

SENATE STRIVES TO KILL FOOD BILL BY DELAY

Object of Intermittent Discussions Is to Hold Up Measure Until Too Late to Be Effective—Planned for Seeding Time, Harvest is Here and Still They Talk and Wrangle.

By GILSON GARDNER.
WASHINGTON, July 3.—Food legislation has struck the snag of delay in the United States senate. Again that body is determined to be the "greatest deliberative" body in the world. The committee on agriculture has taken the house bill and all amendments and has decided to write an entirely new food control law. The whole proposition is to be enlarged. The senate proposes that cotton, leather and steel be included in the price control powers. Already fuel and transportation have been added to food as subjects of control, and just to take on an insupportable embarrassment, the prohibition question has been linked up with the food control legislation.

Joker in Seizure Clause.
As the law passed the house there is a clause which would put an end to beer and light wines.

Consumption of whisky and distilled liquors would not be stopped since there is a three-year stock of these in bond, and the president's power to take them over is not coupled with any appropriation enabling him to do so. This feature of the bill looks insincere and would certainly prove ineffective.

People who sincerely wish the food problem solved are much disappointed at the attitude of the senate. In their view the problem of curbing food prices is a sufficiently difficult problem without coping it with any other problems. The liquor problem, they feel, is quite big enough to be solved by itself.

The same is true as to the price of steel, leather and other commodities than food. But at the moment these are problems less important than the food problem.

All Means for Delay.
Delay in passing a proper food bill will defeat the purposes of such bill. This legislation was intended originally to deal with the seeding time. That time has already lapsed. The beginning of the harvest is here, and congress still talks.

No matter how truthful or eloquent the speeches now being made, or to be made, in the United States senate, no matter how profound the deliberations of the committee on agriculture, no matter how excellent in theory the committee's project for a new bill, all these things amount to a denial of action at a time when nothing but immediate action will meet the situation. Crude or even bungling legislation promptly enacted will be greater wisdom than the most polished legislative product which comes too late.

Why No Action.
It appears to be almost unanimously agreed in both branches of congress that the president should have the power to delegate some man like Herbert Hoover to conserve and manage the food supply of America and to cut out the speculative profit and insure reasonable prices to the consumer. The house has passed a bill which it may reasonably be hoped would accomplish something along these lines. The senate can defeat this measure by delay or give it a chance for effective enforcement by prompt enactment. The sincerity of the senate and many individual senators will be subject to this test at this time.

COCCHI CONFESSED CRIME TO RELATIVE

BOLOGNA, July 3.—Cocchi confessed his crime to me before his arrest. He also discussed his relations with the New York police," said Francesco Baroncini to the Associated Press correspondent today after submitting evidence in the New York murder case to the royal prosecutor. Baroncini is the husband of Emma, elder sister of Maria Cocchi, the slayer's wife.
"We are as much shocked as the Cruger family and will do all in our power to punish Cocchi," he said, speaking for the slayer's family.
"Cocchi said he had a pull with the police. When I showed him my motorcycle license, he boasted he did not need one because he knew the police."

U. S. MUST BUILD SUBMARINE LINERS GREATER THAN "DEUTSCHLAND" TO BEAT U-BOATS, SAYS SIMON LAKE, WITH ALL PLANS PREPARED

Inventor Forms Corporation to Construct Giant Undersea Liners, Pointing Out No Other Means Has Been Found to Meet the Present Situation.

BY J. HERBERT DUCKWORTH.
(Staff Special.)
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 3.—Big submarine passenger-carrying liners must be built for the trans-Atlantic service if the U-boat menace continues to grow, says Simon Lake, inventor of the Lake torpedo boat.

"I am afraid," Mr. Lake told me today at his big submarine plant at Bridgeport, now under supervision of the United States navy department, "before this war is ended submarine merchantmen will be the only type of vessel able to successfully run the U-boat blockade of allied ports. So far no effective means of destroying U-boats has been discovered."

Mr. Lake and his associates have formed a $10,000,000 company to construct a fleet of giant merchant submarines with which they hope to foil the Germans' attempt to starve the allies into submission before the full weight of the American army can be felt in France.

These submarine Mauretians will be approximately 400 feet long, and have a carrying capacity of from 5000 to 10,000 tons. The Deutschland's capacity was only 500 tons.

From the windows of Mr. Lake's office I could see hundreds of workmen engaged on submarines in all stages of completion for Uncle Sam.

STORY OF CRATER LAKE PORTRAYED BY THE MOVIES

If the weird beauty and fame of Crater Lake is not known in all parts of the United States—in fact all over the world, within the next year it will not be the fault of the Balboa Amusement Producing company of California.

E. A. Chinlund of Long Beach, California, expert cinematographer of the company, together with his assistant and family, and an elaborate moving picture taking outfit, arrived in the city by automobile this forenoon. After a conference with Will G. Steel, supervisor of Crater Lake park, and obtaining some necessary accessories, Mr. Chinlund and party started for Crater Lake.

Mr. Chinlund before leaving announced that for his company he will go to work at once in preparing a big moving picture spectacle of Crater Lake, which will include pictures of the lake and vicinity in the various seasons.

Not only that, but by the moving picture taking art, or to be frank, by the process of faking, Crater Lake will be restored in photoplay to its original outlines as conceived by Mr. Chinlund. In other words his moving pictures will show Mount Mazama as it originally stood ages ago in all its grandeur and beauty.

Then the spectacle will show the great mountain erupting, followed by the wonderfully awe-inspiring sight of the explosion by which its top was blown off, leaving the huge crater now water filled and known as Crater Lake, one of the world's great wonders.

