AN UNAUTHORIZED STRIKE.

PRESIDENT WILSON went the limit seemingly in vain in behalf of the railroad brotherhoods when he forced through the Adamson 8-hour law last September. Pending a decision upon its validity, the brotherhood chiefs owe it to the president not to order a strike.

A great railroad strike is the last move that should be resorted to in normal times. A strike when the country is on the verge of war is little less than criminal. It is unpatriotic as it paralyzes the business and commerce of the nation and effectually blocks the strenuous efforts being made for national preparedness and brings about widespread demoralization and suffering.

The authority upon which the strike is called is the referendum vote taken eight months ago, when conditions were normal. It is an open question whether this authorization was not cancelled automatically by the passage and acceptance by the trainmen of the Adamson law. As a consequence, it is doubtful if anything like a majority of the trainmen obey the arrogant dictation of their chiefs.

If the brotherhood leaders reject the president's appeal to their patriotism along with their rejection of compromise and arbitration, and with their refusal to await the decision of the court, they deserve the defeat in store for them at the hands of an outraged people. There will be no temporizing by patriotic public sentiment.

The trainmen's chiefs have gone too far. The brotherhoods owe it to themselves as well as the nation to recall their leaders for unwarranted and unjustifiable usurpation of power.

the pastor, at 7:30 o'clock. Subject, "Sowing the Wind; Reaping the Whirlwind."

The usual good music will obtain in both the morning and evening service.

You are made to feel at home in the Baptist church. Come regularly for a little while and you will get acquainted. This is a church of the people where there are no class distinctions. Everybody welcome. FREDERICK W. CARTENS, Pastor.

SIBERIAN EXILES FREED BY RUSSIAN REVOLUTION

LONDON, Mar. 15.—Addressing thousands of soldiers and civilians from the gallery of the lobby of the duma, Deputy Kerenski, the new Russian minister of justice, says a Reuter's dispatch from Petrograd dated today, announced that the provisional government took office by virtue of an agreement with workmen's and soldiers' delegates. The council of these delegates approved the agreement by several hundred votes to fifteen. The first act of the new government, M. Kerenski declared, has been the immediate publication of a decree of full amnesty. Continuing, the dispatch adds, the minister of justice said:

"Our comrades of the second and fourth dumas who were banished to the tundras of Siberia will be released forthwith. In my jurisdiction are all the premiers and ministers of the old regime. They will answer before the law for all crimes against the people."

"Show them no mercy!" Many voices in the crowd exclaimed.

"Comrades," added M. Kerenski, "regenerated Russia will not have recourse to the shameful methods utilized by the old regime. Without trial none will be condemned. All prisoners will be tried in open court."

"Comrades! soldiers! citizens! All measures taken by the new government will be published. Soldiers, I ask you to cooperate. Free Russia now is born and none will succeed in wresting liberty from the hands of the people. Do not listen to the promptings of the agents of the old regime. Listen to your officers. Long live free Russia!"

The speech was greeted by a storm of cheering.

The labor leader Chkheidze, addressing officers and soldiers, paid a glowing tribute to the soldiers and workmen, who had participated in accomplishing the revolution. He recounted, the dispatch says, the recent provocative efforts of the secret police in publishing proclamations regarding the murders of officers by soldiers. He exhorted the soldiers to regard their officers as citizens who had helped raise the revolutionary flag and as brothers in the great cause of Russian liberty.

The following program will be given at the Roosevelt Parent-Teachers circle Friday, March 23d. Instrumental solo, Mrs. Carlton James; debate, "Resolved that cultural training should be started before the seventh or eighth year of the child's life," Mrs. Geo. Boos will give a short talk on "Boys." The program promises to be interesting and inspiring and a large attendance is desired. All guests are asked to bring pencils to copy well tested receipts from the boards.

WALTER DAMROSCH COMING TO MEDFORD

DAMROSCH COMING WITH ZIMBALIST TO NAT APRIL 18

George Andrews announces the appearance in Medford on Wednesday, April 18 at the Natorium of Walter Damrosch and his New York symphony orchestra of musicians with Efreim Zimbalist, the violin virtuoso.

After an extended correspondence with Director Damrosch, Mr. Andrews has prevailed upon him to give Medford a date with his New York symphony orchestra, and in addition, one of the world's greatest violin virtuosos, Efreim Zimbalist.

Two such great names as those of Walter Damrosch, and Efreim Zimbalist have seldom been associated together on a tour of this sort, and the extraordinary announcement will certainly be welcomed by music lovers of this valley.

It is needless to say it is quite an undertaking on the part of Mr. An-draws to bring this orchestra to Medford, but he says he has abiding faith in the people of the Rogue River valley recognizing a good thing when they see it.

By no means the smallest feature of this engagement, is the fact that Mr. Damrosch has been prevailed upon to place the scale of prices for this particular engagement only, at the very reasonable figure of $2.00, $1.50 and $1.00. This is a lower scale of prices than will prevail at any other of the symphony concerts on the Pacific coast.

Any eulogy relative to the merits of the above-named organization would be a waste of time and space, for the mere announcement is sufficient, as the civilized world has come to know that the names of Damrosch and Zimbalist stand for the best there is in music.

The New York symphony orchestra has held its place at the top for thirty years and under the baton of Walter Damrosch has remained in the front ranks and is better today than ever.

Efreim Zimbalist, the wizard of the violin is but 26 years old, but at this early age he has forged his way to the top and now holds a place in the artistic world with such artists as Mischa Elman and Fritz Kreisler. There are numerous records in the town and valley made by Zimbalist and if there is any doubt in your mind about his being a master of the violin hear one of his red seal records. This engagement will furnish a very rare opportunity for hearing one of the best musical programs that can be produced in America which will add very materially to the education of every intelligent person.
