STOP GERMAN PROPAGANDA IN SOUTH AMERICA IS PLAN

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—Suppression of German propaganda in South America was discussed at the state department today by Counselor Polk and Ambassador Spring-Rice. Plans for curbing trade in Germans in South America, it is known, have been used for interfering with supplies to the allies, and for furnishing supplies to German raiders. An extensive German underground system has been established through most countries.

TEUTONS LINE SMASHED ALONG WESTERN FRONT

accomplished wonderful work since Thursday clearing the air of German machines, were robbed of the opportunity to participate in the beginning of the offensive. Several intrepid British airmen ascended, but on account of the rain and low lying clouds they could do little or nothing and after being tossed about severely, they descended.

Today's attack also hit the northern hinge of the recent German retreat from Arras to the Aisne. The Germans evidently had expected a renewal of the offensive in the valley of the Somme for in making the retreat in that sector they announced that they had completely disarranged the British offensive plans. Today's blow was Britain's answer.

Drive All Along Line.

LONDON, April 9.—The British early this morning attacked the German lines on a wide front from a point south of Arras to the south of Lens, thus opening what is believed here to be a general spring offensive. The move has been looked forward too eagerly for some days. The offensive of the British flying corps in the latter part of the last week, the attack on Zeebrugge Saturday night and the activity of the French in Belgium, as shown in yesterday's official communication from Paris, were considered a prelude to important military operations.

The British commander, General Haig, whose reports are always modest, says the German line has been penetrated everywhere and that satisfactory progress was made in the direction of Cambrai and St. Quentin, two important positions in connection with the new German line. The extension of the attack northward to Lens doubtless was intended to give the British more elbow room for their operations from Arras to the point of juncture with the French around St. Quentin.

Along a Wide Front.

LONDON, April 9.—British troops today penetrated the German lines all along a wide front from Arras to Lens, the war office announces. The statement says that in the direction of Cambrai the British have stormed the villages of Hermies and Bourlon and penetrated Havrincourt wood.

In the direction of St. Quentin the British took Pressoy le Petit and advanced their line southeast of Le Vergnier. No estimate of the number of Germans captured can yet be given, the statement says, but the number is considerable. Referring to the attack on the front between Arras and Lens the statement says:

"We are making satisfactory progress at all points."

Official Statement.

The statement, which is timed 11:30 a. m., is as follows:

"We attacked at 5:30 o'clock this morning on a wide front from south of Arras to south of Lens. Our troops have everywhere penetrated the enemy's lines and making satisfactory progress at all points.

"In the direction of Cambrai we stormed the villages of Hermies and Boursi and have penetrated into Havrincourt wood.

"In the direction of St. Quentin we captured Pressoy le Petit and advanced our line southeast of Le Vergnier.

"No estimate of the prisoners taken can yet be given but considerable numbers are reported captured."

The fighting line from Lens to Arras is approximately ten miles in length and lies directly north of the field of ruins which the Germans have been conducting for the past several weeks.

General Offensive.

The fact that the line has been penetrated by the British all along this wide front indicates that the movement there is a general offensive. That it is proving a successful drive is indicated by the statement that "satisfactory progress" is being made "at all points."

An entire new phase of operations on the western front is opened up in this new battle on the Lens-Arras line. The field of attack represents the greatest danger point for the Germans as in the recent fighting a sharp salient was driven into the Germine line southeast of Arras.

In the Lens region, into which the British are driving is a rich coal field which the Germans have been exploiting since their occupation of this territory early in the war.

Is Spring Offensive.

The opening of the new offensive has been foreshadowed in the intense aerial activity of the past two or three days in which hundreds of airplanes have been engaged on both sides. This work, as the British statements have indicated, has given General Haig's staff photographic reproductions of the German positions for long distances behind the fighting line.

Further south the British have continued their progress in the field of the German retreat, the advance reported at Hermies and Boursies being particularly important. Boursies is directly on the road from Bapaume to Cambrai, about eight miles from the latter place. Hermies lies just to the south of Boursies.

In their drive toward St. Quentin the capture of Pressoy le Petit puts the British within 2½ miles of St. Quentin's outskirts.

der American protection with a considerable number in France also. In Austria, the United States had cared for all the Italian and American prisoners. Other small groups are thought to bring the total well up to 2,000,000.

About 200 native Americans are thought to be in Austria and Hungary with perhaps another 1,800 naturalized Austro-Americans, most of whom may prefer to say in their country of birth. Officials here expect no difficulties to be placed before Americans in Austria and that all the American embassy officials will be permitted to leave without restraint or inconvenience.

Austria has in this country about fifty consular officers in addition to her regular embassy staff, not including clerks, attaches and families. Safe conduct for all will be arranged at once.

PATENTEES LOSE RIGHT OF FIXING PRICE TO LICENSEES

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Determining important questions regarding control by patentees of retail prices of their products, the supreme court today pronounced unlawful the "limited license" plan under which Victor Talking Machine company and many other products are distributed.

In another similar patent infringement, suit of the Motion Picture Patents company against the Universal Film Manufacturing company and others, the court held invalid restrictions of the patents company upon use of competitors films in its projecting machines.

The court held that patent grants for machines give others the right to use them, subject to the patent right, with "any appropriate material or supplies." This overturns the court's decision in the Dick Mimeograph case.

The court did not decide legality of the Victor plan of limiting distribution solely through "licensed" dealers.

Justices McKenna, Holmes and VanVanter, dissented from the decisions in the Victor case.

The Victor license plan was held to be mere price fixing "which works injustice" to the purchasing public and designed to avoid the court's previous decisions.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

For Itching Scalp

You do not want a slow treatment for itching scalp when hair is falling and the dandruff germ is killing the hair roots. Delay means—no hair.

Use Quick, Safe Remedy

Rub in a little Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and the itching stops instantly. Dandruff disappears in a few days. Stimulates the hair roots and promptly stops falling hair. It is a pure, reliable, antiseptic liquid, is not sticky, is easy to use and will not stain. Soaps and shampoos are harmful, as they contain alkali. The best thing to use for scalp irritations is resin, for it is safe and also inexpensive.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH

Woman Tells How $5 Worth of Pinkham's Compound Made Her Well.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache, or bearing-down pains, need the tonic properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mistaken for a Spy

A few days ago a heavy set and florid-complexioned man entered the Crater Lake Garage and Machine Shops and was mistaken for a spy. After watching the mechanics operate the machinery for some time, the stranger was closely questioned by Chief Hall and admitted that he had been told that the mechanics here were doing such high class work that he wanted to make arrangements to have them rebuild his car and put in valve tappet lifters to give it pep and save gasoline bills.
