WASHINGTON, May 10.—Many states plan to make registration day for the new army conscription the occasion for letes and patriotic demonstrations, according to reports reaching the war department today.

"The spirit of patriotism seems to have entered into the arrangements for the occasion which have been made by many of the state officials," says a war department statement issued today.

"The questions which are to be answered involve comparatively few subjects: The name in full, the age in years, the home address, the date of birth, the quality of citizenship, natural born, naturalized or the condition of declaration of intention, the place of birth, trade, occupation or office, employment and by whom employed; dependents, if any; married or single; race; former military service and where it was rendered and lastly, claims of exemption from draft with the specific grounds therefor.

"Several of the states have relieved the government entirely of expense connected with the work of securing complete registration; in fact, helpfulness seems to be common to the country."
