THE MARINE'S HYMN.

From the Halls of Montezuma, To the shores of Tripoli, We fight our country's battles On the land as on the sea.

From the Pest Hole of Cavite To the ditch at Panama, You will find them very needy Of Marines—That's what we are;

We're the watch dogs of a pile of coal Or we dig a magazine, Though he lends a hand at every job Who would not be a Marine?

Our flag's unfurled to every breeze From dawn to setting sun, We have fought in every clime or place

Where we could take a gun; In the snow of far off northern lands And in sunny tropic scenes, You will find us always on the job— The United States Marines.

Here's health to you and to our corps Which we are proud to serve, In many a strife we have fought for life

And never lost our nerve; If the army and the navy Ever look on heaven's scenes, They will find the streets are guarded by The United States Marines.

ANONYMOUS.

FATHER GOOSE UP TO DATE.

Simple kaiser met his fight men Hotfooting back from the war. Said simple kaiser to his fight men, "What are you back here for?"

And smiling, he bayoneted his imperial chauffeur and spake, "Rush it up, kid, beek to der palace; supper might be getting chilled."

Dear Ed—I'm a chorus man. Do you think there is any danger of me being called?—Harold Talem.

We hope it doesn't get that bad. Then it will be women and children first.—Ed.

WAR QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Dear Ed.—What's the matter with the fellow? If it was me I'd be in the trenches long before this!—Horace Wildguy.

Horace, we'll bet you've got a wooden leg.—Ed.

Dear Ed—I'm a wrestler. How's chances for getting in the army?—Felix.

Slim, Felix, your reputation is against you.—Ed.

Dear Ed—I'd like to get in the army, but I have a feeble old mother, and my wife isn't very strong and my six kids aren't extra well and I feel out of sorts myself, otherwise I'd be the first to go.—Henry Hold-back.

That's the way to talk, Henry. You're patriotic, all right. That's the reason the draft bill went over.—Ed.

Dear Ed.—I'm doing my bit. I've cut down thirty seeds a day on our canary's feed. How's that?—Gerald Gove.

Fine, Gerald, you're making a wonderful sacrifice. Might suggest you put water in the cat's milk.—Ed.

AUSTRIA NOW SEEKING TERMS FOR PEACE

LONDON, May 11.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company wires that he has learned from the best of sources that three prominent Austrian politicians are about to leave for Switzerland, bearing peace proposals, and they hope to be given safe conduct to France in order to discuss with the French cabinet the possibility of peace.

PROVE PATRIOTISM.

THERE are not enough hospital supplies on hand in the United States to properly equip any considerable force sent to France. In fact, a single great battle would exhaust these supplies.

The National Red Cross has been designated by congress and the president as the agency which must assist the medical department in time of war. It is dependent upon popular subscriptions for support and volunteers for work. It is a labor of humanity as well as patriotism, and will be the means of saving thousands of lives.

With the mobilization of troops and ships of war, there also must be a mobilization of supplies for the work to be done in the medical departments and under the Red Cross.

The Red Cross first must have money and a quantity of non-perishable materials necessary to meet the demands which always follow in the wake of battle.

While the army and the navy are mobilizing men, arms, ammunition and munitions of war, the Red Cross is mobilizing bedding, clothing, bandages, shoulder and head wraps, pads, gowns for nurses and doctors, clean underwear, bed gowns, socks, shirts and other comforts for the sick or wounded soldier or sailor.

The Red Cross is a voluntary force, fighting for the lives of the men who fight for their country. It is the organization which seeks to send war's broken, wounded, bruised and sick human material back home to loved ones, to wives, mothers, sweethearts or children.

It is the greatest humanitarian organization the world has ever seen, and today, now, this great organization is appealing to the people of Medford to join in the work, to volunteer for the service so vital to the nation's fighting forces.

Soon the campaign for members, for funds, for materials and for workers will be on. Soon the men and women who have enlisted their services in this work of love will make the direct appeal to the men and women of Medford and Jackson county.

A patriotic parade is planned for next week—a "do our bit" parade—and our bit, that is of those of us who stay at home—besides raising food stuffs, should be aiding the Red Cross. The occasion offers opportunity for practical demonstration of patriotism.

Jackson county boys and girls, too, have shown patriotism by going to the front. They are in the regular army, in the national guard, in the navy, in the marine, in the naval reserve and training in the officers' reserve. They will soon be in the trenches, facing death or aboard the battleships fighting the battle of democracy. Let it not be said that the people at home are less patriotic than those who are risking their lives. Let it not be said that Jackson county failed to supply her wounded heroes at the front with hospital supplies and that lack of money and industry at home was felt on the firing line. Let it not be said that we are slackers.

