DRAMA LEAGUE NOTES

Dr. Rebec "Saw is Thorough" when he closed the league's activities for the season last Saturday evening with a lecture on "Drama and Other Art Forms." Appropriately he declared his intention at the start; he would for an hour or so review things in general; he would discuss, not this drama nor that drama, not this art nor that art, not this age nor that age, but arts and ages and substance and being. After the year's shuffling and dealing and tricking with assorted cards, Dr. Rebec found this opportunity at the suspension of the game to turn his attention to cards and the deck.

Two sets of influences are of inherent importance to man: the pressure of the world upon him and his own pressure upon the world. Instinctively, fundamentally, biologically, he is acted upon and he reacts. His will to exist as an eating, garbed, joyful being is his response to the pressure of the mortal world; his will to project himself upon the immortal world in the forms of arts and of ideas and of ideals,—this is his pressure upon the world. Man and all men must both exist and live, both resist and persist, both be pressed and press; they are biologically and psychologically so made.

Man's existing provides against the present; his living provides for the future. His ideals and his ideas are himself, projected as he would like to be, or as he sees himself, or as he hopes to be;—"his perpetual discovery of that great thing out there." So all art forms are nature's provision for man's projection of his best self, in knowledge, in truth, in beauty, in faith, in hope. * * * and drama; only one form of poetic expression, but a perfect one and a comparatively late one. The epic idealizes movement; the lyric reacts to feeling; the drama combines both and projects life itself.

At the meeting of the board of directors last Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. H. W. Bingham was elected corresponding secretary for the coming year, thus filling the only official vacancy existing.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The navy will reach its full authorized maximum war strength of 100,000 enlisted men next Thursday, if the recruiting ratio of the last ten days is maintained. An official statement issued today shows that the service now has a total of 95,028 men, the recruiting campaign inaugurated April 3 having produced 31,341 men up to date. Bills pending in congress authorize the addition of 50,000 more men, or a total strength, including hospital corps, apprentices and unorganized units of 195,000 men.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB FROM UNIVERSITY HERE ON FRIDAY

The Knights of Pythias are to be congratulated in securing the services of such good entertainers in staging a benefit for the Red Cross at the Nat next Friday evening, May 18. The Girls Glee club of the University of Oregon has made a decided hit this spring in their concerts with skits and clever stunts. Press notices of past performances speak very highly of their unique entertainment. Their musical and patriotic numbers are all to the good, Indian songs by the entire club, garbed in Indian costumes make a decided good impression while the special musical numbers by talented artists are of high order and worthy of place with the best entertainers.

The girls' knowledge of military tactics and manual of arms is disclosed in the orders from one of their officers when she says: "Attention! Eyes open! Fix hair! Powder nose!" etc.

They have an up-to-the-minute plot in "Maid and Super-Maid" that is stunning. In fact, their entire program is new and novel with not a dull moment from curtain raiser of "Waltz Song, from Faust" through the various hits with encores, including "Tenting Tonight" and on to the finish when the crowd is brought to its feet with "The Star Spangled Banner."

The local chapter of the Red Cross should realize a snug sum from this entertainment for it is to get all the proceeds. The Knights of Pythias are working hard to do their
