LIBELLING THE WEST.

IN ITS issue of June 2 the New York World grossly libelled the west by printing a cartoon labelled "Cleaning Out the West," depicting Uncle Sam, with the club of the law in hand, pounding a snake's nest of "traitors, plotters, anarchists, pro-German socialists" and their ilk.

The cartoon is an expression of provincialism and an appeal to sectionalism. The reflection that the west is unpatriotic and traitorous is not only malicious but false. There exist no grounds for such a cartoon.

The west elected President Wilson. It has filled its quota of volunteers for the nation's defense and exceeded the east in proportion to number enlisted. It has surpassed the east in responding to selective service not only in proportionate registration, but in low percentage of exemptions claimed.

The west, of course, has its anarchists, traitors and plotters, but nothing like as many as the east in proportion to population. It has fewer slackers, fewer plotters, fewer traitors, because it is purer American than the east, with its hordes of European immigrants.

The west will answer for its patriotism and furnish the men and the food that will win the world war and it needs no advice from that collection of foreign cities labelled New York, the headquarters of plotters, traitors and anarchists that threaten the nation's existence.

TOO LATE—PERHAPS.

HERBERT C. HOOVER, outlining his plans for lowering food prices to a delegation of labor representatives and congressmen yesterday, said it was vital that congress pass the administration food bill immediately.

"Thru the last three years," Hoover told the delegation, "two words have been written over the pages of English history. 'Too late.' Unless the Lever bill is passed immediately, before the grain is harvested, 'too late' will be written into our own history."

Yet notwithstanding the fact that the nation is at war and that its future existence is threatened as a result of the Russian collapse, congress wastes the precious moments in endless debate over trivialities.

It took six weeks to enact a selective draft law to raise an army. It has taken ten weeks to pass the war budget providing the pay for the soldiers enlisted. The war revenue bill is still enmeshed in oratory while the espionage bill with most of its valuable features blown off, has finally weathered the gale of gab.

The various food control bills are adrift, blown hither and thither in the tornado of talk that threatens to overwhelm them with disaster in the interest of the food gambler, who neither sows nor reaps, but harvests the profits of extortion at the expense of the nation.

Let us hope that the war will not be over thru the capitulation of our allies before congress awakens to the need of the hour—action. Let us hope that it will not be written about the United States as it has about Britain—that we are too late!

Rheumatism Should Be Nipped In The Bud

Rheumatism in its early stages may delude you into believing that it is a disease of a purely local and temporary nature. Beyond a slight numbness of the limbs and pains in the joints or back, there may be no outward indications of it, but if you do not heed these warnings, or if you rely upon liniments to cure you, it will grow rapidly worse until you have Rheumatism in its most violent form.

You Can Never Know. At just the moment you may need some particular article of equipment on your car. Emergencies sometimes arise when extra shoes, inner tubes, tools, etc., are a necessity. It is to provide you with these essentials that we have marked our entire stock at low figures. C. E. Gates Auto Co.

Association Labor Bureau. All laborers desiring orchard work should register at once at the office of the Rogue River Fruit & Produce Association, West Main street. No charge to the laborer for securing position. A. S. V. CARPENTER, Labor Manager.

TWO CAVALRYMEN HOLD BORDER FORD AGAINST RAIDERS

YSLETA, Tex., June 13.—Two American cavalrymen held the ford here late last night against a band of twenty-five armed and mounted Mexicans who attempted to raid the American settlement here, driving them back into Mexico after a third had come to their assistance.

The Mexicans charged against the Rio Grande at the old Ysleta ford, one mile below the town and thirteen miles east of El Paso. They opened fire on the two mounted cavalry patrols who dismounted, found cover and returned the fire. The Mexicans were driven back. One of the troopers said he saw a man drop from his saddle, but no bodies could be found.

The Mexicans are believed to be members of a gang of outlaws who have their rendezvous at San Lorenzo, opposite Ysleta.

SPAIN ADHERES TO POLICY OF NEUTRALITY

MADRID, June 13.—Eduardo Dato, premier of the new Spanish cabinet, declared today that the return of Marquis De Lema to the post of minister of foreign affairs was a guarantee that the new Spanish government would continue to follow a policy of absolute neutrality.

