

7 BILLIONS OF BONDS ARE VOTED BY CONGRESS

ity to use it. But there is one way we can engage in the war. That is to help finance those who are fighting our enemies.

"This proposed appropriation is for $3,000,000,000. I doubt not that before a year that amount will be doubled. Let us hope that we can end the war by extending our credit. Our highest duty is to give aid to those who are fighting our enemies. I hope and pray that aid thus given will be effectual enough to end the war before we send our boys into the trenches."

Several amendments, including two by Representative Leavort, to exclude neutrals from the loan and make its entire duration of the war, were accepted by the ways and means committee.

Neutrals Excluded.

Representative Madden of Illinois said he did not care whether the $3,000,000,000 loaned the allies was paid back or not; that the United States is not prepared to send men now, and the loan was the only way in which the United States could act promptly and effectively at this time.

"For God's sake, let's get into action," he cried, "either through the arms now in the field or in our own army, and everybody knows we can't get an adequate army for a year. The time for talk is past and the time for action is here."

Debt Owed France.

Representative Montague of Virginia, democrat, said he hoped that in the present exigencies the debt of gratitude America owes to France in the days of America's weakness should not be forgotten in the days of America's strength. He had hoped, he said, that when France should reach, as she has reached today, her extremities, that America would unanimously show her gratitude.

France, he said, had given America assistance that assured American independence.

Representative Cannon of Illinois said that personally his sympathies would be more with Russia than with the other governments among the allies, because while other great powers during the American civil war wavered as to interference in behalf of the southern confederacy, Russia sent her fleet to New York and by its presence aided preservation of the Union.

Not Less Than Par.

Representative Graham of Pennsylvania agreed with Representative Montague. He would like to say to France that America would make her loan with remission of interest and with the principal payable at convenience to show the world America was prepared to set a new standard among the nations of the earth and demonstrate that republics are not ungrateful.

After rejection of the proposals to limit the term of foreign loan bonds, an amendment by Representative Kitchin was adopted providing that not only part of the $5,000,000,000 bond issue first offered as a popular loan should be at not less than par, but the portion not subscribed for which the secretary of the treasury may otherwise dispose of shall be "at not less than par."

GRANDMOTHER OF REVOLUTION RECEIVED

RETROGRAD, Apr. 14.—The arrival in Petrograd today of Madame Catherine Breshkevskaya was the occasion of a dramatic gathering of veterans of the former revolutionary and terrorist times to give her an enthusiastic and emotional welcome.

All Petrograd, in fact, turned out to acclaim the "Grandmother of the revolution" on her homecoming from Siberia where she had spent 44 of her 73 years in exile. A vast crowd, waving red flags and singing the Marseilles, extended down the west end of the Nevsky Prospekt as far as the Nikolaievsk railway station.

When the Associated Press correspondent arrived he found the crowd trying to storm the station to which were admitted only veteran nihilists and a deputation from the ministry of justice, headed by Minister of Justice Kerensky, together with delegations of welcome from Petrograd, Moscow and Dorpat universities and high schools.

At the suggestion of M. Kerensky the reception committee adopted a plan unique in Russian history for the welcoming of Madame Breshkevskaya—a plan symbolizing Russia's transition from autocracy to democracy. The welcome took place in the gorgeous suite in the railway station called the Imperial Reception rooms, which under the old regime were used only for the reception of royal personages.

EXPECT SHERIFF BACK SOON WITH ALLEGED ARSONISTS

In the absence of County Prosecutor Roberts and Sheriff Jennings, there were no new developments Saturday in connection with the Strickfadden arson plot and the reported confession of W. E. Hemphill, the Medford man who was found dead in jail at Eugene following his arrest on the charge of arson.

Sheriff Jennings is expected back from Seattle on Sunday with Mrs. Nan Strickfadden and Mrs. L. Dreyfoos, who were arrested there Thursday in connection with the arson plot. Deputy Sheriff Anderson will probably return by Sunday from Eugene with Mrs. M. M. Garwood, who was arrested there with Hemphill on Thursday on the same charge.

Whether Hemphill committed suicide or died from an apopleptic stroke is still a matter of conjecture. He was found dead forty minutes after the sheriff had taken him his supper. Hemphill, it was found, had not eaten any of the food, but drank part of a cup of coffee. The remaining coffee will be analyzed by a chemist to see if it contains poison.

Dr. Cheshire, Lane county physician, thinks the appearance of the dead man's face indicates he died of apoplexy.

Hemphill's body arrived in Medford late Friday night. The funeral services, which will be private, will be held from the Hemphill home, on East Main street, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

GERMANS IN RETREAT

is the northern extremity of the new German line defending Cambrai.

Horne in Command.

General Horne, who is considered the greatest artillery expert in the British army and who assisted General Nivelle in the successful attack by the French north of Verdun in December last, commands the British forces around Lens, where, owing to the natural defenses composed of waste dumps around the mines, the artillery must largely be depended upon. General Horne has on his right the army under Major General E. H. H. Allenby, who has also gained new laurels in this war.

These generals and their colleagues under Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, have accomplished since Monday a work which many military writers expected would occupy a great part of the summer, but thus far there has been no flag waving nor celebration in Great Britain.

The impression prevails that great events will soon follow and that with the fall of Lens the relief of Lille will not be long delayed.

Four Miles Captured.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, April 14.—The British last night broke down the German front for a distance of four miles. The Germans are in retreat.

In the direction of Vimy the British seized the Vimy station, La Chapellerie and enemy positions between Givency-En Gohelle and Angres. Progress was also made north of the Bapaume-Cambrai road.

The village of Fayet, one mile northwest of St. Quentin, has been captured by the British after a sharp fight, according to an official statement issued by the war office.

The important positions of Ascension farm and Grand Priel farm, east of LeVerger, were also captured. Among the guns captured by the British were four howitzers of 8 inches.

French Also Active.

PARIS, April 14.—Artillery fighting continues with marked intensity in the Champagne, the war office announces. French patrols were active and brought back prisoners. South of St. Quentin there were heavy artillery actions.

The statement follows:

"South of St. Quentin our artillery continued to bombard the German positions. There was no infantry fighting during the night between the Somme and the Oise. Two German surprise attacks were broken up by our fire."

"In the Champagne the artillery fighting was very severe. On this part of the front we made numerous reconnaissances bringing back prisoners. Near La Chapellerie a German reconnoitering party attempted to reach our lines after a violent bombardment. It was dispersed and driven back to the German trenches."
