

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Any young man who failed to register on military census taking day this week had better keep away from the army and marine recruiting offices of Medford. According to instructions received by the sergeants in charge no applicant for enlistment will be accepted who cannot show his military registration card. Not only that, but the sergeant would report him to the federal authorities as a slacker. Before the draft is made for the new army, any man who has registered and can show his green card can join either the army, navy or marine corps. But the man between the ages of 21 and 31 who failed to register last Tuesday, is in a peculiar predicament.

TWO INDICTMENTS HELD DEFECTIVE; ACCUSED FREED

Sam Slide and W. E. Collins, who were placed on trial in circuit court yesterday afternoon on the charge of burglarizing the Phoenix postoffice and the store of the Phoenix Mercantile company some time ago, walked out of the court room free men shortly after the trial was begun, because the indictment against them was improperly drawn.

The two men whom the police and authorities regard as professional burglars, and who the police say served burglary terms in the San Quentin, California, penitentiary, got the money taken on their person when arrested, hurried back to Medford and disappeared. It is predicted that they lost no time in getting as far away from Medford as possible and that they will never be seen in these parts again.

There was a strong case of circumstantial evidence against Slide and Collins, who were defended by E. E. Kelly. The latter let the case be called to trial and one witness be examined before he sprung his surprise on County Prosecutor Roberts by raising the point that the indictment was technically faulty in that while it charged the prisoners with taking property from a building, it did not mention that the building contained property.

Judge Calkins, after examining the indictment and looking up the points of law involved, held that Kelly's contention was correct.

A previous indictment attacked by Judge Kelly as attorney for defendants was also held faulty and the case against J. A. Torney, in which Mrs. W. W. Elfert was complaining witness dismissed because of it. The defendant was accused of having sold property without possessing title and the case grew out of a boom day realty transaction involving Siskiyou heights property for which Torney was agent. After the jury had been drawn, and the first witness called, the defect in the indictment led to an instructed verdict.

KING CONGRATULATES HAIG ON VICTORY

LONDON, June 9.—It was officially announced today that King George has sent to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, the commander in chief of the British forces in France and Belgium, the following message:

"We rejoice that, thanks to the valorous preparation and splendid cooperation of all arms, the important Messines ridge, which has been the scene of so many memorable struggles, again is in our hands.

"Tell General Plumer and the second army how proud we are of this achievement by which in a few hours the enemy was driven out of strongly entrenched positions which had been held by him for two and a half years. (Signed, "GEORGE, R. I.")

CUTWORMS DOING DEADLY WORK IN SUGAR BEETS

The cutworm has proved a most active and destructive pest in the sugar beet field, as well as in other crops. It is a short-lived pest, but it is evidently on the job every minute in the night-time, judging by the furrows it has made in some of the fields.

Farmers cannot afford to suffer this loss in any crop, when there is a fairly effective remedy. Suppose the normal profit in a sugar beet garden of given area is $1000. If the cutworm destroys 20 per cent of the plants, it has cost the farmer $200. If the farmer should lose that amount in any other way, he would take his complaint to the courts, if it were a matter that could be judicially adjusted.

Penalty of Negligence

But if he lose that amount because a worm army or aero-fleet of bugs takes it, the average agronomist regards it as a part of the penalty of chance. That view of the loss is unfair to the farmer, to his family and to the public. It is not the penalty of chance. It is the penalty of negligence.

The poisoned bran mash is known to be the best remedy so far discovered for the destruction of the cutworm in any field of plants on which it feeds during its brief period of warfare. It contains white arsenic, which kills the worm. The worm likes bran. He gluttony kills it.

Not Too Late Yet

The bran mash should be applied in the evening; for the cutworm does its deadly work at night. It is not too late yet to apply it, although it should have been applied earlier by a week or ten days in most fields. If a large area is to be covered with the mash, it is more economical for the farmer to make it. Consult your county pathologist and the entomologist in the Garnett-Corey building.

FRENCH CHAMBER VOTES CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENT

PARIS, June 9.—After a two days' session during which Admiral Lacombe, minister of marine, and the cabinet of the navy were under fire, specially on account of merchant marine losses, the chamber of deputies voted last night confidence in the government by 310 to 178. The bulk of the attack in the closing session centered on the alleged laxity of measures taken to combat submarines, including reproaches that the budget did not provide sufficiently for anti-submarine measures.

Premier Ribot, in defense of the government, declared that the submarine war had surprised the navies of all the allies. He did not deny the peril and asked for increased credits to meet this new form of warfare.

"There is much to do," he said, "including the rejuvenation of the navy department's methods." The premier agreed to the creation of a department of submarine defense.

While the debate was proceeding in the chamber the senate unanimously adopted a bill revising the budget of the minister of the navy, so as to include more ample credits for anti-submarine measures.

WELL WATER MOST POPULAR

The few wells and private water systems in Medford did the largest business in their history this past week because of the city water being muddy and unfit to drink for several days on account of the break in the Fish Lake dam and subsequent flooding of Butte creek. Wherever there was a well, most of the day neighbors and persons not neighbors were lined up waiting their turns to fill jugs, buckets and other receptacles.

The most popular well in the city was that of the Medford Soda works on South Bartlett street. It did a land office business day and night. "In the past three days not less than 10,000 gallons was taken from this well," said C. P. Bigham yesterday. "The people came from all over—on foot, in autos, carriages and any way to get there, and we gladly let them take away as much of the water as they wanted to."

For the first time in their lives many Medford people this week knew what it was to be really thirsty. Many rather than go a long distance for pure or clear water, finally gave in and tried to drink the mud.

DULL AND SHARP SHOOTING PAINS

Michigan Lady Suffered Such Pains In Back and Head, But Says Cardui Stopped These Bad Spells.

Palmyra, Mich.—Mrs. Chas. T. Fuller, of this place, writes: "In 1911 I got run-down, and I suffered great pain...with both dull and sharp shooting pains...also back and head. I was weak and could only drag around, and should have been in bed, times I would have spells to be up. At times I would have spells that would be so bad I'd have to go to bed, and suffered intensely....

I decided to try Cardui, and saw a great improvement in less than a month's time. I used 7 or 8 bottles and was stronger...I got so much better that my strength returned and my work was easy for me. Cardui did me a world of good. It built me up in health and strength. I haven't had one of those bad spells since. I haven't had to take any more medicine since or have any doctors either and have been able to do my work right along....I recommend it to other women highly as the best medicine I know of for women who suffer from female troubles."

If you suffer from female troubles, follow this advice. Get a bottle of Cardui today and give it a thorough trial. It should help you, as it has helped thousands of other women in the past 40 years. At all druggists.
