WAR INCREASES MEAT DEMAND AS SUPPLY FAILS

Problem of Supplying Allies Growing More Onerous Daily—Meat Exports Three Times What They Were Before War, While World Supply Diminishes Rapidly.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The problem of supplying the allies with meat has devolved mainly on the United States and daily the burden is growing more onerous, according to a statement just issued by the food administration. War time demands have been so great that Europe has been making alarming inroads on its herds with a consequent reduction in its domestic supply.

Since the war started there has been a total decrease of 115,000,000 in the world's supply of meat-producing animals. Cattle increased 7,000,000 in the United States, while the total world decrease was 28,080,000. Sheep decreased 3,000,000 in this country, while the world supply was diminished by 54,500,000. Hogs increased 6,275,000 in America, but the general supply decreased 32,425,000.

Three Times Normal. During the year ending June 30, 1916, America exported 1,339,193,000 pounds of meat, as compared with a three-year antebellum average of 493,848,000 pounds. These exports went chiefly to the allies, whose capital stock of animals has decreased 33,000,000 head.

"Altho the European countries have drastically reduced meat consumption among war workers," says the statement, "this saving has been overcome by the greatly increased demands to supply men in the armies and shops, and women who have taken up physical labor. Millions of individuals who thought fresh meat twice a week was a luxury, are now, by the necessity of their extreme physical labor, eating it twice daily.

"The war has injected into an already difficult situation a number of vicious conditions which are jeopardizing the ultimate animal products supply of the world. The production of fodder in Europe has been diminished by the diversion of productive labor to war, and its import has been curtailed by shortage in shipping and by the isolation of markets by belligerent lines.

Supplying Allies. "The problem facing America is not only one of supplying the immediate demand of the allies, but one which is more far-reaching in its significance. As the war goes on there will be a constant lessening of the capital stock of the world food animals. Among our western allies the demand outruns further every day the decreasing production, and as shipping becomes further shortened by submarine destruction, further destruction of the herds must ensue."

The food administration points out that the only immediate solution of the problem lies in reduction of consumption and elimination of waste.

lensburg and other central Washington jails has brought a decision at local headquarters not to call a strike, and the arrest of the leaders in the Spokane district yesterday has not changed this decision.

It was announced this morning from local headquarters that there would be a referendum vote on a construction workers' strike, the plans for it have not yet matured.

No Strike in Montana.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 20.—So far as officials of the United States district attorney's office can ascertain, the strike of the I. W. W. construction laborers in this state has not interfered with work in any Montana community. Assistant United States Attorney James A. Baldwin stated this morning that no reports of violence or trouble of any kind had reached his office from any point in the state.

Klamath Falls Quiet.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Aug. 20.—There was no sign of a strike in this district today. Activities in all industries were normal, and members of the I. W. W., in contrast to recent conditions here, were little in evidence.

NO MORE SUNDAY GAMES FOR TROOPS

There will probably be no more Sunday baseball games between the squads of C company, as Captain Crossley is personally opposed to the soldiers playing Sunday baseball, and will try and arrange it so that the boys can play games on Saturday afternoons hereafter.

"Altho the chaplain of our regiment favors Sunday ball games for the soldiers, I don't just exactly approve of it," said Captain Crossley today. "The chaplain reasons that it is really better for the boys to be all together at a baseball game than scattered around everywhere over the city and vicinity. He may be right, too. The boys work hard all week and have nothing to do on Sunday, you know. However, I think I will be able to arrange it so that they can have Saturday afternoon for baseball.

The game between the Siskiyou Mountaineers and Leland-Wolf Creek divisions of the company Sunday afternoon at the ball grounds was witnessed by all the soldiers in camp and a small crowd of citizens. The Mountaineers won by the score of 14 to 7.

C company, under command of Lieutenant Alexander, marched to Jacksonville and back this forenoon. The last mile each way was devoted to a skirmish run.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS MUST BE ADDRESSED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Mail for American soldiers in France will not be forwarded unless the addresses show the company and regiment or the name of the separate unit to which the soldier belongs.

Postmaster-General Barleson directed postmasters today to return to senders all mail not addressed in that manner. The American postal agency in France has been swamped with mail bearing such addresses as "Somewhere in France," "Care the American Expeditionary Force," etc. It has been found impossible by the postal authorities to undertake the location of men to whom letters are so addressed, as commands are scattered and opportunities to exchange mail between the units are limited.

"When Kewpie regained consciousness the next morning after the accident and saw me at his bedside, his first remark was: 'This won't keep me away from Palo Alto and France, will it, captain?'" said Captain Crossley this morning. "My, but that boy has grit.