This is the service in which everyone can enlist, men and women, young girls and boys. There is work for all, and it is a work of patriotism, of mercy, of love.

It is the first call of humanity to care for the sick, to mend the wounded and save the dying. Enlist now.

Join the Red Cross. Contribute your aid, either in the shape of money, or in time and energy, or both. Don't be a slacker.

TIME TO LIMIT POWER OF PRESS DECLARES STONE

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The senate worked today on the administration espionage bill under an agreement to limit debate and consideration was nearing its last stages. A final vote on the measure may be had before adjournment for the day, although many senators still were to be heard.

The press censorship again was the target of attack, although if the senate accepts amendments offered by Senators Cummins and Thomas materially modifying the original language the fight on the section may be ended.

Senator Husting, speaking in support of the measure, assailed Senators for delaying action by argument while Germany pursues her submarine policy. The senate, he said, was wasting time when it should be preparing for war and mobilizing its resources.

Senator Johnson, of California, moved to strike the entire newspaper censorship section from the bill. He said he did not speak for the press.

After reading a letter from President Wilson to a New York editor, saying he, as chief executive, would never consent to be exempted from criticism if the bill becomes law, Senator Johnson argued that while the president, as commander in chief, would not be exempt from criticism, the inefficient general who led his army needlessly to slaughter could not be criticized. Such a provision, he declared, would mean there would be only praise for such men, a distortion of the truth or the constatorator would commit a crime and be sent to jail.

Referring to the recent Russian revolution, he said that Russian people had torn from the ears the insignia of autocracy that under this bill "are to be put upon our people."

Senator Stone, supporting the censorship section, said he believed that the item had come to limit the free-

OLDEST OF ARCTIC EXPLORERS DEAD; SOUGHT FRANKLIN

PORTLAND, May 11.—Dr. David Walker, last surviving member of the McClintock expedition sent to find Sir John Franklin's party in the Arctic in 1857, died here today at the home of his daughter, aged 81. Heart trouble was the cause of death.

Dr. Walker was a writer, lecturer, physician and naturalist as well as explorer. He claimed to be the oldest living Arctic explorer and held memberships in several British and American scientific societies. He wore the Queen's Arctic medal, held fellowships in the Royal Geographical Society, the Royal Irish Academy, the Lincolns Society of London, was a corresponding member of the Royal Zoological Society and was a licentiate in the Royal College of Surgeons. Thirteen years of his life he spent as a surgeon in the United States army, serving through the Indian wars. At the time of his death he was state grange medical examiner of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

The McClintock expedition, in which Dr. Walker was surgeon and naturalist, was commanded by Sir John McClintock and was sent from Aberdeen, Scotland, by Mrs. Franklin to find her husband who was lost while attempting the northwest passage. The searchers found Franklin's last camp and returned with details of the party's experiences.

dom of the press. He said that "publishers regard themselves as a favored class," exempt from restrictions and as "sacred white oxen who can go about without fear of molestation."

The senate adopted Senator Thomas' amendment to the censorship section which would authorize the president to prescribe the regulations to prevent specifically the disclosure of information respecting disposition of armed forces. A clause exempting proceedings in congress was stricken out. The section as originally drawn defined the president's authority only in general terms.

EXORBITANT PRICES FOOD ABSOLUTELY WITHOUT EXCUSE

NEW YORK, May 11.—Herbert C. Hoover, who recently came from Europe to advise the government on food conditions in that country, says that, without control we may see flour at $20 a barrel before the year is over, but that with control "the present price of flour can be reduced 40 to 50 per cent and at the same time the producer be treated in a liberal manner."

Mr. Hoover thus outlined food conditions in a statement to the Associated Press today:

Food Panic Unnecessary "There is absolutely no occasion for food panic in this country nor any justification for outrageous prices, unless the opposition of special interests defeats the president in obtaining the necessary powers to control the nation's food fully and adequately. America's problem is not one of famine, for we have now and will have next year a large surplus. Our problem is, after the proper protection of our own people, to give to our allies the last ounce of surplus of which we are capable.

To Regulate Prices "Therefore, the nation needs a food control for two purposes: To regulate prices and to increase the surplus. After providing for our normal consumption, we will have, together with Canada, a surplus for our allies equal to only 60 per cent of the food they will require from us. If we take broad measures of control, we can, with as little disturbance to economic machinery as need be, furnish them an additional 20 per cent.