The moving picture party will be engaged in this work for the next ten days or two weeks, and may have to return several times this summer to complete the spectacle.

Incidental to the Crater lake pictures, Mr. Chinlund will make moving pictures of the Oregon caves, the lava beds in Klamath county, and some of the other striking scenery of southern Oregon so as to convey to the world

GRANDMOTHER, THE PIONEER PHYSICIAN.

In the good old pioneer days of this country, when drug stores were few, grandmother's root and herb remedies were what were always depended upon to bring relief for family ailments, and some of grandmother's root and herb remedies are now found upon the shelves of the modern drug store, and are among the best and most widely used prepared medicines. Such is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a botanic remedy, originally prepared by Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Massachusetts, over 40 years ago, and which has brought health and happiness to more women in America than any other medicine.

Simon Lake's Proposed Submarine Liner to Beat U-Boats.

One was already in the water, being made ready for her trip.

"The U-boat danger is more serious than most people imagine," insisted Mr. Lake. "Americans have been unintentionally misled as to the menace by the stories of the devices to catch and destroy the German submarine."

"Passenger-carrying submarines are entirely practicable. A submarine 400 feet long, of 14,000 tons submerged, could take a mixed cargo of from 7500 to 8000 tons and 200 passengers."

With the air space of 15 cubic feet per passenger, this submarine liner could remain submerged at least 88 hours with proper ventilating equipment to keep air circulating. With an appliance to extract the carbonic acid gas by passing the used air thru lime water she could stay below longer, if necessary.

"This vessel would have a deck promenade, comfortable stateroom and a dining saloon below. There would be no music and smoke rooms, but vastly more luxury than was on liners 50 years ago.

"With freight rates to many European ports at anywhere from $150 to $250 a ton, these vessels would pay for themselves in one trip. The Deutschland did, and she was an expensive converted military type."

"My underwater liners are of simpler construction. At any rate, as the tonnage goes up the cost per ton goes down."

"We cannot afford to take any chances with this submarine business. The danger is getting greater every day. We must look ahead. Germany is desperate and determined, if possible, to torpedo all enemy and neutral shipping so she will have all the world's shipping when peace is declared with which to rebuild her overseas trade."

"We are living in a fool's paradise. If we intend to adequately support our allies by sending them food-stuffs, munitions, and even men, we must put into the water a fleet of vessels that can travel safely below the surface thru the U-boat infested war zones."

some idea of the country tributary to the great Mount Mazama.

"I first saw Crater Lake ten years ago," said Mr. Chinlund, "and ever since then I have been imbued with a desire not only to see it again, but to put it in moving pictures and to take Mount Mazama as it originally stood and the great explosion by which its crater was blown off."

"I have seen all the finest scenery in this country, but to me the greatest and grandest is Crater Lake. It stands alone of its kind, and of course there is no other scenery that one can compare with it."

In the Chinlund party are Mr. and Mrs. Chinlund and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Meadows. They travel in a large Paige car.

Their desire was to get to the lake as soon as possible so as to make the first moving picture while the snow in the vicinity was yet deep.

GREAT WELCOME GIVEN TO BELGIANS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 3.—Belgium's war misdeeds brought the gratitude of a stricken nation to Chicago today and, in the hands of the city's reception committee, met a welcome that gave them hearty assurances of the middle west's regard for the country that stood the brunt of the first attack of the German army in 1914.

It was the first stop of a trip that will last several weeks and extend to the Pacific coast. Baron Moncheur made but one brief speech during the day. At a luncheon, he responded to the welcome of the reception committee by picturing the regard of the Belgian government for the aid that had come from the United States.

"I am proud to be chosen," he said, "to come to this noble nation to whose people we gladly give our deep appreciation, gratitude and admiration. Since I have been in your country, I have been confirmed in the opinion that the salvation of Belgium will come through the United States, especially now that your brave army is fighting should to shoulder with our men for the triumph of liberty."

ROAD OPENED CLEAR TO CRATER LAKE BY JULY 15

Alfred L. Parkhurst, who has charge of the Crater Lake concessions, came down from the lake last night, and said today that by July 6 or 7, if the snow continues to melt at the present rate, it will be possible to drive vehicles to within two miles of the Crater Lake lodge, the hotel on the rim of the lake. By July 15 he thinks the roads will be opened clear to the lodge.

At the present time it is only possible to get within three miles of the lower camp. Beyond that the snow in some places is still 10 feet deep. One drift that deep and 1500 feet long is reported. As soon as the most of the snow is gone except the huge drifts a large force of men will be employed in shoveling out the drifts and in opening up the road.

No attempt will be made to transport passengers to the lake until the snow is gone and the road is cleared.

However quite a number of people are making their way over the snow to the lake, and Mr. Parkhurst announces that all people who come in over the snow will be provided with good hotel accommodations both at the lodge and at Camp Anna, the lower camp. He has a force of 25 employees at both places.

CONCERT, MELODY AND VAUDELILLE

The new Chautauqua auditorium at Ashland will be formally opened tonight with a concert by the Portland police band, an organization of 42 pieces which won the first prize at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. Added to that unusual attraction on the evening of the 4th will be Miss Myrtle Stedman, one of the leading screen stars of the world, who will appear in person in a number of popular songs. This combination will be the greatest musical treat in the history of southern Oregon. On the evening of the 5th an all star vaudeville attraction will appear with ten big features. Doors open promptly at 7 o'clock each evening.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
