friday. W. C. Kenney was a Medford visitor last Saturday. Jess Tresham, accompanied by his sister, Miss Elaine, visited with Rock Point friends Sunday.

We are sorry to report that Dennis Dugas, who has been in the Dow hospital at Central Point for some time, is in a very serious condition. The members of the family have been called to the bedside. Miss Myra Gunter, teacher in the Pankey district, resumed her school after a short vacation on account of the snow. Mr. and Mrs. John Edington of Eagle Point were visiting relatives here last week. H. Van Hovenburg and H. I. Pelton were Medford callers Monday and Tuesday. Morris Court, from the north end of our precinct, was conveyed by Mr. McDonough to the county hospital Douglas and Brick Morgan have rented the Birch place, formerly occupied by Thomas Pankey. Thomas Strathern motored out to Medford Tuesday. He has been ailing for sometime and came from Nevada here for his health. Jess Gilchrist, who was on the sick list last week, is recovering rapidly. Mrs. Bushnell and Mrs. W. C. Kenney were visiting in Medford and Central Point Monday.