"If the whole world allied and neutral, is to have the unrestricted run of our markets in competition with each other and in competition with the speculator in this country, we may expect to see $5 wheat before the year is over.

No Arbitrary Interference "Large measures of food control do not mean arbitrary interference with the necessary economic machinery of trade. They mean that every branch be called in by the government and forge themselves into a link from which the contemplated chain will protect producer, legitimate distributor, and consumer.

"For instance, I am assured that the American farmer did not realize $1.20 per bushel for the 1916 wheat harvest; yet, the price of wheat in New York today is $3.25 per bushel and flour is $14 per barrel, with all its attendant hardship and dislocation of social and industrial life.

Skunks in Trade

"I have no hesitation in saying that if the able, patriotic men representing the majority of each branch of the food trades were called in and clothed with the necessary powers to force the small minority of skunks that exist in every trade, one result would be that an equally nutritious flour based on $1.50 wheat could be sold in New York a good deal under $8 per barrel, and every trade would receive its legitimate profit.

"Without control we may see $20 flour before the year is out and a total dislocation of wages and consequent dislocation of industry and living.

"On the other hand, if we overcome the submarine and if we open other markets to our allies we may see wheat at $1 a bushel and flour under $6. In any event, with sufficient control, the present price of flour can be reduced by 40 to 50 per cent and at the same time the producer treated in a liberal manner."

COAL SHORTAGE IN GERMANY CONTINUES

COPENHAGEN, May 11.—Germany's fuel difficulties did not end with the unusually severe winter. On the contrary Germans are even now being warned that during the rest of the war and in the period immediately it will be impossible to supply the individual consumer with all the coal he desires. It will be necessary for him to put up with discomfort, he is told, although, as the Lokal Anzeiger comments, "with the coming of summer we shall at least not freeze."

A government coal commission has been established to apportion the coal rationed with regard to the urgency of various needs. Similar local commissions have been named for towns of more than 10,000 inhabitants.

JAIL BELL HOP FOR MURDER OF ST. PAUL WOMAN

ST. PAUL, May 11.—E. H. Hamilton, who was arrested in San Francisco, answers the description of Joe Pedonbaugh, sought in connection with the murder of Mrs. Alice McQuillan Dunn here two weeks ago, according to St. Paul police. Peter Lavalle, a local detective, is on his way to San Francisco to see Hamilton.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Captain of Detectives Duncah Matheson received advices today from the chief of police at St. Paul that E. H. Hamilton, alias Harry Lux, a 19-year-old bell boy, arrested here last night with Pearl Whitekamp and two other bell boys, was wanted in St. Paul in connection with the murder a few weeks ago of Mrs. Alice McQuillan Dunn. A St. Paul detective has started for San Francisco, the advices said, to question Hamilton, who also is wanted in connection with the murder at Minneapolis on April 19 of Policeman Conroy.

Pearl Whitekamp is said by the police to be Hamilton's wife. Hamilton's career of crime, according to police records, began on February 16 last, when he held up a bank at University Place, Nebraska, locking the cashier in the vault and escaping with $1,900. He then went to Kansas City and married. Two days later he was arrested in Minneapolis for speeding. His wife was with him. On the way to the police station Hamilton shot and fatally wounded Policeman Conroy, who lived long enough to give a description of his assailant.

From Minneapolis, the police say, Hamilton and his wife went to Salt Lake City where they joined forces with Thomas Woodward and Richard Franklin, who were arrested here last night. Then they went to Portland, where, according to the police, they robbed the home of a doctor. From Portland they were traced to San Francisco.

ROOSEVELT ISSUE TO COME UP AGAIN IN BOTH HOUSES

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Although it was generally believed today that congress would promptly approve the conference report on the war army selective draft bill, the Roosevelt division issue may again be revived in both house and senate.

The Roosevelt volunteer provision put into the bill by the senate, was stricken out of the compromise bill as finally drawn up by conferees of the house and senate. The fight to retain the provision will now be carried to the floor of the senate, it was said today by republican champions. Within a fortnight after President Wilson approves the bill the war department will set in motion vast machinery for registration of those eligible for conscription. Men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, would be selected under the provisions of the new bill.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezons." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet. A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, dries up and can be lifted out with the fingers. This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that, while freezons is sticky, it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whitening at his corns, but clip this out and make him try it.
