MAYO, CHIEF OF AMERICA'S SEA MASTIFFS WILL BE FIRST TO MEET FOE!

Admiral Mayo, Commander of the Atlantic Fleet.

A strict disciplinarian on shipboard; a man of keen judgment, and quick unyielding decision; Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commanding officer of Uncle Sam's principal fighting arm—the Atlantic fleet—and, as such, the man who will be first in the fight if war comes, is an ideal naval commander.

For all his stern discipline, and insistence on efficiency and hard work at sea, Mayo off duty is known to his brother officers as a big hearted, affable, popular and unassuming officer.

Mayo first attracted nation-wide attention when, in command of the squadron off the Mexican port of Tampico, he demanded that General Huerta, then de facto head of the Mexican republic, should unconditionally release the boat-crew of American bluejackets and fire a salute to the American flag, or face stern measures at the hands of the United States government.

The bluejackets came back aboard promptly, but Huerta refused the salute, and the order to "take Vera Cruz" followed from Washington.

Admiral Mayo was born at Burlington, Vt., December 8, 1856, of fighting stock. Two of his ancestors were officers in the continental army during the revolution.

As a young boy, Mayo displayed a keen scientific bent, and entered the naval academy at 15, being graduated as an ensign in '78.

In the navy, Mayo's scientific bent had full play, for he was for years attached to the coast survey—then a part of the naval observatory.

Serving through all grades, with all kinds of duty at sea and ashore, Mayo reached the grade of rear admiral in June, 1913, and was immediately picked by Secretary of the Navy Daniels as one of the latter's personal aides.

Here he so impressed the newly installed secretary that he was put in charge of the first and fourth divisions of the Atlantic fleet, in Mexican waters. Here the Tampico incident occurred.

In June, 1916 under the new naval bill, Mayo was appointed our first vice-admiral since Stephen Rowan in 1879. He was then placed in charge of the battleship division of the Atlantic fleet. A year later, he was promoted to be an admiral, succeeding Admiral Frank F. Fletcher as commander of the Atlantic fleet.

C. F. Billings states that arrangements have been made with the county court to grade the new road around the Billings hill and that arrangements have been made for the county crew to commence the work. The matter of the undergrade crossing is still held up by the railroad's inability or indisposition to come to an agreement with Mr. Billings regarding his crossing, but the road will be built, eliminating the steep and rocky grade of the present and a temporary cutoff from the new road in the Wright creek bed to the old road crossing will be made and used until completion of the undergrade crossing. The new road will have a maximum grade of 4 per cent and will circle around well to the east of the present road. The Southern Pacific will probably be requested to place a watchman at the crossing until the viaduct is built.—Ashland Tidbits.

Alex Nibley, who has been touring the beet-growing sections of southern Oregon with Agricultural Mark Austin and other officials of the Utah-Idaho sugar company, announces that the company will proceed with the construction of a lead-pipe station wherever the farmers will plant 200 acres of beets. An order is to be placed for 400,000 feet of lumber for the construction of these stations, and already three have been located in the Willamette valley, one each at Prossitt and Wilderville, and five in the upper valley districts. The stations will be so built that the farmer can dump the beets from the wagons or trucks in a few minutes, eliminating all shoveling of the beets from the wagon to the ear.

YOU'RE BILIOUS! LET "CASCARETS" LIVEN LIVER AND BOWELS

Don't Stay Headachy, Constipated, Sick, With Breath Bad and Stomach Sour.

Get a 10-cent box now. You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, massy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach, sweet, liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

"Get Wise"—in Time

Why not get wise in time? Why wait until it is too late? People all over the country, north, south, east, and west are getting wise to the ruinous results of out of town buying. Thinking people are now refusing to patronize out-of-town houses. Are we going to wait until we are knocked down and run over before we "get wise"? Let us spend our time and money in building up something that is ours. Patronage of home business means the building up of a strong industrial community of our own. Neglect of home business interests means the building up of a machine that will one day crush us without mercy. Let us build for ourselves and for our friends and neighbors. Let us "get wise" before it is too late.
