

NEW TRIAL FOR MRS. GARWOOD ON MONDAY, JUNE 11

In circuit court yesterday Judge Calkins, after conferring with District Attorney Roberts and Attorney Gus Newbury, set the new trial of Mrs. M. M. Garwood for next Monday morning, to begin at 9 a. m.

This is one of the most sensational cases that ever came up in the county. Last week Mrs. Garwood was tried on the charge of conspiring to burn the Strickfadden house in Ashland last March, and the jury failed to reach an agreement, standing six for conviction and six for acquittal.

Just before the Garwood case came to trial Mrs. Nan Strickfadden and Mrs. Dreyfoos, her sister, who were indicted on the same charge, pleaded guilty before Judge Calkins and later turned state's evidence against Mrs. Garwood.

As before District Attorney Roberts will conduct the prosecution and Gus Newbury will defend Mrs. Garwood. Each side claims to have discovered new evidence. The case also promises to be as before very hard fought from beginning to end, and to attract even more public interest, if possible, than the previous trial.

A new jury, of course, will hear the case and it is thought there will be no trouble in getting a jury early Monday forenoon. The setting of the second trial so soon indicates that Judge Calkins will not impose sentence on Mrs. Strickfadden and Mrs. Dreyfoos until at least the second trial is ended.

Mrs. Garwood is still in jail, having been unable to furnish bail of $5000.

PRINCESS LOUISA'S GOODS AUCTIONED

BERLIN, June 5.—Personal belongings of Princess Louise of Belgium, daughter of the late King Leopold, were disposed of at public auction in Munich today in the presence of a large crowd of women bidders. Pawned articles placed on sale included ninety hats, twenty-seven evening gowns, twenty-eight theatre wraps, fifty-eight parasols, ninety-five vials of fantastical texture and seventy-two bottles of foreign perfume, in addition to other articles required to complete the wardrobe of a princess.

During the sale the police were frequently called on to restore order among the clamorous bidders.

Princess Louise of Belgium is the eldest daughter of the late King Leopold. She is also the divorced wife of Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The princess for many years has been occasionally before the public on account of her love affairs, her quarrels with her family and her sensational extravagances. Shortly after the war broke out a dispatch from Vienna said she had been requested to leave that city.

MARINES APPEAL FOR LOCAL AID IN RECRUITING

In response to the following telegram from Major George Barnett, commandant of the United States marine corps, received from Philadelphia yesterday, Mayor E. C. Gates today issued an appeal to the people of Medford and the valley to help get enlistments for the corps next week: "Four thousand enlistments in United States marines are called for during marine corps week, June 10 to 16. We need your support in this extraordinary recruiting effort and I ask your generous personal and official co-operation with the marine corps local recruiting officer and help of your city departments and patriotic citizens' committees in bringing up to war strength the marine corps, the soldier branch of the nation's first line of defense and the minute men of today."

Mayor Gates' appeal is as follows: To the Citizens of Medford:

I have just received the above telegram from the major general commandant U. S. marine corps. In consideration of this telegram I respectfully urge the support of all the people of Medford in this very important work of bringing the marine corps up to its full war strength. The marine corps is the soldier's branch of the nation's first line of defense, and it is therefore necessary to have this branch of the army up to the full strength.

The above telegram is a trumpet call to the citizens; everybody should rally to the support of the marine corps; everybody should help get enlistments during marine corps week, June 10 to 16, for the soldiers of the sea. I sincerely hope those who are considering enlisting will consider this branch of the service. I also urge the police and all city officials to assist Sergeant J. E. Brooks in every way possible in his great effort. (Signed) C. E. GATES, Mayor of Medford.

INGENUITY SOLVES PROBLEMS OF WAR

CHICAGO, June 5.—American ingenuity is evolving so many war inventions that the navy department's board which examines new ideas for combatting the enemy has decided to establish a middle western branch in Chicago. Captain W. Strother Smith, who is attached to the office of Secretary Daniels as an expert on inventions, arrived here today to confer with D. J. Arnold, mid-west member of the inventions board, on how the engineers of this section can be organized to the best advantage. "The big problem now is to meet the U-boat menace," said Smith. "The engineers in Washington are working industriously on this question."

ADVISES EATING ENGLISH SPARROWS SAVING GRAIN CROP

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Eat English sparrows and save the grain crop. Fifty sparrows eat the equivalent of a quart of wheat per day. There have been many guesses as to the amount of grain consumed by English sparrows, but whether it is millions or billions of bushels, the loss is serious—and the sparrow is good to eat. The Germans are paying 15 cents apiece for them.

Ned Dearborn, expert biologist, on the trail of the sparrow nuisance for the U. S. department of agriculture, says:

"In most localities in the United States English sparrows are a pest. There is therefore no reason why the birds should not be utilized for food in this country, as they have been in the old world for centuries. Their flesh is palatable, and their bodies are small, their numbers fully compensate for their lack of size. Birds can be trapped and kept alive in large outdoor cages, sheltered from storms and cold winds, until wanted for the table. It is unprofitable to keep them long, however.

"Clean water, bread, oats, wheat, bran or cornmeal much will keep them in good condition. To kill mercifully a trapped sparrow, place the thumb nail at the base of its skull and dislocate its neck by hard, quick pressure. To dress it, cut off the legs, the wings at the outer joint, and the neck close to the body, strip off the skin, beginning at the neck, make a cut thru the body wall extending along the backbone (the ribs are severed, then around between the legs to the tail, and remove the viscera. If sparrows are to be broiled, save only breasts, as this method of cooking so shrivels and parches the lesser parts as to render them worthless. Sparrows may be cooked by any of the methods employed for reed birds or quail."

The department of agriculture recommends the trap as the best method of extermination. Its farmers' bulletin No. 943 will be sent free to any one writing for it.

The verdict of biological experts against the English sparrow is unanimous. He is as big a thief and parasite as the rat, and when driven to eat bugs at all he consumes only those harmless to crops.

CAMPAIGN FOR TRAINING 10,000 MERCHANT MARINES

WASHINGTON, June 5.—A campaign to recruit and train 10,000 men to officer in the new American merchant marine was announced today by the federal shipping board and the department of commerce. Henry Howard of Boston has been appointed director, with offices in the Boston customs house. The first nautical training school under government direction was opened today near Boston. Fourteen similar schools will be established along the Atlantic coast and later the training system may be extended to the Pacific coast and great lakes.

Applicants may be of any age, but must be in good physical condition. Previous nautical experience is desirable and the men will be paid "reasonable compensation" during training which probably will last two months.

An announcement made today points out that merchant skippers receive $350 a month and mates $250, with additional war bonuses.

It is understood the war department plans to exempt from the army draft practical navigators and sailors who probably would be more valuable in the shipping service than in the army or navy.

NOW IS TIME TO ENLIST IN REGULARS

The general recruiting office of the United States army at Portland sends out the following information incidental to the draft of the new army which will be made from the list of young men who were registered today, to all the sub-district recruiting stations of Oregon, including the army recruiting office of Medford in the federal building:

"Men between the ages of 21 and 31, after having registered on June 5, 1917, will be drafted for the different branches of the service for the National Army only. This draft will take place between day of registration and September 1, 1917; and, after a man is once drafted by the war department and been advised that he has been drafted for the National Army, he will have to enter the National Army, and cannot enter, join, or volunteer for the so-called U. S. Regular Army, in which he can choose his branch of service and be under well trained officers. Now is the time to enlist and join