WILSON'S NOTE TO RUSSIA FOREIGN TO TEUTON MIND

AMSTERDAM, via London, June 13.—Commenting on Pres. Wilson's note to Russia, the Berlinger Tageblatt, according to a Wolf bureau dispatch to the Dutch newspapers, says:

"The entente countries naturally are filled with satisfaction and gratitude to President Wilson for having made himself the mouthpiece of the enemy alliance against democracy. President Wilson has practiced self-denial to such an extent that he could not have given the message a more appropriate superscription than 'Wilson versus Wilson,' but perhaps he rates the judgment of the representatives of the Russian people insultingly low when he believes that they will not grasp the meaning of this tight rope performance by Franco-British order with the object of detaching the Russians from their standpoint."

The Vossische Zeitung, under the caption "War Message of a Peace President," says:

"The turgid phrases are so foreign to the German nature that the German mind cannot understand how one can honestly enthrone over the fraternization of men and yet simultaneously seek to prolong a most horrible war. Does Wilson write to Russia to hasten the advent of peace? No—to prevent peace!"

"From the chaos of the Russian revolution there has arisen a lasting and growing feeling, namely, a strong will for peace. England clings to stolen territory. France dare not admit to a deceived people that Alsace and the rest of the left bank of the Rhine must remain German. Many Russian revolutionaries may have

CENSUS ESTIMATE OF WAR ELIGIBLES TO BE EXCEEDED

WASHINGTON, June 13.—War registration returns from 37 states indicated that when all states have reported the total enrolled, the census estimates of eligibles will be surpassed, figuring on the 600,000 men now in military and naval branches of the service.

The provost marshal-general's office indicated tonight the total registration would be 9,500,000, slightly more than 90 per cent of the census estimates of 10,500,000. Deductions indicated by the war department, however, would reduce this estimate about 12 per cent or to a little more than 9,000,000.

With 11 more states to report, war department records showed tonight that 7,129,308 have registered, as compared with census estimates of 7,773,467 for the states represented. Of those registered, 5,468,073 were white, 847,852 were colored, 807,868 were aliens and 94,311 were alien enemies. Indicated possible exemptions were 4,111,453.

gazed longingly toward the American strand, where the 'great peace postle,' Wilson, dwells. Will he come to their aid? No; he stabs them in the back; this peace preacher sends a message proclaiming war to the bitter end, and warning against extending the hand of peace across the frontier."

DID YOU SEE IT? Conspicuous on the streets of Medford Monday was a battle ship grey colored Saxon Roadster bearing the inscription "Saxon Trail Blazer for National Boundary Highway." The car arrived in Medford at 6 p. m., drove down Main street and stopped at the A. W. Walker Auto Co., where the pilot A. W. Schlabaek, was a guest while in the city. On the day following the inauguration this car left Washington, D. C., on its journey around the boundary of the United States, and it will be the first vehicle of any sort to completely define our border. The car will continue its trip north from here to Seattle, across the Canadian boundary to Maine, then down the Atlantic Coast to Washington. The car has traveled 8000 miles of borderland through Miami, Florida, Brownsville, Texas, El Paso, San Diego. Of great significance is the fact that the trail blazed by this car will connect by the most direct motor route practically all of the important fortifications and military posts which protect our country from invasion. Furthermore, it will connect the military and naval bases by a direct route with every point on the entire boundary line of the United States, which might need protection in time of war or might be of strategic importance from which to carry on military operations. That the Saxon Motor Car corporation is anxious to promote the rapid construction and improvement of such boundary highway is natural, as their cars have not only been prominent in trail blazing, but during the recent Mexican crisis, Saxon cars were used extensively in border service, and the company made a thorough study of the operation of motor cars in connection with army maneuvers and transport service. Observations showed that a good boundary highway would have greatly facilitated operations on the border. In sending a standard equipped Saxon Roadster to travel this proposed highway and make exhaustive reports on conditions of roads, is a beginning of what the motor car manufacturers may do to aid in building up an adequate secondary national defense. Not only is this highway expected to be of great benefit for national defense, but it will place many new cities and interesting places on a line of motor travel, points which the motorist today has to make by special trip and at a considerable cost in the delays and inconveniences that always accompany a trip into an unchartered country. In the use of Saxon Four as trail blazer there is a special interest to every automobile owner. The light weight, strongly constructed car demonstrates the rapid strides which manufacturers are making to give motorists economical cars which stand the strain and hardships of long tours. The Saxon trail blazer is keeping an accurate record of gasoline consumption and tire and repair costs for the entire trip, figures which should form a basis for estimates of costs on a similar run by other motor cars.
